St. Joseph River Subsides Just Short Of Flood

A high water crest on the St. Joseph river forced the occupants of 11 trailers in flee their trailers in a Berrien Springs mobile home park over the weekend and flooded a riverfront residential area in Royalton township.

The high water, occasioned by heavy rainfall over the river's watershed last week, peaked about one-half foot short of flood stage Saturday morning at Niles. It also peaked a short time later at Berrien Springs. The water had receded nearly a foot by this morning.

The river spread over its banks in low areas along the river's course in Berrien county, and some 15 home owners and members of the Fraternal Order of Police Blossomland lodge east of the Somerlayton bridge near the Twin Cities fortified their properties with sandbags early Sunday.

Heavy rainfall over much of the river's watershed in southern Michigan and northern Indiana last week was blamed for the higher water stage on the river. Perhaps typical of the rainfall last week was an accumulation of 2.63 inches record last Monday through Friday at the Herb Teichman weather recording station near Eau Claire. Flooding on the Elkhart river, which flows into the St. Joseph at Elkhart, Ind., also contributed to the crest.

Dave Gordon, manager of Leisure Living mobile home park at Berrien Springs, said occupants of 11 mobile homes there evacuated their homes Friday night and Saturday morning.

Gordon said the rising river level forced river water to reverse the flow through an 18-inch drain tile in the park, flooding a low area of the park with 18 to 24 inches of water. He said the river did not overflow its banks in that area.

At least two of the trailer occupants returned to their homes this morning, according to Gordon.

The river did overflow its banks in the Shady Shores subdivision of Royalton township east of Somerlayton bridge, flooding some 15 properties along Dorla and Linden drives.

Lt. Tom McCall, director of the Berrien Office of Emergency Preparedness, said an emergency distribution of some 5,000 sandbags was made about 3 a.m. Sunday to residents in that area.

McCall said none of the homes in the Royalton township riverfront subdivision had to be evacuated. Residents used the sandbags to protect their homes. Water Sunday covered portions of Dorla drive to a depth of nearly a foot.

Across the river, in Sodus township, members of the Blossomland lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police worked much of Sunday building a sandbag dike around their lodge building near the river. The dike kept

MOBILE HOME PARK FLOODED: Dave Gordon, manager of Leisure Living mobile home park, along St. Joseph river, just southeast of Berrien Springs, wades through water Saturday to shut off electricity to mobile homes. Gordon said high water conditions were result of rising river causing 18-inch drain tile at east end of park to backup. He said this morning high water level had dropped six to eight inches from a high point of 18 to 24 inches Saturday. Total of 11 families left homes over weekend, and two had moved back early this morning. (Staff photo by John Dye)

Over 100,000 Michigan Families Are Still Without Electric Power

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 100,000 Michigan families were still without electricity Sunday because of last week's ice storm. Elsewhere, communities were suffering from the effects of flooding caused by heavy rain.

Detroit Edison Co. and Consumers Power Co. estimated 105,000 families were spending their sixth day in the cold and dark, including well-to-do families in the Grosse Pointes.

"We certainly understand that people still without power are upset, and we certainly sympathize with them," said Detroit Edison President John R. Humman.

"My house is down to 36 degrees. My throat is getting raw and sore. I wouldn't wish this on a dog," said Lillian Reinke, whose Detroit home has been dark since noon Tuesday.

Edison expected to restore power to 85 per cent of its customers in Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties by Monday night.

Outside of the Detroit metropolitan area, some 37,700 Consumers Power customers were without power Sunday. Hardest hit were customers in the Saginaw area, including those in the town of St. Charles, where the Saginaw River flooded Sunday.

Hamman said 850 utility poles were felled by the storms in the Thumb area and that total power will not be restored for about 11 days.

Serious flooding on the Cass River at Vassar subsided somewhat Sunday although some 100 residents in the Tuscola County community were forced to evacuate over the weekend because of the rising waters.

Five feet of water covered Michigan 15, the town's main street, and officials said the M15 bridge was impassable. The river runs through the Vassar business district. Fire and police stations were set up on both sides of the river to aid residents.

Some persons congregated at the Vassar Bar, located 50 feet from the rising river waters. The bar had six feet of water in its basement Saturday and no power, but operated by candlelight. The Detroit Edison substation at Vassar was reported underwater.

Police said the only flood-related death is that of 34-year-old Larry Evan of Saginaw, whose car skidded into the swollen Cass River near Bridgeport.

Meanwhile, the lower Grand River continued to rise in Kent County.

The National Weather Service said the Grand should crest from two to over four feet above flood stage from Cassiok to Lowell.

The Cass' high waters caused 12 homes to be evacuated at Bridgeport, where township offices were sandbagged to prevent damage.

Residents of Lowell near Grand Rapids reported flooded basements from the Grand River overflow and were moving their furniture to attics.

Raft Ride Hazardous

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Two Andrews university students escaped with their lives from the swollen St. Joseph river Saturday afternoon after they had fallen from a makeshift raft.

Berrien Springs-Oronoko police department said the two, David Fernandez, 19, of Meier hall, and Mark Otto, 19, of 217 Meadow lane, were soaked but did not require hospitalization.

Three men in a canoe, unidentified, were credited by police with helping the pair reach a partially submerged fishing shanty on the east side of the river, just south of the US-31 bridge.

According to the police, the students had use a bait box and two 50-gallon steel drums strapped together, as a raft to ride on the rushing river. They fell from the raft, but were able to grab a tree limb about 25 feet from shore as they were pushed downstream by the rapid current. They clung to the limb until the men in the canoe helped them reach safety.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

If Only His Conscience Would Set A Precedent

A clergyman ought to be a man of conscience.

The Rev. Arnold Bolin appears qualified.

A member of the Benton Harbor city commission, he issued a statement late last week saying he will refuse any pay increase granted commissioners during his term.

The notarized statement filed with the city clerk says Bolin will return to the general fund of the city "any amount in excess of $5 per regular meeting as currently provided in the city charter."

The city compensation commission on Dec. 29 determined that Mayor Charles F. Joseph should receive $25,000 salary, the mayor pro tem $40 a meeting, and other commissioners $30 a meeting. The charter now limits both the mayor and commissioners to $5 a session.

City Atty. Yvonne Hughes issued an opinion that the compensation commission's action raising pay was illegal. Subsequently, the city commission fired her by a six to three vote with Bolin in the minority. (Atty. Hughes, incidentally, is challenging her dismissal as being illegal.)

Meanwhile, the pay increases are being held in abeyance pending receipt of opinions on their legality from the Michigan Attorney General and a private lawyer engaged by the city commission. But the bigger stipends will be paid retroactive to Jan. 28 of this year if the rulings come back that the pay increases are legal.

Commissioner Bolin, however, is having none of that!

"I knew what the pay was when I got elected," he told a member of this newspaper's staff.

"And I'm not going to accept any more than that during the term for which I was elected."

The Rev. Bolin's act of conscience is more than a good ad for religion.

Just think what it would do for the country if Congress would adopt his pay principles!

UN Conference On Who Owns The Oceans

Next week the United Nations opens another Conference on The Law of The Sea.

Put in more exact terms, the Conference will wrestle again with the thorny, very practical question of how far from shore does a maritime nation own out to the ocean.

The immediate question before the session is the squabble between Great Britain and Iceland over fishing offshore from that Atlantic outpost first settled by the Vikings.

Icelandic gunboats have fired at English trawlers fishing more than 12 miles offshore but less than 200 miles distant.

The British concede Icelandic sovereignty over the first 12 miles but dispute the island's unilateral assertion of ownership 200 miles distant.

It is a bread and butter dispute of the first magnitude. Fishing is the economic mainstay to Iceland which is long on scenery and virtually destitute of natural resources. Fishing ranks high in depression ridden England. The industry employs 100,000 persons and if the Icelandic ban sticks, about a fifth of that number will be added to the already high unemployment rolls.

Since 1972 Britain voluntarily has reduced its catch three times in the disputed territory and proposes a further long term withdrawal agreement between the two countries. Iceland's response has been to break off diplomatic relations with England.

The argument follows in the mold created some years ago by Chile whose naval craft regularly patrol a 250-mile offshore zone.

House and Senate bills are in conference to iron out differences on a plan for the U.S. which follows the Icelandic pattern.

Automated trawlers from the Soviet Union and other countries have seriously depleted the Atlantic populations of herring, yellow flounder and haddock and the Pacific stock of halibut.

Each bill calls for the U.S. to assert fishing control over a 200-mile zone on July 1, 1977. The theory is not to chase away the foreigners entirely but to restrict their activity by licensing requirements.

The UN Conference will debate a more sweeping concept. This is a 12-mile absolute offshore ownership and a 200-mile zone of full economic control over all marine resources. The latter includes submerged oil and mineral deposits.

The 12-mile zone has been in effect since 1958 as the result of a Convention held by the world's major powers.

Prior to the Convention, the rule of one league, three nautical miles, prevailed. It dated back into the 18th century when, with luck, a cannon might loft a shell that distance. Since naval artillery of that day had a much shorter range, it was felt this land based range was adequate to protect a nation's shoreline.

The House-Senate bills, unless scratched or modified substantially, would take effect regardless of what the Convention may do.

Critics of the House-Senate measures fear they could lead to diplomatic incidents of the British-Icelandic type or worse.

The apprehension is that seizing a Russian trawler or escorting out of the fishing zone could trigger the hot line between the White House and the Kremlin.

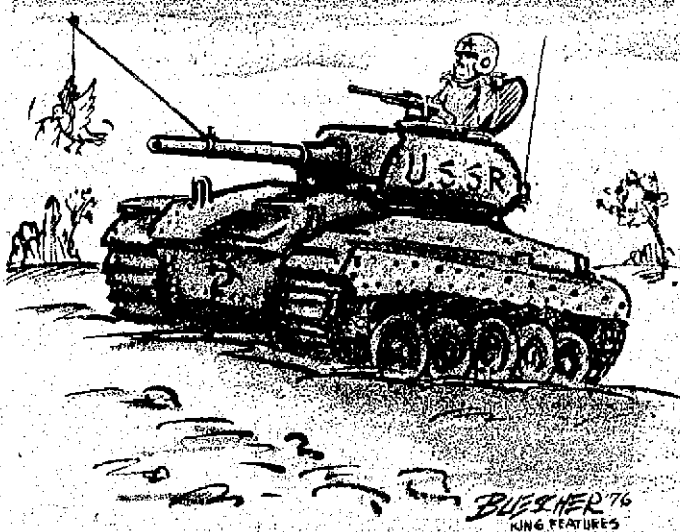

Possibly so. The answer to that trepidation is another question.

What if all the delegates to the Convention at New York City but Russia agree on the stiffer definition of whose flag flies how far from shore?

TIME FOR INVOLVEMENT IS 'LONG OVERDUE'

Editor,
"And now we have arrived at a juncture — as I see it — where such a course does not affect any longer only the honour of a single individual, he be called von-Fritsch, Oberlander, or by any different name, but the honour of all of us."

"If public opinion in any state permits censure to reach its aim without any effective correction, then this state loses the firm ground beneath its foundation. It is only the honest name of those who hold public office which goes unprotected, so that every habitual toper in the pub may say: 'Very well, he who dips his fingers into the political saucer should not be surprised if he gets dirty.' — No, also the 'regular' in the beerhouse will be affected; it is everybody's personal affair if no retribution hits those who falsify the words of a persecuted person, so that they seem to mean the opposite, as was done in the case of Oberlander.

Personal honour is a basic human right. No state will ever be without fault, but whether it remained healthy depends upon its capacity for establishing the law and for protecting it. That means: the State must offer all its citizens the chance to defend their honour, and it must protect its citizens against the harm done to them by libel and calumny; if such an attack is proved to be libellous and untrue. It requires but little thought to appreciate the truth of this observation.

"If the community tolerates our honour to go unprotected, calumny soon becomes a weapon used for personal and professional ends as well. This statement of mine does not refer to future worries, since we have witnessed in the past how, in thousands of cases, personal competitors who could not be beaten through superior efficiency were liquidated by means of informing against them and libelling them, both in 1933 and in 1945. Such habits destroy all active life, all energy for confidently joining in a fair contest, in the entire nation. The case of Oberlander is only a highly important and extreme example for the general and widespread canker that eats up our public life."

The above is a quotation of Bernd von Heiseler, as quoted by Hermann Raschhofer in his book "Political Assassination" on page XV.

May the citizens of Benton Harbor, and the community as a whole, apply the above to the local situation and take appropriate steps. Whatever happens in Benton Harbor will affect all of Berrien county, one way or another, sooner or later. The time for personal involvement in constructive action is long overdue for many.

AMERICANS SOLD 'BAG OF BALONEY'

Editor,
Well, now that it is "Perfectly Clear" that Richard Nixon went to Red China as a private citizen, not to represent the government of the U.S.A. but the citizens of the U.S.

Let me also make this "Perfectly Clear" — as a citizen of the U.S. I do not wish to be represented by Richard Nixon, especially in Red China, inasmuch as Nixon's credentials have sunk to an all-time low in Watergate and the ultimatum of "Reign or Impeach."

Also that he has violated the Logan act of 1793 (updated in 1958) which, if enforced, Nixon could get a $5,000 fine and 3 years in prison for again breaking the law. He also could be hauled before a Congressional committee and forced to testify under oath about his discussions with the leaders of Red China.

The Logan act forbids private citizens from "any correspondence or intercourse" with an official of a foreign government with intent to influence policy. Nixon, in his speech to the Chinese leaders, told his host that "President Ford in his state visit to China in December strongly reaffirmed the support of the United States for the principle of the Shanghai communique." The above could hardly be classified as a private visit by a private citizen.

Also, what strikes me strangely is that Kissinger just happened to be in California as private citizen Nixon arrived from his private visit to China.

Also, could Nixon's China trip be a compromise for China to get off Russia's back, as there have been quite some border skirmishes between Russia and China and to do this the U.S. will not interfere in the takeover of Taiwan by the Red mainland. I wonder?

Why are the American people always sold a bag of stinking baloney? In the name of National Security at that.

Yours for a long-overdue house-cleaning in Washington.

Civil Defense Worth The Cost

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In its complex effort to cut the cost of some government to allow increases in the cost of some other government, the Administration is proposing a guillotine slice in fiscal 1977 for the nation's civil defense agency. The budget suggestion would reduce C.D. expenditures from the current $87 million to $71 million, or from 38 cents per capita per year to about 31 cents, providing less for this common defense of 220 million Americans than the cost of a hamburger per person.

At that, many in Washington feel the outlay is excessive. In a world where nations have accumulated at least 15,000 megatons of deliverable nuclear destruction (the Hiroshima bomb was .013 megaton), the popular notion is that a civil defense against doomsday is impossible, thus funds for C.D. are imprudent.

Yet while the theory of hopelessness pervades America, it has few adherents across the water in other lands of hyperbolic hydrogenation. The Soviet Union spends approximately $5 per capita for civil defense and reportedly has the capacity of saving as many as 94 per cent of the Russian people in a nuclear attack.

Are we smart and they dumb? There are still a few around town who think not. Granted, the few are mostly paid employees of the C.D. industry, undoubtedly worried as much for their jobs as anything, yet there is an argument to be made that what is good or bad for the C.D. bureaucrats may be good or bad for the people of the Republic.

It is probably true that C.D. officials have unconsciously cooperated in the benign neglect of their purpose. When America first looked to them for advice in the frightening Fifties, they told everybody to build a bomb shelter in the backyard. After that debacle, C.D. shifted emphasis to community shelter programs, but the opportunity had passed. Today there are allegedly 230 million designated shelter spaces in the nation, almost all of them unknown to the people, and as for the supply stocks they have for the large part been eaten by rats or sent off to other countries as U.S. aid.

Besides the faulty thinking at C.D., there has been slumbering leadership. The present director, John Davis, has been in charge, it seems, since the days of the crossbows. His credentials include the fact he was once a mediocre governor of North Dakota. He has been unable for a decade to interest anyone in C.D., a failure that could have consequences beyond this editorial dig.

Yet crippling the C.D. bureaucracy because of its ineptitudes will serve only to compound the agency's weaknesses. Currently C.D. officers are studying a new approach to civil protection, that of combining evacuation procedures with the in-place shelter program. It copies the Russian idea, and has merit. Yet it has no future if budget cuts necessitate a one-third cut of the DCPA staff of 650.

Still, it is the government's Constitutional task to try. Estimates are that proper C.D. could save an additional 30 to 100 million people during an atomic attack, and the subject here is you and me. Surely we are worth more than the price of a hamburger in the budget.

Most Ridiculous Idea Of Year

WASHINGTON (KFS) — The two Democratic senators and one congressman who are actively seeking the presidency this year are so busy campaigning they are of necessity ignoring their legislative duties in the nation's capitol.

Such absenteeism in Congress is a regular occurrence every presidential year; senators have been competing for their party's nomination in practically every election since the nation was founded.

But this year the problem has so irked House Minority Leader John Rhodes, R-Ariz., that he has asked Congress to do something to stop the practice. What he has proposed takes the prize for the most ridiculous idea of the year — a dubious honor for which there is always stiff competition on Capitol Hill.

Rhodes is normally a cautious and sensible man, not particularly noted for imagination or a thirst for reform. But his own party happens not to have a congressman in the presidential race this year, so he is complaining only about Democrats, one of whom is a foe from his home state.

Rhodes has no presidential aspirations of his own, and apparently he wants to fix it so that no other congressman can have any either. He and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., have introduced a constitutional amendment to prohibit members of Congress from running for president while they are serving as incumbents in either the House of Representatives or the Senate.

In effect, the Rhodes-Goldwater proposal would eliminate 635 experienced politicians, among the most qualified in the country, from competing for the White House. It would restrict the presidency to governors, lesser political figures, members of non-political professions, or congressmen who had retired to private life or been defeated.

If Rhodes and Goldwater had made their proposal in any other form than a constitutional amendment, which would require ratification of three-fourths of the states, it would almost certainly be dismissed as illegal by the courts.

The freedom to participate in politics, including running for public office, is a First Amendment constitutional right that cannot be denied any class of people (even congressmen) without a compelling state interest.

As a practical matter, the proposed amendment has little chance of being passed. One Southern conservative senator, discussing the idea, could hardly stop laughing. "It's the most absurd thing I ever heard of," he said. "Who will vote for it? There are at least 51 men in the Senate right now who dream of running for president."

Rhodes, in introducing his amendment, said, "The absence of duly elected members who neglect their duties while engaged in pursuing the nomination for president" is "unfair to the constituencies that elected these people to do the job of representing them." But there is no evidence those constituencies feel deprived.

"There is a final irony in Rhodes' little exercise in nonsense. The measure was referred in the Senate to the Judiciary Constitutional subcommittee — which is chaired by Bayh.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

If Only His Conscience Would Set A Precedent

A clergyman ought to be a man of conscience.

The Rev. Arnold Bolin appears qualified.

A member of the Benton Harbor city commission, he issued a statement late last week saying he will refuse any pay increase granted commissioners during his term.

The notarized statement filed with the city clerk says Bolin will return to the general fund of the city "any amount in excess of $5 per regular meeting as currently provided in the city charter."

The city compensation commission on Dec. 29 determined that Mayor Charles F. Joseph should receive $25,000 salary, the mayor pro tem $40 a meeting, and other commissioners $30 a meeting. The charter now limits both the mayor and commissioners to $5 a session.

City Atty. Yvonne Hughes issued an opinion that the compensation commission's action raising pay was illegal. Subsequently, the city commission fired her by a six to three vote with Bolin in the minority. (Atty. Hughes, incidentally, is challenging her dismissal as being illegal.)

Meanwhile, the pay increases are being held in abeyance pending receipt of opinions on their legality from the Michigan Attorney General and a private lawyer engaged by the city commission. But the bigger stipends will be paid retroactive to Jan. 28 of this year if the rulings come back that the pay increases are legal.

Commissioner Bolin, however, is having none of that!

"I knew what the pay was when I got elected," he told a member of this newspaper's staff.

"And I'm not going to accept any more than that during the term for which I was elected."

The Rev. Bolin's act of conscience is more than a good ad for religion.

Just think what it would do for the country if Congress would adopt his pay principles!

UN Conference On Who Owns The Oceans

Next week the United Nations opens another Conference on The Law of The Sea.

Put in more exact terms, the Conference will wrestle again with the thorny, very practical question of how far from shore does a maritime nation own out into the ocean.

The immediate question before the session is the squabble between Great Britain and Iceland over fishing offshore from that Atlantic outpost first settled by the Vikings.

Icelandic gunboats have fired at English trawlers fishing more than 12 miles offshore but less than 200 miles distant.

The British concede Icelandic sovereignty over the first 12 miles but dispute the island's unilateral assertion of ownership 200 miles distant.

It is a bread and butter dispute of the first magnitude. Fishing is the economic mainstay to Iceland which is long on scenery and virtually destitute of natural resources. Fishing ranks high in depression ridden England. The industry employs 100,000 persons and if the Icelandic ban sticks, about a fifth of that number will be added to the already high unemployment rolls.

Since 1972 Britain voluntarily has reduced its catch three times in the disputed territory and proposes a further long term withdrawal agreement between the two countries.

Iceland's response has been to break off diplomatic relations with England.

The argument follows in the mold created some years ago by Chile whose naval craft regularly patrol a 250-mile offshore zone.

House and Senate bills are in conference to iron out differences on a plan for the U.S. which follows the Icelandic pattern.

Automated trawlers from the Soviet Union and other countries have seriously depleted the Atlantic populations of herring, yellow flounder and haddock and the Pacific stock of halibut.

Each bill calls for the U.S. to assert fishing control over a 200-mile zone on July 1, 1977. The theory is not to chase away the foreigners entirely but to restrict their activity by licensing requirements.

The UN Conference will debate a more sweeping concept. This is a 12-mile absolute offshore ownership and a 200-mile zone of full economic control over all marine resources. The latter includes submerged oil and mineral deposits.

The 12-mile zone has been in effect since 1958 as the result of a Convention held by the world's major powers.

Prior to the Convention, the rule of one league, three nautical miles, prevailed. It dated back into the 18th century when, with luck, a cannon might loft a shell that distance. Since naval artillery of that day had a much shorter range, it was felt this land based range was adequate to protect a nation's shoreline.

The House-Senate bills, unless scratched or modified substantially, would take effect regardless of what the Conference may do.

Critics of the House-Senate measures fear they could lead to diplomatic incidents of the British-Icelandic type or worse.

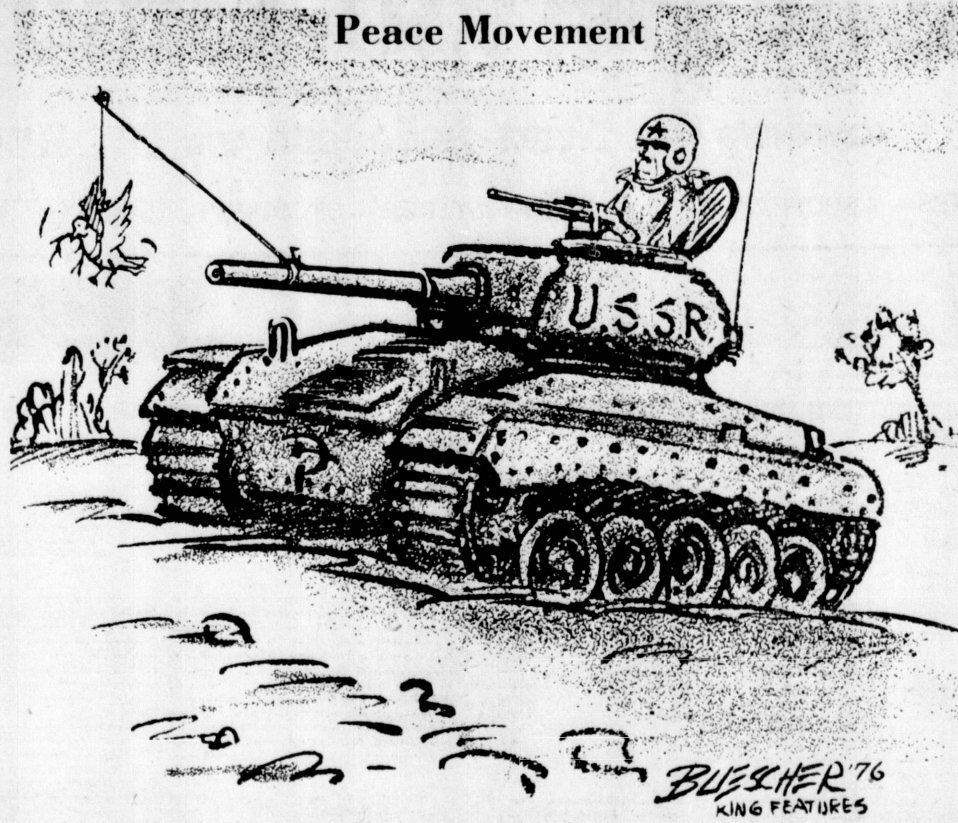

The apprehension is that seizing a Russian trawler or escorting out of the fishing zone could trigger the hot line between the White House and the Kremlin.

Possibly so. The answer to that trepidation is another question.

What if all the delegates to the Convention at New York City but Russia agree on the stiffer definition of whose flag flies how far from shore?

TIME FOR INVOLVEMENT IS 'LONG OVERDUE'

Editor,
"And now we have arrived at a juncture — as I see it — where such a course does not affect any longer only the honour of a single individual, he called von Fritsch, Oberlaender, or by any different name, but the honour of all of us."

"If public opinion in any state permits calumny to reach its aim without any effective correction, then this state loses the firm ground beneath its foundation. It is only the honest name of those who hold public office which goes unprotected, so that every habitual toper in the pub may say: 'Very well, he who dips his fingers into the political saucenpan should not be surprised if he gets dirty.' — No, also the 'regular' in the beerhouse will be affected; it is everybody's personal affair if no retribution hits those who falsify the words of a persecuted person, so that they seem to mean the opposite, as was done in the case of Oberlaender.

Personal honour is a basic human right. No state will ever be without fault, but whether it remained healthy depends upon its capacity for establishing the law and for protecting it. That means: the State must offer all its citizens the chance to defend their honour, and it must protect its citizens against the harm done to them by libel and calumny, if such an attack is proved to be libellous and untrue. It requires but little thought to appreciate the truth of this observation.

"If the community tolerates our honour to go unprotected, calumny soon becomes a weapon used for personal and professional ends as well. This statement of mine does not refer to future worries, since we have witnessed in the past how, in thousands of cases, personal competitors who could not be beaten through superior efficiency were liquidated by means of informing against them and libeling them, both in 1933 and in 1945. Such habits destroy all active life, all energy for confidently joining in a fair contest, in the entire nation. The case of Oberlaender is only a highly important and extreme example for the general and widespread cancer that eats up our public life."

The above is a quotation of Bert von Heiseler, as quoted by Hermann Raschhofer in his book "Political Assassination" on page XV.

May the citizens of Benton Harbor, and the community as a whole, apply the above to the local situation and take appropriate steps. Whatever happens in Benton Harbor will affect all of Berrien county, one way or another, sooner or later. The time for personal involvement in constructive action is long overdue for many.

AMERICANS SOLD 'BAG OF BALONEY'

Editor,
Well, now that it is "Perfectly Clear" that Richard Nixon went to Red China as a private citizen, not to represent the government of the U.S.A. but the citizens of the U.S.

Let me also make this "Perfectly Clear" — as a citizen of the U.S. I do not wish to be represented by Richard Nixon, especially in Red China, inasmuch as Nixon's credentials have sunk to an all-time low in Watergate and the ultimatum of "Reign or Impeach."

Also that he has violated the Logan act of 1799 (updated in 1948) which if enforced, Nixon could get a $5,000 fine and 3 years in prison for again breaking the law. He also could be hauled before a Congressional committee and forced to testify under oath about his discussions with the leaders of Red China.

The Logan act forbids private citizens from "any correspondence or intercourse" with an official of a foreign government with intent to influence policy.

Nixon, in his speech to the Chinese leaders, told his host that "President Ford in his state visit to China in December strongly reaffirmed the support of the United States for the principle of the Shanghai communique." The above could hardly be classified as a private visit by a private citizen.

Also, what strikes me strangely is that Kissinger just happened to be in California as private citizen Nixon arrived from his private visit to China.

Also, could Nixon's China trip be a compromise for China to get off Russia's back, as there have been quite some border skirmishes between Russia and China and to do this the U.S. will not interfere in the takeover of Taiwan by the Red mainland. I wonder?

Why are the American people always sold a bag of stinking baloney? In the name of National Security at that.

Yours for a long-overdue house-cleaning in Washington.

It looks like a record building year for the twin cities. Several new structures are soon to be dedicated, others are being planned and still others will be building by the first of the year. The Benton Harbor building program embraces the following: New 6-story Fidelity building is nearing completion; architects working on plans for new $300,000 Y.M.C.A.; a new First Congregational church will be built on the ruins of the old one, destroyed by fire ten days ago; new $80,000 Naval armory soon to be formally dedicated and opened; Premier Mineral Bathhouse company to build new $200,000 5-story bathhouse and hotel annex at East Main and Sixth street; completion of new Stock block, West Main and Collfax. In St. Joseph there is the new Y.W.C.A. to be dedicated and opened Easter Sunday, and the St. Joseph Elks will build a new temple and business block during the coming year.

Niles — At 10:30 this forenoon the First National bank of this city closed its doors. This action was taken by a run which began when the bank opened its doors this morning and after $50,000 had been drawn out in an hour and a half. There is much excitement but the business people are not alarmed as the fact is generally known that the bank is one of the strongest and soundest in this part of the state. The run was the result of a report that the bank had lost heavily and was in bad condition. Laboring men and small depositors were waiting for the bank to open this morning and as soon as the doors were open there was a long line of depositors awaiting their turn to draw out their funds. The First National was the only bank in Niles and was in a most prosperous condition and way making as much money as any bank in the county. The run was unfortunate as it was unwise.

Civil Defense

Worth The Cost

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In its complex effort to cut the cost of some government to allow increases in the cost of some other government, the Administration is proposing a guillotine slice in fiscal 1977 for the nation's civil defense agency. The budget suggestion would reduce C.D. expenditures from the current $87 million to $71 million, or from 38 cents per capita per year to about 31 cents, providing less for this common defense of 220 million Americans than the cost of a hamburger per person.

At that, many in Washington feel the outlay is excessive. In a world where nations have accumulated at least 15,000 megatons of deliverable nuclear destruction (the Hiroshima bomb was .013 megaton), the popular notion is that a civil defense against doomsday is impossible, thus funds for C.D. are improvident.

Yet while the theory of hopelessness pervades America, it has few adherents across the water in other lands of hyperbolic hydrogenation. The Soviet Union spends approximately $5 per capita for civil defense and reportedly has the capacity of saving as many as 94 per cent of the Russian people in a nuclear attack.

Are we smart and they dumb? There are still a few around town who think not. Granted, the few are mostly paid employees of the C.D. industry, undoubtedly worried as much for their jobs as anything, yet there is an argument to be made that what is good or bad for the C.D. bureaucrats may be good or bad for the people of the Republic.

It is probably true that C.D. officials have unconsciously cooperated in the benign neglect of their purpose. When America first looked to them for advice in the frightening Fifties, they told everybody to build a bomb shelter in the backyard. After that debacle, C.D. shifted emphasis to community shelter programs, but the opportunity had passed. Today there are allegedly 230 million designated shelter spaces in the nation, almost all of them unknown to the people, and as for the supply stocks they have for the large part been eaten by rats or sent off to other countries as U.S. aid.

Besides the faulty thinking at C.D., there has been slumbering leadership. The present director, John Davis, has been in charge, it seems, since the days of the crossbows. His credentials include the fact he was once a mediocre governor of North Dakota. He has been unable for a decade to interest anyone in C.D., a failure that could have consequences beyond this editorial dig.

Yet crippling the C.D. bureaucracy because of its ineptitudes will serve only to compound the agency's weaknesses. Currently C.D. officers are studying a new approach to civil protection, that of combining evacuation procedures with the in-place shelter program. It copies the Russian idea, and has merit. Yet it has no future if budget cuts necessitate a one-third cut of the DCPA staff of 650.

Still, it is the government's Constitutional task to try. Estimates are that proper C.D. could save an additional 30 to 100 million people during an atomic attack, and the subject here is you and me. Surely we are worth more than the price of a hamburger in the budget.

Most Ridiculous

Idea Of Year

WASHINGTON (KFS) — The two Democratic senators and one congressman who are actively seeking the presidency this year are so busy campaigning they are of necessity ignoring their legislative duties in the nation's capital.

Such absenteeism in Congress is a regular occurrence every presidential year; senators have been competing for their party's nomination in practically every election since the nation was founded.

But this year the problem has so irked House Minority Leader John Rhodes, R-Ariz., that he has asked Congress to do something to stop the practice.

What he has proposed takes the prize for the most ridiculous idea of the year — a dubious honor for which there is always stiff competition on Capitol Hill.

Rhodes is normally a cautious and sensible man, not particularly noted for imagination or a thirst for reform. But his own party happens not to have a congressman in the presidential race this year, so he is complaining only about Democrats, one of whom is a foe from his home state.

Rhodes has no presidential aspirations of his own, and apparently he wants to fix it so that no other congressman can have any either. He and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., have introduced a constitutional amendment to prohibit members of Congress from running for president while they are serving as incumbents in either the House of Representatives or the Senate.

In effect, the Rhodes-Goldwater proposal would eliminate 535 experienced politicians, among the most qualified in the country, from competing for the White House. It would restrict the presidency to governors, lesser political figures, members of non-political professions, or congressmen who had retired to private life or been defeated.

If Rhodes and Goldwater had made their proposal in any other form than a constitutional amendment, which would require ratification of three-fourths of the states, it would almost certainly be dismissed as illegal by the courts.

The freedom to participate in politics, including running for public office, is a First Amendment constitutional right that cannot be denied any class of people (even congressmen) without a compelling state interest.

As a practical matter, the proposed amendment has little chance of being passed. One Southern conservative senator, discussing the idea, could hardly stop laughing. "It's the most absurd thing I ever heard of," he said. "Who will vote for it? There are at least 51 men in the Senate right now who dream of running for president."

Rhodes, in introducing his amendment, said, "The absence of duly elected members who neglect their duties while engaged in pursuing the nomination for president" is "unfair to the constituencies that elected these people to do the job of representing them." But there is no evidence those constituencies feel deprived.

There is a final irony in Rhodes' little exercise in nonsense. The measure was referred in the Senate to the Judiciary Constitutional subcommittee — which is chaired by Bayh.

Malkin Asks Benton Voters If He Should Replace Lane

Democratic Trustee Gives Veteran Supervisor Push To Make Up His Mind

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

Ken Malkin, 28, a Benton township Democratic trustee, is conducting a poll to determine what support he can get in a race for township supervisor — a post held 22 years by Martin J. Lane, a powerful vote-getting Democrat. Lane, 67, told The Herald-Palladium: "I haven't made up my mind... if he will seek re-election."

Malkin said he has mailed more than 300 letters to "friends and interested Benton township residents" asking their opinions on his possible candidacy for supervisor.

MARTIN J. LANE

Hearing Today On Helen Ford Suit

A hearing was scheduled at 11 o'clock this morning in Berrien Circuit court on a suit asking that the appointment of Helen Ford to the Benton Harbor city commission be declared void.

Defendants in the suit are Mayor Charles Joseph, Mrs. Ford, and four commissioners who joined Joseph in voting for Mrs. Ford's appointment — Barbara Huckaby, Winston Milnot, Charles Shepherd and Alfred Williams.

The suit was filed by Marilee Bishop, leader of a drive to recall Joseph and the four "Clean Slate" commissioners; and Alice Canfield, a Benton Harbor resident.

The suit contends Mrs. Ford's appointment was illegal because at the time she took the oath of office she owed the city $437.93 in back taxes, penalty and interest and that she also was a member of a city compensation commission that recommended pay hikes for the mayor and city commissioners. Mrs. Ford has since paid the back taxes.

Lane said he was not surprised that Malkin is considering candidacy. "He (Malkin) has been trying to get me to commit myself for a couple of months."

Lane said he doesn't view Malkin's poll as an attempt to force him out of office. "He's just trying to find out if I'm going to run."

Malkin, 890 North Shore drive, is serving his first term as trustee. An employee of The Herald-Palladium's circulation department, Malkin said in his letter he feels "frustrated" because the part-time position of trustee does not permit him "to follow through on many worthwhile projects."

Malkin noted Lane "has not publicly announced his decision on seeking another term. With that in mind I have decided to write this note to you asking for your advice."

Lane's political popularity has rivaled that of the late James J. Jakway, whom Lane succeeded as supervisor. Jakway, Lane's political mentor, was supervisor 37 years. Lane was township treasurer before becoming supervisor.

Lane served continuously as supervisor until 1963 when he was defeated by Charles O. Zollar, now a state senator. Lane returned to power in 1970 by defeating incumbent Ray Wilder.

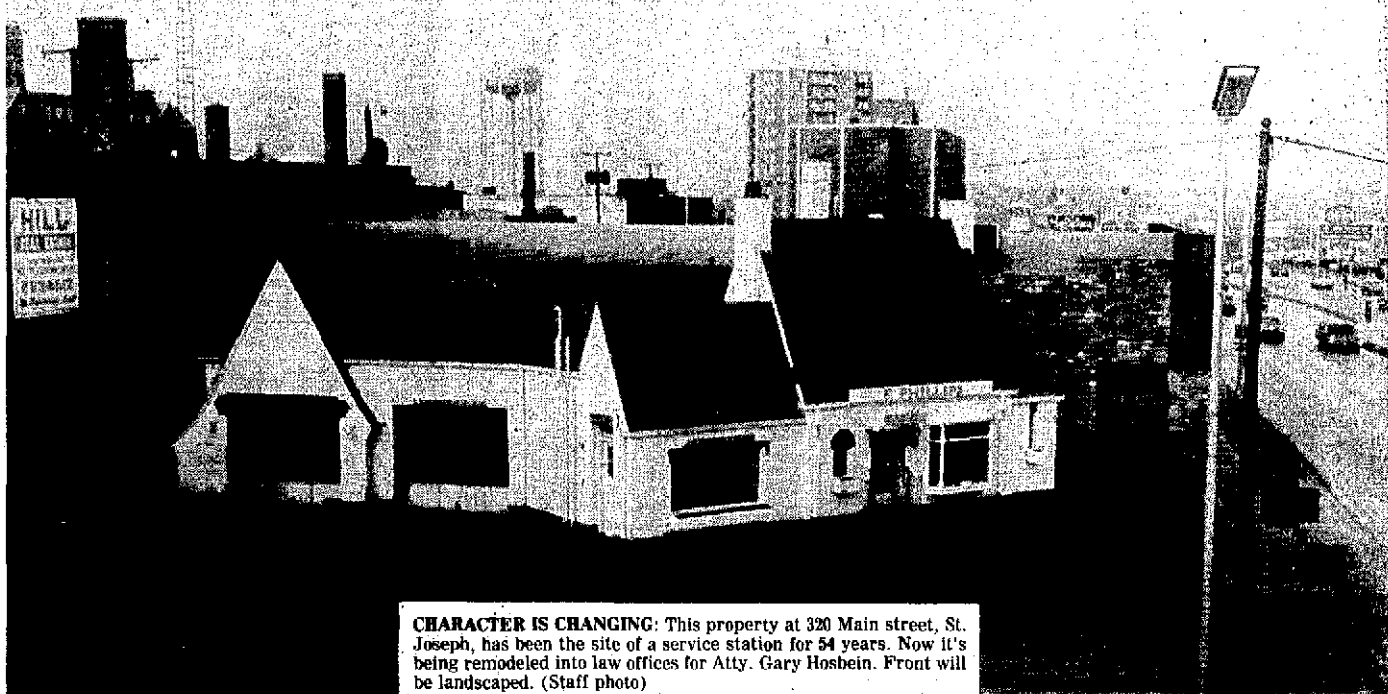

Text of Malkin's letter on asking for opinions on his possible candidacy for supervisor. Dear Friend,

Ever since I have been elected to the Benton Township Board, I have enjoyed the challenge of confronting our many problems. I have a desire to get involved in our township with a total commitment; but as a trustee I feel hampered as it is basically a part-time position. With other job responsibilities I am frustrated when time does not permit me to follow through on many worthwhile projects. Our township is unique in that its size and demands have created the need for a full-time supervisor directly accountable to the electorate. It is that position that could give me the opportunity to totally commit myself to facing the many challenges before us.

Martin Lane, our present supervisor, has not yet publicly announced his decision on seeking another term. With that in mind I have decided to write this note to you asking for your advice. I have the desire to serve and I am confident that I can provide Benton Township with aggressive, honest, and effective leadership. But desire and confidence are not always enough; and so, before I make a decision, I intend to seek out the opinion of you and others. The response that I receive in these next few months will be a major factor in my decision.

In the next few years decisions will have to be made in many important areas that affect us all, such as drainage, recreation, police, fire, and housing. This is why I seek your opinion. One man cannot do things on his own, and without your help my efforts may be in vain.

Sincerely,
Ken Malkin

CHARACTER IS CHANGING: This property at 320 Main street, St. Joseph, has been the site of a service station for 54 years. Now it's being remodeled into law offices for Atty. Gary Hosbein. Front will be landscaped. (Staff photo)

LAW OFFICES FOR ATTORNEY SJ Landmark Getting New Look

A former service station at 320 Main street, St. Joseph, is being remodeled into new law offices for Atty. Gary G. Hosbein.

Hosbein, 32, has been with the St. Joseph law firm of Seymour, Seymour, Conlyear, Hosbein and Straub since 1970. Hosbein expects to be in his new offices by the middle of April and go into practice for himself.

Robert Upton owned the property before it was purchased by Hosbein. Remodeling of the building started Thursday with Holland Construction Co. as general contractor.

Hosbein said the offices are designed by his friend, George Nakashima, an architect from Detroit and

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who also designed the new Captain's Table on Riverview drive, Benton Harbor.

Interior decorating will follow the Cape Cod exterior whose basic design will not be changed, Hosbein said. The building will have about 2,500 square feet of floor space with four offices, conference room and library.

A graduate of University of Detroit Law school, Hosbein and his wife, the former Barbara Puffer of St. Joseph, live at 1540 South Windsor drive, St. Joseph, with their two daughters.

A service station was located on the office site, across from St. Joseph city hall, for 54 years. The most recent operator was Ernest Phillips of Benton Harbor who intends to open another station in the area. The original operator was the late Chet McGrath, who developed it into the center of St. Joseph's hot stove sports league.

McGrath, a member of Notre Dame football teams, of 1910-11, was a personal friend of Knute Rockne who later became Notre Dame coach. The station became a branch ticket office for Notre Dame and the McGraths had 50-yard line seats ever since, according to Chet's son, St. Joseph architect Donald J. McGrath.

Chet McGrath started coaching the St. Joseph Ponies in 1929 and led them to a state basketball championship 20 years later on his birthday, March 19.

Petitions Going To St. Joe Board Jefferson Parents Gather Signatures To Save School

By DICK DERRICK
Staff Writer

A committee of Jefferson elementary school parents said they will present petitions tonight to the St. Joseph board of education asking that the school remain in operation.

The parents organized after a PTO meeting last week when Supt. Burton Aldrich said the board was considering closing Jefferson school next year because of declining enrollment and for economy reasons. Jefferson is at 2214 South State street.

It's not known how many signatures were collected since the campaign started but Mrs. Edward Petlick Jr., of 2613 Lakeview avenue, said the initial response was "good."

Mrs. Petlick said the petition drive "organized itself" with 17 mothers and four fathers circulating petitions.

The board meets at 7 o'clock in Brown school.

On Feb. 24 Aldrich disclosed results of a study proposing closing Milton junior high school and Jefferson elementary school because of shrinking enrollment and the need to cut expenses in the face of reduced state aid. On March 2, Aldrich addressed the Jefferson PTO and said savings of $25,000 to $50,000 might be realized if Jefferson school was closed. He said the decision would be up to the board of education and it would have to be made this spring.

The seventh and eighth grade students at Milton junior high school would be transferred to Upton junior high. All ninth grade students would be shifted to St. Joseph high school, the report indicated.

Children attending Jefferson school would be transferred to Lincoln school. Jefferson school has the smallest enrollment, 223, of the district's six elementary schools. The survey showed 110 families would be affected.

Children living along Lake Shore drive would have to walk about a mile and a half to school if they were transferred from Jefferson to Lincoln.

Dr. Gale Cutler, 218 Craft circle, was asked to represent the Jefferson school parents at tonight's school board meeting. Dr. Cutler led a campaign two years ago to obtain bus transportation for children attending Jefferson school who were forced to cross Lake Shore drive (Business Route 1-94).

In a statement Dr. Cutler said: "A concerned group of parents and taxpayers who reside in the area currently being served by Jefferson Elementary School are working to call to the attention of the St. Joseph Board of Education the importance of the continued operation of the Jefferson school. This group is circulating petitions to show that there is a large measure of support for the continued operation of Jefferson."

"It is felt by this group that one of the many excellent characteristics of the St. Joseph system is the neighborhood elementary school. To close Jefferson and ask children to go a greater distance to other schools in the system (most probably Lincoln) has a number of negative aspects.

"These include: additional traffic hazard to elementary

students because of the necessity of crossing one of more busy highways (such as Niles avenue), more crowded conditions at Lincoln which will be a substantial change to youngsters used to the neighborhood-type school at Jefferson, the inability of the Lincoln school cafeteria to handle conveniently this additional load of youngsters for hot meals, etc.

"The group feels that the disruption of the educational process for youngsters at Jefferson and the loss of the neighborhood-type school are a great price to pay for the minimal savings gained by closing Jefferson."

Mrs. Petlick said the mothers took the classroom rosters each youngster brings home at the beginning of the school year and used that to organize the petition-signing campaign.

The petition preamble states: "The undersigned parents and concerned taxpayers do hereby petition the St. Joseph Board of Education to continue to keep in operation Jefferson elementary school in its present capacity in order to serve the best interests of the students concerned and the community at large."

The exact number of signatures collected over the weekend will be counted today and presented to the school board tonight. The petition circulators canvassed only the Jefferson school area.

KEEP JEFFERSON OPEN: Mothers of youngsters who attend Jefferson elementary school in St. Joseph check petitions to be presented board of education tonight asking that the school be kept in operation. From left are Mrs. Thomas Cook, Mrs. Edward Petlick Jr., and Mrs. Corinda Snavely. Petition-signing campaign was organized and executed in the past five days. (Staff photo)

Mrs. Huckaby Says She Has 'Nothing To Hide'

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

Benton Harbor City Commissioner Barbara Huckaby said today that she is "not really concerned" about a recall drive aimed at unseating Mayor Charles Joseph and four other members of the "Clean Slate" ticket.

"Speaking only for myself, I have nothing to hide," said Mrs. Huckaby, who was elected to a four-year term as commissioner-at-large on the Clean Slate ticket last November.

"The only charge I have seen is that I voted not to renew Mr. Morrison's contract. That's not very much of a charge."

The recall effort is aimed at five members of a commission majority who voted Dec. 28 not to renew the contract of former City Manager Charles Morrison, who since has been replaced by James Peoples Jr. Mrs. Huckaby said the recall drive might force commissioners to "expend some energy that could better be used in other areas — in essence, campaigning again" — but said "if that's what the people want, they have a right to do it."

Mrs. Huckaby spoke Sunday at the Unitarian church in St. Joseph; but declined to take a stand on two controversial subjects — recommended pay raises for the mayor and commissioners and an alleged assassination plot blamed for the absence of the entire "Clean Slate" at last Monday's commission meeting.

"I really said I didn't want to get into that," she said of a compensation commission recommendation that the mayor receive an annual salary of $25,000 and commissioners' pay be raised from $5 to $30 per meeting.

"The commission never has accepted those raises, and it may never get that far."

Payment of the higher salaries has been held in abeyance pending a ruling from the state attorney general, but would be retroactive to Jan. 28 if ruled to be legal.

Mrs. Huckaby said she had no information at all about an alleged conspiracy to assassinate the mayor that was claimed by Commissioner Helen Ford as the reason for the absence of the "Clean Slate" from the city commission meeting last week.

"I'm planning to be there tonight," Mrs. Huckaby said, "and I don't know of anyone who's not going to be there."

Ken Malkin, 26, a Benton township Democratic trustee, is conducting a poll to determine what support he can get in a race for township supervisor — a post held 22 years by Martin J. Lane, a powerful vote-getting Democrat. Lane, 67, told The Herald-Palladium: "I haven't made up mind. . . if he will seek re-election.

Malkin said he has mailed more than 300 letters to "friends and interested Benton township residents" asking their opinions on his possible candidacy for supervisor.

Lane said he was not surprised that Malkin is considering candidacy. "He (Malkin) has been trying to get me to commit myself for a couple of months."

Lane said he doesn't view Malkin's poll as an attempt to force him out of office. "He's just trying to find out if I'm going to run."

Malkin, 890 North Shore drive, is serving his first term as trustee. An employee of The Herald-Palladium's circulation department, Malkin said in his letter he feels "frustrated" because the part-time position of trustee does not permit him "to follow through on many worthwhile projects."

Malkin noted Lane "has not publicly announced his decision on seeking another term. With that in mind I have decided to write this note to you asking for your advice."

Lane's political popularity has rivaled that of the late James J. Jakway, whom Lane succeeded as supervisor. Jakway, Lane's political mentor, was supervisor 37 years. Lane was township treasurer before becoming supervisor.

Lane served continuously as supervisor until 1963 when he was defeated by Charles O. Zollar, now a state senator. Lane returned to power in 1970 by defeating incumbent Ray Wilder.

Text of Malkin's letter on asking for opinions on his possible candidacy for supervisor. Dear Friend,

Ever since I have been elected to the Benton Township Board, I have enjoyed the challenge of confronting our many problems. I have a desire to get involved in our township with a total commitment, but as a trustee I feel hampered as it is basically a part-time position. With other job responsibilities I am frustrated when time does not permit me to follow through on many worthwhile projects. Our township is unique in that its size and demands have created the need for a full-time supervisor directly accountable to the electorate. It is that position that could give me the opportunity to totally commit myself to facing the many challenges before us.

Martin Lane, our present supervisor, has not yet publicly announced his decision on seeking another term. With that in mind I have decided to write this note to you asking for your advice. I have the desire to serve and I am confident that I can provide Benton Township with aggressive, honest, and effective leadership. But desire and confidence are not always enough; and so, before I make a decision, I intend to seek out the opinion of you and others. The response that I receive in these next few months will be a major factor in my decision.

In the next few years decisions will have to be made in many important areas that affect us all, such as drainage, recreation, police, fire, and housing. This is why I seek your opinion. One man cannot do things on his own, and without your help my efforts may be in vain.

Sincerely,
Ken Malkin

Hearing Today On Helen Ford Suit

A hearing was scheduled at 11 o'clock this morning in Berrien Circuit court on a suit asking that the appointment of Helen Ford to the Benton Harbor city commission be declared void.

Defendants in the suit are Mayor Charles Joseph, Mrs. Ford, and four commissioners who joined Joseph in voting for Mrs. Ford's appointment — Barbara Huckaby, Winston Minott, Charles Shepherd and Alfred Williams.

The suit was filed by Maurice Bishop, leader of a drive to recall Joseph and the four "Clean Slate" commissioners; and Alice Canfield, a Benton Harbor resident.

The suit contends Mrs. Ford's appointment was illegal because at the time she took the oath of office she owed the city $437.93 in back taxes, penalty and interest and that she also was a member of a city compensation commission that recommended pay hikes for the mayor and city commissioners. Mrs. Ford has since paid the back taxes.

LAW OFFICES FOR ATTORNEY SJ Landmark Getting New Look

A former service station at 320 Main street, St. Joseph, is being remodeled into new law offices for Atty. Gary G. Hosbein.

Hosbein, 32, has been with the St. Joseph law firm of Seymour, Seymour, Conybeare, Hosbein and Straub since 1970. Hosbein expects to be in his new offices by the middle of April and go into practice for himself.

Robert Upton owned the property before it was purchased by Hosbein. Remodeling of the building started Thursday with Holland Construction Co. as general contractor.

Hosbein said the offices are designed by his friend, George Nakashima, an architect from Detroit and

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who also designed the new Captain's Table on Riverview drive, Benton Harbor.

Interior decorating will follow the Cape Cod exterior whose basic design will not be changed, Hosbein said. The building will have about 2,500 square feet of floor space with four offices, conference room and library.

A graduate of University of Detroit Law school, Hosbein and his wife, the former Barbar Puffer of St. Joseph, live at 1540 South Windsor drive, St. Joseph, with their two daughters.

A service station was located on the office site, across from St. Joseph city hall, for 54 years. The most recent operator was Ernest Phillips of Benton Harbor who intends to open another station in the area.

The original operator was the late Chet McGrath, who developed it into the center of St. Joseph's hot stove sports league.

McGrath, a member of Notre Dame football teams of 1910-11, was a personal friend of Knute Rockne who later became Notre Dame coach. The station became a branch ticket office for Notre Dame and the McGraths had 50-yard line seats ever since, according to Chet's son, St. Joseph architect Donald J. McGrath.

Chet McGrath started coaching the St. Joseph Ponies in 1929 and led them to a state basketball championship 20 years later on his birthday, March 19.

Petitions Going To St. Joe Board Jefferson Parents Gather Signatures To Save School

By DICK DERRICK
Staff Writer

A committee of Jefferson elementary school parents said they will present petitions tonight to the St. Joseph board of education asking that the school remain in operation.

The parents organized after a PTO meeting last week when Supt. Burton Aldrich said the board was considering closing Jefferson school next year because of declining enrollment and for economy reasons. Jefferson is at 2214 South State street.

It's not known how many signatures were collected since the campaign started but Mrs. Edward Petlick Jr., of 2613 Lakeview avenue, said the initial response was "good."

Mrs. Petlick said the petition drive "organized itself" with 17 mothers and four fathers circulating petitions.

The board meets at 7 o'clock in Brown school.

On Feb. 24 Aldrich disclosed results of a study proposing closing Milton junior high school and Jefferson elementary school because of shrinking enrollment and the need to cut expenses in the face of reduced state aid. On March 2, Aldrich addressed the Jefferson PTO and said savings of $25,000 to $50,000 might be realized if Jefferson school was closed. He said the decision would be up to the board of education and it would have to be made this spring.

The seventh and eighth grade students at Milton junior high school would be transferred to Upton junior high. All ninth grade students would be shifted to St. Joseph high school, the report indicated.

Children attending Jefferson school would be transferred to Lincoln school. Jefferson school has the smallest enrollment, 223, of the district's six elementary schools. The survey showed 110 families would be affected.

Children living along Lake Shore drive would have to walk about a mile and a half to school if they were transferred from Jefferson to Lincoln.

Dr. Gale Cutler, 218 Croft circle, was asked to represent the Jefferson school parents at tonight's school board meeting.

Dr. Cutler led a campaign two years ago to obtain bus transportation for children attending Jefferson school who were forced to cross Lake Shore drive (Business Route 1-94).

In a statement Dr. Cutler said: "A concerned group of parents and taxpayers who reside in the area currently being served by Jefferson Elementary school are working to call to the attention of the St. Joseph Board of Education the importance of the continued operation of the Jefferson school. This group is circulating petitions to show that there is a large measure of support for the continued operation of Jefferson.

"It is felt by this group that one of the many excellent characteristics of the St. Joseph system is the neighborhood elementary school. To close Jefferson and ask children to go a greater distance to other schools in the system (most probably Lincoln) has a number of negative aspects.

"These include: additional traffic hazard to elementary

students because of the necessity of crossing one of more busy highways (such as Niles avenue), more crowded conditions at Lincoln which will be a substantial change to youngsters used to the neighborhood-type school at Jefferson, the inability of the Lincoln school cafeteria to handle conveniently this additional load of youngsters for hot meals, etc.

"The group feels that the disruption of the educational process for youngsters at Jefferson and the loss of the neighborhood-type school are a great price to pay for the minimal savings gained by closing Jefferson."

Mrs. Petlick said the mothers took the classroom rosters each youngster brings home at the beginning of the school year and used that to organize the petition-signing campaign.

The petition preamble states: "The undersigned parents and concerned taxpayers do hereby petition the St. Joseph Board of Education to continue to keep in operation Jefferson elementary school in its present capacity in order to serve the best interests of the students concerned and the community at large."

The exact number of signatures collected over the weekend will be counted today and presented to the school board tonight. The petition circulators canvassed only the Jefferson school area.

KEEP JEFFERSON OPEN: Mothers of youngsters who attend Jefferson elementary school in St. Joseph check petitions to be presented board of education tonight asking that the school be kept in operation. From left are Mrs. Thomas Cook, Mrs. Edward Petlick Jr., and Mrs. Corinda Snively. Petition-signing campaign was organized and executed in the past five days. (Staff photo)

Mrs. Huckaby Says She Has 'Nothing To Hide'

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

Benton Harbor City Commissioner Barbara Huckaby said today that she is "not really concerned" about a recall drive aimed at unseating Mayor Charles Joseph and four other members of the "Clean Slate" ticket.

"Speaking only for myself, I have nothing to hide," said Mrs. Huckaby, who was elected to a four-year term as commissioner-at-large on the Clean Slate ticket last November.

"The only charge I have seen is that I voted not to renew Mr. Morrison's contract. That's not very much of a charge."

The recall effort is aimed at five members of a commission majority who voted Dec. 29 not to renew the contract of former City Manager Charles Morrison, who since has been replaced by James Peoples Jr. Mrs. Huckaby said the recall drive might force commissioners to "expend some energy that could better be used in other areas — in essence, campaigning again" — but said "if that's what the people want, they have a right to do it."

Mrs. Huckaby spoke Sunday at the Unitarian church in St. Joseph, but declined to take a stand on two controversial subjects — recommended pay raises for the mayor and commissioners and an alleged assassination plot blamed for the absence of the entire "Clean Slate" at last Monday's commission meeting.

"I really said I didn't want to get into that," she said of a compensation commission recommendation that the mayor receive an annual salary of $25,000 and commissioners' pay be raised from $5 to $30 per meeting.

"The commission never has accepted those raises, and it may never get that far."

Payment of the higher salaries has been held in abeyance pending a ruling from the state attorney general, but would be retroactive to Jan. 28 if ruled to be legal.

Mrs. Huckaby said she had no information at all about an alleged conspiracy to assassinate the mayor that was claimed by Commissioner Helen Ford as the reason for the absence of the "Clean Slate" from the city commission meeting last week.

"I'm planning to be there tonight," Mrs. Huckaby said, "and I don't know of anyone who's not going to be there."

Nurses Workshop March 31

GRAND RAPIDS — A one-day workshop for area nurses on "Patient Care Planning" will be held Wednesday, March 31, at the Hospitality Motor Inn, Grand Rapids.

It is being presented by the Grand Rapids District Nurses Association in cooperation with Nursing Care Systems Division of the Mediacus Corp.

Cost is $20 for members of the Michigan Nurses Association and $30 for non-members. The fee includes lunch. Reservations should be made by March 22 by contacting the Grand Rapids District Nurses Association, 822 Cherry street, SE, Grand Rapids, Mich. 49506.

The workshop will be conducted by Jane Wood Cady, RN, who has been involved with research, development and implementation of patient care planning, problem oriented charting and quality assurance.

The seminar represents a systematic approach to patient care planning that will assist the nurse in the further development of workable and effective care plans. The patient care plan is designed as a medium for the effective design, implementation and evaluation of care in any nursing service setting.

Remove Rust From Tools

A simple and inexpensive way to remove mild rust spots from workshop tools is to use a secretary's ink eraser.

It has just enough abrasive qualities to remove surface rust without scratching the metal.

MCA Plans Public Hearing

Michigan Council for the Arts will hold a public hearing at 4 p.m. Monday, March 13, in the Civil Rights conference room, seventh floor, State of Michigan Plaza building, 1200 Sixth avenue, Detroit.

Purpose of the hearing is to accept comments and recommendations pursuant to the development of a United States Office of Education Grant Proposal for special arts projects for the State of Michigan.

The proposed special arts projects would provide opportunities for interracial and intercultural communication and understanding for children in schools affected by the implementation of a local educational agency's desegregation plan or plan to eliminate, reduce or prevent minority group isolation.

Serving on the Michigan Council for the Arts Statewide Advisory committee is Phil T. Jenkins, director of music at First Congregational United Church of Christ, Benton Harbor.

Jenkins is also executive director of the Cathedral School of the Arts, an experimental outreach ministry to extend and supplement the arts education program in the Benton Harbor area.

Genealogy Topic Set For Meeting

Dorothy M. Lower, who is in charge of the historical genealogy department at the Fort Wayne, Ind., public library, will speak on "Forgotten Sources in Libraries" at the Saturday, March 13, meeting of Southwestern Michigan Genealogical Association.

The meeting will be held at 12:30 p.m. with a luncheon at Chicken Nook restaurant, St. Joseph. Cost is $3.25.

The public is invited and no reservations are necessary.

Lower was appointed head of the historical genealogy department at the Fort Wayne library in 1961, and became responsible for setting up and operating the newly opened department. Its holdings now include approximately 90,000 books and 12,000 rolls of microfilm, covering the entire United States and Great Britain.

She has held classes and seminars in genealogy and does considerable speaking to groups interested in the subject.

Sunday Music Club

Sunday Music club will meet Sunday, March 14, at 2:30 p.m. at First United Methodist church, St. Joseph, for election of officers for the new year.

Students performing piano solos will be Katie Burns, Joe Houseal, Lou Ann Hightower, Dagnar Lenk, Kathy Neubauer, Margaret Frappier, Laura MacKimmie, Terri Mitchell, Gretchen Keizer, Lori Lane and Katie Baker.

Vocal selections will be given by Joe Houseal, Becky Robbins, Lee Kullaneck, Terry Ducher, Ronda Schmidt, Mary Johannes, and Robin Westmaas.

A flute solo will be given by Pam Dorgelo and a flute duet by Diane Jannell and Mimi Brulhier.

Refreshment committee includes Terri Mitchell, Brenda Slieve, Lisa DaDan, Sue Burkholz, Jon Lee, Linda Butera, Mary Lynn Chambers and Kathy Neubauer.

Mrs. Robert Bartz and Mrs. Norbert Henkelman are advisors for the club, which is a member of both the State and National Federation of Music clubs.

St. Mary Open House Wednesday

NEW BUFFALO.— St. Mary of the Lake Catholic school will hold an open house meeting Wednesday, March 10, at 8 p.m. in the church social rooms.

All parents and relatives are invited. Each class will present folk dancing and refreshments will be served following the program.

Body Reflects Food Habits

Adolescents may admit the importance of breakfast but give many excuses for skipping this meal.

For example, many adolescent girls express undue concern about weight. Their "ideal" figure borders on underweight, a reflection of today's concept of attractiveness.

Well-developed bodies with healthy skin, shiny hair, and firm teeth, free of decay, are enhanced by good food habits, including breakfast each day.

RABBIT RUG: Mrs. Josephine Reyna holds a rabbit rug she has woven in Taos, N.M. Leaning her face on the soft surface is three-year-old Mary Lujan from the Taos Pueblo.

By HOWARD BRYAN
TAOS, N.M. (AP)— "This is the only place you can find rabbit rugs," she said as I walked in the door.

The attractive and smiling Taos Indian woman, Mrs. Josephine Reyna, rose from her loom in the Taos Pueblo Arts and Crafts Co-op store and walked across the room.

"This is a rabbit rug," she explained, pointing to a beautiful wall hanging of soft furs in shades of white, brown and black.

"Most people like them so much they don't want to walk on them, so they hang them on their walls. But they are strong enough to use for a rug."

The furry masterpiece measured 34 by 60 inches and bore a $200 price tag.

I asked Mrs. Reyna how long it takes her to weave such a rug. "About a month," she replied.

In weaving rabbit skins, Mrs. Reyna has revived an ancient, long-forgotten Pueblo Indian craft.

She said she revived the craft in 1971 after reading about rabbit skin weaving in some old books on Indian customs. "Long ago, so long that even the oldest people in the Pueblo don't remember it, blankets of rabbit skins were woven here at Taos Pueblo," she said.

"In those days, before the introduction of wool and cotton, ropes of rabbit skins were twined together with yucca fiber."

Mrs. Reyna uses more modern methods, weaving her rugs on a horizontal loom, using strong wool yarn and wool between rows of rabbit skins.

Each of her rugs contains 30 rabbit pelts.

I asked Mrs. Reyna if she obtained her pelts from the jackrabbits and cottontails of the Taos Indian Reservation.

"Oh no," she replied. "If we killed the rabbits around here, there would be none left for our tribal purposes." Mrs. Reyna says she buys her pelts from commercial rabbit breeders in New York and Arkansas and that they arrive already tanned for use.

Mrs. Reyna, who says she is going on 50, is the mother of four children ranging in age from 13 to 27. A 1945 graduate of the Albuquerque Indian school, where she learned weaving, she wove wool rugs and belts until embarking on the rabbit skin revival.

In 1972, she demonstrated rabbit skin weaving at a Smithsonian Institution festival in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Reyna estimates that she has sold more than 200 rabbit skin rugs. Most of her customers have been among the tourists who visit the Taos Pueblo.

She isn't getting rich because the co-op store is a non-profit outlet of the Taos Pueblo Craftsmen's Project, Inc. The co-op store is the only place where her work is sold.

Body Reflects Food Habits

Adolescents may admit the importance of breakfast but give many excuses for skipping this meal.

For example, many adolescent girls express undue concern about weight. Their "ideal" figure borders on underweight, a reflection of today's concept of attractiveness.

Well-developed bodies with healthy skin, shiny hair, and firm teeth, free of decay, are enhanced by good food habits, including breakfast each day.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

How To Handle Mr. Lockjaw

Dear Ann Landers: I haven't spoken to my husband since New Year's Day because I called his father a bastard and I meant it.

My mother-in-law is one of the sweetest women who ever lived. She had seven children (one dead) and has been terrified of her husband ever since I came into the family, which was 15 years ago. My father-in-law is a bully and a tyrant, demanding and cruel.

As my husband and I were leaving their home (after a four-day visit) I kissed her pale little face and pressed several $20 bills in her hand and told her to get some bottom-teeth. My miserable father-in-law leaned over as if to bestow an affectionate kiss on her brow — most uncharacteristic. I then saw him grab her hand and twist her wrist until the fingers opened and he got the money, which he slipped into his pocket. It was then that I looked him in the eye and said, "You are a bastard."

I told my husband that next month I am going to arrange a dental appointment for his mother and take her personally. He did not reply. In fact, he hasn't spoken to me since because he says I insulted his father. What is your opinion of this? — Upset

Dear Upset: I find it interesting that your husband is more concerned with the name you called his father than the ruthless manner in which his father treats his mother.

The best way to handle Mr. Lockjaw is to ignore his silence. Speak to him pleasantly and overlook the fact that he doesn't reply. Like a spoiled child, he will start talking when he's ready. In the meantime, bless you for being so kind to his mother.

Viewpoint

Dear Ann Landers: I know you have lots of serious problems to tend to so I'll just take a few minutes of your time. A good friend of mine who is highly intelligent and beautifully philosophical (but a terrible cynic) said something last night that made a real impact. He uttered four words that stopped me dead in my tracks: "Hell is other people."

I thought about it for a long time and decided he was right. Do you agree? — Old Moldy

Dear Old Mold: Yes, but so is heaven. What counts is how you choose to view the world. Some people say the battle is half empty. I like to think it's half full.

She Told

Dear Ann Landers: I took your advice and it ruined my life. I wrote and asked if I should tell my fiancée about a child I had out-of-wedlock when I was 16. You said "yes."

When I told him he called me some names I can't spell and you can't print. He asked for his ring back and told me he never wanted to see me again. If it weren't for you, Ann Landers,

I'd be getting married in May. I hope you feel guilty because I am — Heartsick

Dear Heartsick: What would your life have been like had he learned of your past AFTER the marriage, from someone else? I did you a favor whether you realize it or not. I hope this experience doesn't frighten you into silence with a future fiancée. Better a broken engagement than a broken marriage.

Ermo Bombeck Simple Matter Of Scoring

A lot of people are so busy watching and listening to the presidential candidates, they overlook the real people who could make the difference. Show business personalities.

It's simply a matter of scoring. To date, on the Democratic side Jimmy Carter has the endorsement of the Marshall/Tucker band and Gregg Allman. Since Gregg is married to Chur, it could mean the entire block of "naïve" votes could go to Carter.

Mo Ullrich has Linda Ronstadt as a supporter and Fred Harris lists Harry Chapin, Arlo Guthrie, Pete Seeger and Tom Paxton behind him. George Wallace is claiming a large segment of country music performers.

On the Republican side of the ledger, Ronald Reagan hopes to net Pat Boone. Gerald Ford is still doing a struggle.

The Democrats seem to have captured the lion's share of tennis players (which could make a difference at the convention) but have only one tap dancer (Shirley MacLaine).

The Republicans, however, have several blockbusters, Sammy Davis, Jr., Pearl Bailey and John Wayne, who have been known to effect a landslide victory.

Still confused and wondering, who to watch in the forthcoming election year? Watch Rich Little. Rich is no fool. He's not going to align himself with any candidate whose voice he can't do.

Watch Jeanne Dixon. She's another one who, in her business, can't afford to endorse a "loser."

Watch Bob Hope. As yet, he's uncommitted, but you can bet he won't play footsie with a "ski" man even if he has to nominate Jack Nicklaus himself.

Paul Newman. Some people question how much effect a sex symbol will have on the voting public. I can only tell you Paul Newman supported Humphrey in 1968. In 1972, I voted for Humphrey and he wasn't even running.

Watch for the uncommitted vote. There are 87 per cent of the entertainers in Las Vegas, Hollywood, Nashville and New York who are still on the fence.

My husband refutes my theory. He says people listen to issues, weigh the attitudes of the candidates and the soundness of their proposals.

All I know is if Gerald Ford gets Charlton Heston in his back pocket, that's the old ballgame. With Moses on his side, he can't miss.

Dr. Lester Coleman

Are doctors and scientists making any inroads into the treatment of cancer?

Miss T.E. Kan.

Dear Miss E.:

The yearly yield of scientific studies from all over the world is enormous. Each makes a tiny inroad into the mysteries that exist about the myriad types and forms of cancer.

Many new drugs have been effective in prolonging lives of patients with Hodgkins disease, leukemia and other types of cancer. There are even experimental studies that suggest that a vaccine against some forms of cancer is possible.

The National Cancer Institute revealed that a new drug, maytansine, has already proved effective against some types of cancer.

A spokesman for the National Cancer Institute called maytansine "the best pre-clinical drug available." It is termed "a good anti-cancer agent which should be effective in clinical practice."

Even though there is enthusiasm about this new drug, its originators caution against overoptimism at the present time.

Hundreds of other drugs are constantly being developed for the active treatment of cancer. Although the answer to cancer is not known, it is felt that inevitably it will be found.

There is a little projection in the back of my throat. I think this hangs down too low and causes me to gag. Is it safe to have this removed?

Mr. G.R. Mich.

Dear Mr. R.:

I would not, simply on the basis of your own diagnosis, get involved in surgery.

The small piece of tissue that hangs down from the back of the soft palate is the "uvula." It is rare, indeed, for the uvula to be responsible for discomfort.

If it tickles the back of the tongue, then it should be brought to the attention of your doctor. If he feels that there is a relationship between the sensations that you have and the size of the uvula, removal can be done easily.

With local anesthesia, the tip of it can be removed in a few moments.

I have known people who had this done who then complained of dryness of the mouth.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "What to Do About Uvulas." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Jim: "If you don't like the bidding of today's hand, you can't get into an argument with me. I didn't bid it and I don't like it."

Oswald: "How about the play?"

Jim: "It was quite interesting. See if you can figure out how South got greedy and managed to go down at four hearts against a deuce of clubs opening?"

Oswald: "Let's see. He won the club with his queen and cashed the three top trumps. After that start he could run off dummy's clubs in order to discard his spades and make five odd. I suppose he tried for six."

Jim: "He sure did. After cashing the three top trumps, he took an immediate diamond finesse. It worked because good old East didn't take his king. Then South cashed the clubs while East chuckled a spade. He ruffed a spade, led a diamond, finessed again and watched the defense take the rest of the tricks since East produced the king, pulled the last trump and led a spade."

Ask the Jacobys

A New York reader wants to know what a forcing pass is. A typical forcing pass occurs on a sequence such as one heart-one spade-two spades-double-pass.

The two-spade call was a cue bid and when fourth hand doubled the opening bidder elected to pass to tell his partner to show something more about his hand. Lots of other passes are supposed to be forcing but take care. Some partners forget and fail to respond.

Oswald: "How about the play?"

Jim: "It was quite interesting. See if you can figure out how South got greedy and managed to go down at four hearts against a deuce of clubs opening?"

Oswald: "Let's see. He won the club with his queen and cashed the three top trumps. After that start he could run off dummy's clubs in order to discard his spades and make five odd. I suppose he tried for six."

Jim: "He sure did. After cashing the three top trumps, he took an immediate diamond finesse. It worked because good old East didn't take his king. Then South cashed the clubs while East chucked a spade. He ruffed a spade, led a diamond, finessed again and watched the defense take the rest of the tricks since East produced the king, pulled the last trump and led a spade."

Ask the Jacobys

A New York reader wants to know what a forcing pass is.

A typical forcing pass occurs on a sequence such as one heart-one spade-two spades-double-pass.

The two-spade call was a cue bid and when fourth hand doubled the opening bidder elected to pass to tell his partner to show something more about his hand. Lots of other passes are supposed to be forcing but take care. Some partners forget and fail to respond.

OIL MEETING SITE: Saudi Arabia's Oil Minister Ahmed Yamani has been meeting with officials from four U.S. oil companies in Panama City's bay front clubhouse, top. Negotiations, closed to newsmen, were expected to result in takeover of Aramco, the giant Arabian American Oil Co., by Saudi Arabia. (AP Wirephoto)

Oil Parley Secrecy Miffs Mayor

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Top executives of four American oil companies and Saudi Arabia's Oil Minister Ahmed Yamani stayed secluded today at a plush, beachside resort negotiating Saudi Arabia's takeover of Aramco, the giant Arabian American Oil Co.

As with everything else concerning the unusual meeting in this small Florida Panhandle city, the talks were shrouded in secrecy and heavy security.

Panama City Mayor M.B. Miller, for one, was miffed about the whole affair.

"It's a puzzle to me why in the United States of America people have to slip around in such a manner," said Miller. He said even police were kept in the dark when the armed, private security force descended on the city four days ago.

The tight security presumably stemmed from concern about a terrorist attack like the one in December during a meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries in Vienna. Scores of persons were taken hostage, including Yamani, and three persons were killed.

The U.S. State Department, which helped arrange security measures, confirmed that Yamani came here for an Aramco meeting with officials of Texaco, Mobil, Exxon and Standard Oil of California.

The Panama City meeting was a continuation of nationalization talks that began at an undetermined location on the East Coast earlier in the week, State Department officials said.

The 100 per cent acquisition of Aramco would climax a process begun in 1973 when the Saudis bought 25 per cent of the firm. It would also symbolize an historic shift in dominant power from the private, Western-owned oil giants to the third world oil producers.

Yamani has said that the takeover date will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1976, and Aramco Board chairman Frank J. Higgins agreed in a recent interview that this was the date tentatively set.

Aramco produces approximately 8.5 million barrels a day, only slightly less than the production of the world's top two producing countries, the Soviet Union and the United States.

The United States gets about 600,000 barrels of oil a day from Saudi Arabia.

A Federal Energy Administration spokesman in Washington said that no significant price increases were expected as a result of the changeover. "In light of current surpluses and reduced demand."

"There is a lot of uncertainty, though," Jim Merrin of the FEA said in a telephone interview. He said he believed a major concern of the four American oil firms was the assurance of a continued supply of oil "at equitable prices."

"I'm sure that's a serious condition of the sale," he said.

However, the four American oil companies have refused to say anything about the talks under way at the Bay Point Yacht and Country Club.

Ice Storm Brings Back 'Pioneer Days'

RICHVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Andrew Lehotan hand-milked 40 cows by flashlight last week after an ice storm knocked out the power to his Tuscola County dairy farm.

"It was like going back to pioneer days," Lehotan said. "I had to throw away 1,500 pounds of milk because I didn't have any way to get the milk out of the bulk tanks and ship it to the dairy."

Portable electric generators, which various sources shipped to Lehotan and other area farmers, cause trouble, according to a Michigan State University agriculture adviser.

William Bortel said vibrations from the generators may cause disease among the cows.

"There will be many cases of mastitis, an irritation of the udder created from uneven pulsations coming from the portable generators," said Bortel.

"We are sure many will be forced to be sold for slaughter because of mastitis," Bortel said the power outage can be hard on the cows.

"Many of the cows have never been milked by hand and the experience is traumatic," he said. "It's the reverse of what we had 15 or 20 years ago, when we tried to convert cows to milking machines."

At least 300 dairy farms were without electricity in the town of Tuscola, a top milk-producing area in the state.

In nearby Vassar, dairy farmers dumped an estimated 75 per cent of their milk because they had no power to cool it.

Lehotan said his cows normally produce 1,000 pounds of milk a day, but the amount has been down by nearly half since the storm hit.

He said he expects production will be down by 10 percent for the next six months.

Lehotan said hand-milking took six hours compared to the usual two-and-a-half hours using machines. And he wound up with less than contented cows.

"It was a traumatic experience for them, too. They were kicking buckets over because they weren't used to being hand-milked."

Bellevue, Wash. (AP) — Former presidential adviser John Ehrlichman, who is appealing his Watergate cover-up conviction, has complained that he had "no chance of a fair trial" in Washington.

Jobs Bill High On Congress' List

By EDMOND LA BRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Social Security taxes, jobs, the Federal Election Commission and the leak of the secret House intelligence report are among the topics up for congressional consideration this week.

Little major legislation was scheduled for floor consideration in either chamber, but committees were expected to be busy.

In the House, Administration Committee Chairman Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, has set a goal of Tuesday to reach major decisions on legislation to reconstitute the Federal Election Commission.

The Supreme Court declared unconstitutional portions of the act that created the commission and set rules for campaign financing.

There is general agreement within Congress on revamping the law to provide for the commission's membership to be presidentially appointed, something required by the court decision.

However, other proposed changes in the law are controversial, especially some that would limit the subletting of employees for contributions to political committees established by corporations.

A Senate committee also is considering revisions of the act, but the Senate was expected to await House action.

The Senate Public Works Committee starts work this week on legislation to replace a $6.1-billion public works job bill President Ford vetoed as too expensive and ineffective. The veto was sustained when the Senate failed to muster a two-thirds vote against it.

The House Ways and Means Committee was expected to take up a subcommittee recommendation that could result in an increase in Social Security taxes next year for higher-earning persons and their employers. The boost would be intended to bolster the Social Security trust funds, now running in deficit but in no danger for several years of failing to provide payments.

The 5.35 per cent Social Security tax this year is levied on a maximum income of $13,300, so the maximum tax paid by a worker is $706. Under automatic provisions of existing law, the base next year is set to rise to $16,500, making the top tax $866. The subcommittee proposed making the 1977 base $17,700, meaning a worker at the upper limit would pay $1,039, or $70 more than he would under existing law. The employer pays a matching tax in each case.

The House Ethics Committee planned a closed session Tuesday to discuss procedures in its probe to determine the source of the leak of the House intelligence committee's report. This committee has never before conducted an investigation.

CBS correspondent Daniel Schorr has acknowledged obtaining a copy of the report and making it available to The Village Voice, a New York weekly, which published it.

Psychiatrist Returns To Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A psychiatric expert who has disputed Patricia Hearst's claim that she helped rob a bank under fear of death was scheduled to return to the witness stand today.

Dr. Joel Fort's appearance Friday touched off some courtroom fireworks that left both U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. and defense counsel F. Lee Bailey tense with rage.

Bailey was particularly angered at one of Browning's questions, and U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter postponed until today a ruling on whether Fort's answer will be allowed to stand.

The lawyers debated the question for more than 20 minutes before Carter said he would think about Bailey's argument over the weekend.

Bailey had snapped to his feet when Browning asked Fort if, in his professional opinion, the 22-year-old newspaper heiress participated in the bank robbery because she was in fear of death or great bodily injury.

Fort, testifying for the government, replied, "No," as Bailey yelled his objection and furiously told the judge that only the jury had a right to answer that question.

Battle Looms Over Car Emissions

WASHINGTON (AP) — A battle is flaring in the House Commerce Committee over whether to tighten automobile emission standards for the sake of health or leave them alone for the sake of economy.

Whatever happens in a vote slated for Tuesday, the fight is almost sure to reignite when the measure reaches the full House later this year as part of broader Clean Air Act amendments that also deal with such areas as industrial and aircraft pollution.

Rep. John D. Dingell, a Michigan Democrat who represents part of Detroit, has joined forces with the Republican administration and proposed a five-year freeze on emission standards.

His amendment would extend current 1978 standards through 1981. After that, the Environmental Protection Agency could issue new regulations, but they could be rejected by a majority vote of both houses of Congress.

On the other hand, Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., whose health subcommittee first drafted the Clean Air package, argues that the public's physical well-being might be gambled away if the environment is not cleaned up.

Rogers' version would fall harder on the automobile manufacturers, who have heavily lobbied Capitol Hill to tone the bill down.

Under his provision, statutory emission standards for new and other light-duty vehicles would be delayed until model year 1989 for hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide. Those standards require a 90 per cent reduction in the two pollutants.

But it would allow another year's delay for the pollutant oxides of nitrogen. The EPA could also grant a year-by-year suspension up to 1985 of the nitrogen oxide regulation if the technology was unavailable or if an excessive fuel penalty would fall on motorists.

Dingell, chairman of the Commerce Committee's energy panel, says tight emission standards would result in less fuel efficiency in automobiles and spiral into a greater reliance on more imported oil. He thinks Rogers' bill is not soft enough.

Agreeing is Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, whose state is the largest producer of automobile parts.

Brown told the Commerce Committee in a heated session last week that the costs of Rogers' bill would be unloaded on the consumers.

"We're going to make the automobile so expensive that nobody can drive it," said Brown.

Rep. Henry A. Waxman, D-Calif., sided with Rogers on the health issue, saying:

"If we vote the Dingell proposal, the pollution is going to double in the big cities of our nation. We're going to find people dropping dead in the streets from the emission."

They also assailed Dingell's proposal to let the EPA recommend new standards after 1981.

Jobs Bill High On Congress' List

By EDMOND Le BRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Social Security taxes, jobs, the Federal Election Commission and the leak of the secret House intelligence report are among the topics up for congressional consideration this week.

Little major legislation was scheduled for floor consideration in either chamber, but committees were expected to be busy.

In the House, Administration Committee Chairman Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, has set a goal of Tuesday to reach major decisions on legislation to reconstitute the Federal Election Commission.

The Supreme Court declared unconstitutional portions of the act that created the commission and set rules for campaign financing.

There is general agreement within Congress on revamping the law to provide for the commission's membership to be presidentially appointed, something required by the court decision.

However, other proposed changes in the law are controversial, especially some that would limit the solicitation of employees for contributions to political committees established by corporations.

A Senate committee also is considering revisions of the act, but the Senate was expected to await House action.

The Senate Public Works Committee starts work this week on legislation to replace a $6.1-billion public works job bill President Ford vetoed as too expensive and ineffective. The veto was sustained when the Senate failed to muster a two-thirds vote against it.

The House Ways and Means Committee was expected to take up a subcommittee recommendation that could result in an increase in Social Security taxes next year for higher-earning persons and their employers. The boost would be intended to bolster the Social Security trust funds, now running in deficit but in no danger for several years of failing to provide payments.

The 5.85 per cent Social Security tax this year is levied on a maximum income of $15,300, so the maximum tax paid by a worker is $895. Under automatic provisions of existing law, the base next year is set to rise to $16,500, making the top tax $965. The subcommittee proposed making the 1977 base $17,700, meaning a worker at the upper limit would pay $1,035, or $70 more than he would under existing law. The employer pays a matching tax in each case.

The House Ethics Committee planned a closed session Tuesday to discuss procedures in its probe to determine the source of the leak of the House intelligence committee's report. This committee has never before conducted an investigation.

CBS correspondent Daniel Schorr has acknowledged obtaining a copy of the report and making it available to The Village Voice, a New York weekly, which published it.

Says Rate Hike Cuts Mail Usage

DETROIT (AP) — The Postal Service has a $1.3 billion deficit and is being destroyed by inflation and recession, says Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar.

In remarks prepared for delivery today at the Economic Club of Detroit, Bailar also said rate increases have resulted in a slump in mail usage, leading to further losses and the need for even more revenue.

He said inflation and recession have thrown the postal system into a "downward spiral" and he called for the elimination of some uneconomical types of mail deliveries.

"If the public elects to continue the postal system in its present form, it will have to pay a steep price," he said. "It may find the first-class stamp becoming a luxury item in the next decade."

As for how to restructure the postal system, Bailar asked, "Do all Americans really need six-day-a-week household delivery?"

"Do we really need mail delivered to our front doors?" Bailar queried.

"Do we really need 40,000 post offices, stations and branches?" asked the postmaster general.

"Should all first class letters cost the same?" Or, Bailar asked, should there be different charges for metered, zip-coded bulk mail than for individual correspondence?

BENJAMIN F. BAILAR is a 'downward spiral'

The postmaster general said he doubts Congress or the Ford Administration will go along with his recommendation for short-term relief through an additional $920 million appropriation.

He criticized Congress for blocking some cost-cutting measures the postal service attempted to take, such as closing small, rural post offices.

Congress members say "irreparable damage" could result. Bailar said the "irreparable damage" to the politicians is that "they might not get re-elected" if the post offices were closed.

Bailar said mail volume peaked in 1974 at 90 billion pieces and is expected to slip to 83 billion pieces over the next five years "and never recover."

Florida 'Knockout' Or Start Of War?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The outcome of the Florida primary election Tuesday will offer Ronald Reagan a choice of two campaign strategies — "a long war" against President Ford or "a fairly early knockout," his campaign officials say.

If Reagan overtakes President Ford on Tuesday in his quest for the Republican presidential nomination and then wins in Illinois one week later, he would have "enough momentum for a fairly early knockout," said David Keene, his Southern states coordinator.

But a Ford victory Tuesday would force Reagan into his second, clearly less preferable choice, which Keene called "a long war." Working under that plan, Reagan would attempt to chip away at Ford in April and May primary elections.

"It is more difficult, but not impossible," Keene said. "We have much more to gain in Florida than we have to lose, but we can have our job made much more difficult for us."

However, that view of the primary is based on the premise that Reagan will be able to secure at least 45 per cent of the vote and not suffer a serious defeat by Ford. John Sears, the campaign's executive vice chairman, said a showing of 40 per cent or less would be considered a defeat requiring a much better performance in Illinois on March 18.

Meanwhile, Reagan is winding up his Florida presidential primary campaign with assertions that signs of an economic upturn may be only the election-year calm before a new storm of unemployment and inflation.

While Ford campaigned from the White House and said he thinks he has gained strength in Florida because his economic policies "have begun to show real progress," Reagan questioned the significance of the figures that show employment up and inflation down.

"I disagree with the idea that prosperity is evidently at hand," the former California governor said. He also said that things may get worse after they get better during the presidential campaign year.

Democrats Jimmy Carter, Henry M. Jackson and George C. Wallace also were at their campaign tasks today, the eve of the year's fourth presidential primary election.

Health News . . . Physician Prescribes Manipulation For Low Back Pain

The above headline is from a column by Ben Zinser, medical science editor of the Long Beach, California, daily newspaper.

Of course, the concept that those who suffer low back pain can be helped by manipulative therapy is nothing new to the Doctor of Chiropractic.

But we asked Dr. Vince Ackerman of the Ackerman Chiropractic Center if he was aware of the report.

"Yes, I am familiar with the report Mr. Zinser refers to," said Dr. Ackerman. "I had already seen a similar story in an L.A. paper."

"As a matter of fact, consider these comments made by a world-renowned orthopedic specialist in California as reported in the Los Angeles Times."

Their headlines read: Spine Manipulation For Back Pain Urged.

Anaheim — It's a crying shame that more physicians are not interested in manipulation of the spinal cord to solve backache problems because that technique, properly done, could save an awful lot of surgery, bills, a noted British orthopedic surgeon told the California Medical Association here Saturday.

Dr. Henry Cyriax was invited to address the CMA's 100th annual scientific session because he has the reputation of being one of the world's leading authorities on backache.

Dr. Cyriax told a press conference that doctors had pretty much ignored his 40 years of preaching about the value of manipulation.

Respectable orthopedic surgeons avoid back manipulation like a case of leprosy, he said, and in Great Britain it's barely mentioned in medical schools.

Yet, Dr. Cyriax said, his experience based on more than 40,000 backache cases has shown that 1% or fewer need surgery.

He said the only justification for surgery is incurable pain.

"Many are operated on because the surgeon thinks the pain is incurable, but the fact is that 9 out of 10 getting it don't need surgery," he said. He added that in the United States, where operations of most kinds are more common than in Britain, the incidence of unnecessary back surgery is even higher.

During the press conference Dr. Cyriax described manipulation as the use of hands by a doctor. "Manipulation is not new but it is just not being used by medical doctors," he said.

He also added that backache is the commonest cause of job absence among healthy men in England.

Dr. Ackerman maintains offices at 3918 Red Arrow Hwy. St. Joseph (Telephone 429-1700.)

Thefts Probed By Area Police

Larceny of men's, women's and children's clothing, valued at about $580, was among seven thefts reported over the weekend to Twin Cities area police.

L.C. Carouther 1911 Columbus avenue, told Benton Harbor police the clothing was taken from his home. The lot included a suede coat, pants, shirts, suits and several skirts and dresses.

Thefts reported to Benton township police were:

—A .410-gauge shotgun, valued at $34, from the home of Tommy Reaney, 1455 Bishop avenue.

—A citizens' band radio, valued at $30, from the car of Steven Reaney, 1558 Shawnee road, Baroda, parked Bowling lanes, 2306 M-139.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said a two-way radio, valued at $80, was reported stolen from a Lakeshore schools bus. Deputies said the bus was parked near the home of bus driver Barbara Trapp, 8891 Ruggles road, Baroda township.

Thefts investigated by state police of the Benton Harbor post were:

—Two citizens' band radios from the cars of Ralph Galloway, route 1, Buchanan, and Charles Segal, Dearborn, both parked in the lot of Howard Johnson's motor lodge, M-139, Sodus township.

—Ninety dollars in cash from the purse of Linda Daniels, 184 Logan, Coloma, at the Holiday Inn, M-139, Benton township.

State police of the Benton Harbor post arrested three people on charges of carrying concealed weapons early Sunday after stopping two cars.

Booked at the Berrien county jail a Chicago couple, Jerry and Annie B. Porter, 30 and 35, and Jesse Jones, 46, Kalamazoo.

Troopers said a .32 and .22 caliber handguns, both loaded, were confiscated from a car shortly after 3 a.m. on I-94 in Watervliet township when the Chicago couple was arrested.

Earlier, about 2 a.m., troopers stopped an auto for speeding on I-94 in Lincoln township. Troopers said Jones was arrested and a loaded .32 caliber pistol confiscated.

Berrien sheriff's officers said three tires were reported slashed on two cars parked Sunday in the lot at the Brigham middle school, Lake street.

Officers said the incidents occurred apparently between about 1 and 4 p.m. Harold Graham, Chicago said one tire on his 1973 Oldsmobile was cut and Greg Kurek, 803 Tullip drive, Three Oaks, told officers two of his Volkswagen's tires were slashed.

SARAH JACKSON

Hartford Girl Wins Third Queen Title

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

HARTFORD — Sarah Elizabeth Jackson added another crown to her collection Saturday night when she captured the 1978 Miss Hartford Blossom Queen title from a field of 18 contestants.

Miss Jackson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jackson, 401 East Main street, Hartford, was also Hartford homecoming queen and Van Buren Apple queen for 1975.

The new Miss Hartford is 5 feet 8, has brown hair and blue eyes, and is a senior at Hartford high school.

First runner-up was Debbie Story, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Story, 104 South Maple street, Hartford. She, too, is a senior at Hartford high school.

Second runner-up was Jill Latus, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Len Latus, 22 West South street, Hartford. She is a junior at Hartford high.

Laurie Smith, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith, 124 West Hillsboro street, Hartford, was named Miss Congeniality by her fellow contestants. She is a junior at Hartford high.

The new Miss Hartford plans on attending Western Michigan university in the fall to major in theater and dancing. Valetictorian of her senior class, she has been a drum major for the past three years, and has received top awards for her drum majoring ability at various camps throughout the nation. She is employed part-time at Gard's drugstore, Hartford.

Miss Jackson wore a white chiffon gown, accented by a portrait neckline with an empire waistline and full pageant skirt.

Master of ceremonies was Rick Ward. Lawrence Blyly provided the organ music.

Mrs. John Steenwyk was contest chairman.

Judges were Lance Ferraro, owner of Ferraro Studio, Kalamazoo, and editor of Professional Photographers of Michigan magazine; Miss JoAnn Brines, of Miss JoAnn School of the Dance, South Bend, Ind.; and James Higley, owner of Mr. Jim's Beauty Salon, Kalamazoo.

Other contestants were Denise Cherruagel, Andrea Wallace, Julie Winans, Patti Meachum, Dedre Jones, Debbie Musick, Janet Unrath, Diane Widner, Jill Ruggio, Sheri Miller, Cindy Coombe, Jill Sczewczyk, Patricia McLaughlin, Audrey Latus, and Robin Mobley.

SJ River Subsides Just Below Flood

water from reaching the ledge, it was reported.

L. McCall said that while the high water was caused primarily by the heavy rainfall of last week, two forces were impeding the natural flow of the river into Lake Michigan at St. Joseph.

McCall said a strong northwest wind Saturday and early Sunday elevated the Lake Michigan level along the east shore and slowed the travel of river water into the big lake.

An investigation, McCall said, also found that the river flow was impeded by large barges, anchored in the river at the construction site of two bridges between Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

The river level was measured at the Niles sewage plant a 9.6 feet at 1 p.m. Friday, and 10.5 feet at the same time on Saturday. McCall said the level dropped to 10.2 feet according to a reading at 7 a.m. Sunday. By this morning it was down to 9.66 feet at the Niles plant.

The National Weather Service had been predicting that the river crest would arrive in Berrien county today and would hit 12 feet, one foot above flood stage. The receding level since Saturday noon at both Niles and Berrien Springs indicated the crest passed earlier and at a lower level than the weather service had predicted.

"We're holding our own," was the optimistic response Sunday from William Rickett, 1800 Derfla drive. "We've got some water in one room, but we've got a pump running and so far it's looking okay," Rickett said.

Rickett said he hadn't needed any sandbags, but neighbors of his were using them.

The fill for the sandbags was reported provided free to subdivision residents by Alfred Block, who resides on Bacon school road, near Derfla. At the police lodge, members were stuffing the bags from about 35 yards of sand provided by George Miller and Sons, St. Joseph. The firm also provided a front-end loader—the only transportation suitable for reaching the ledge.

Along Derfla on Saturday afternoon, three youths guided a canoe down the street, past the water-logged lawns. Water here was higher on Sunday.

Mrs. Gene Newman, 1881 Derfla, and Mrs. William Rickett told this newspaper Saturday that the flooding is believed to have come from easements—fire lanes from the street to the river. They said residents have asked the Royaltown township board to close the lanes. They said the last flooding occurred over the lanes about seven years ago. The Berrien county road commission raised the elevation of the lanes afterward, it was reported. The lanes actually are ramps cut from the street down to the river's edge.

Royaltown Township Supervisor Harley Marschke told this newspaper that residents have appeared before the board, but were told the board can do nothing about the fire lanes.

Marschke said the fire lanes were installed by the Berrien county road commission when the subdivision was platted. Marschke said while these lanes are not for public transportation, they are part of the county road system and only the county can order them closed.

Thefts Probed By Area Police

Larceny of men's, women's and children's clothing, valued at about $500, was among seven thefts reported over the weekend to Twin Cities area police.

L.C. Carouther 1011 Columbus avenue, told Benton Harbor police the clothing was taken from his home. The loot included a suede coat, pants, shirts, suits and several skirts and dresses.

Thefts reported to Benton township police were:

—A 410-gauge shotgun, valued at $34, from the home of Tommy Woods, 1455 Bishop avenue.

—A citizens' band radio, valued at $30, from the car of Steven Beene, 1558 Shawnee road, Baroda, parked Bowling lanes, 2305 M-139.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said a two-way radio, valued at $80, was reported stolen from a Lakeshore schools bus. Deputies said the bus was parked near the home of bus driver Barbara Trapp, 8691 Ruggles road, Baroda township.

Thefts investigated by state police of the Benton Harbor post were:

—Two citizens' band radios from the cars of Ralph Galloway, route 1, Buchanan, and Charles Segal, Dearborn, both parked in the lot of Howard Johnson's motor lodge, M-139, Sodus township.

—Ninety dollars in cash from the purse of Linda Daniels, 184 Logan, Coloma, at the Holiday Inn, M-139, Benton township.

State police of the Benton Harbor post arrested three people on charges of carrying concealed weapons early Sunday after stopping two cars.

Booked at the Berrien county jail a Chicago couple, Jerry and Annie B. Porter, 30 and 35; and Jessie Jones, 46, Kalamazoo.

Troopers said a .32 and .22 caliber handguns, both loaded, were confiscated from a car shortly after 3 a.m. on I-94 in Watervliet township when the Chicago couple was arrested.

Earlier, about 2 a.m., troopers stopped an auto for speeding on I-94 in Lincoln township. Troopers said Jones was arrested and a loaded .32 caliber pistol confiscated.

Berrien sheriff's officers said three tires were reported slashed on two cars parked Sunday in the lot at the Bridgman middle school, Lake street.

Officers said the incidents occurred apparently between about 1 and 4 p.m. Harold Graham, Chicago said one tire on his 1973 Oldsmobile was cut and Greg Kurek, 603 Tulip drive, Three Oaks, told officers two of his Volkswagen's tires were slashed.

water from reaching the lodge, it was reported.

LI. McCall said that while the high water was caused primarily by the heavy rainfall of last week, two forces were impeding the natural flow of the river into Lake Michigan at St. Joseph.

McCall said a strong north-west wind Saturday and early Sunday elevated the Lake Michigan level along the east shore and slowed the travel of river water into the big lake.

An investigation, McCall said, also found that the river flow was impeded by large barges, anchored in the river at the construction site of two bridges between Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

The river level was measured at the Niles sewage plant a 9.6 feet at 1 p.m. Friday, and 10.5 feet at the same time on Saturday. McCall said the level dropped to 10.2 feet according to a reading at 7 a.m. Sunday. By this morning it was down to 9.6 feet at the Niles plant.

The National Weather Service had been predicting that the river crest would arrive in Berrien county today and would hit 12 feet, one foot above flood stage. The receding level since Saturday noon at both Niles and Berrien Springs indicated the crest passed earlier and at a lower level than the weather service had predicted.

"We're holding our own," was the optimistic response Sunday from William Rickel, 1800 Derfla drive. "We've got some water in one room, but we've got a pump running and so far it's looking okay," Rickel said.

Rickel said he hadn't needed any sandbags, but neighbors of his were using them.

The fill for the sandbags was reported provided free to subdivision residents by Alfred Block, who resides on Bacon school road, near Derfla. At the police lodge, members were stuffing the bags from about 25 yards of sand provided by George Miller and Sons, St. Joseph. The firm also provided a front-end loader—the only transportation suitable for reaching the lodge.

Along Derfla on Saturday afternoon, three youths guided a canoe down the street, past the water-logged lawns. Water here was higher on Sunday.

Mrs. Gene Newman, 1881 Derfla, and Mrs. William Rickel told this newspaper Saturday that the flooding is believed to have come from easements—fire lanes from the street to the river. They said residents have asked the Royalton township board to close the lanes. They said the last flooding occurred over the lanes about seven years ago. The Berrien county road commission raised the elevation of the lanes afterward, it was reported. The lanes actually are ramps cut from the street down to the river's edge.

Royalton Township Supervisor Harley Marschke told this newspaper that residents have appeared before the board, but were told the board can do nothing about the fire lanes.

Marschke said the fire lanes were installed by the Berrien county road commission when the subdivision was platted. Marschke said while these lanes are not for public transportation, they are part of the county road system and only the county can order them closed.

Former Mental Patient Kills 4

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — A former mental patient shot and killed his estranged wife, the couple's teen-aged daughter and another man before taking his own life on Sunday, the Ada County Sheriff's Office said.

Sheriff E.C. Palmer said the man, identified as David Salkfield, 35, had made several death threats against his wife since being released from a mental health facility a week ago.

"When they make death threats, there is nothing we can do until they commit an overt act," Palmer said at a news conference Sunday.

He said Salkfield went to the home of his wife, Donna, about 1:30 p.m. Sunday and shot William Stimpson, about 50, on the front lawn. He said Mrs. Salkfield was shot at the entryway of the home and 16-year-old Charle Salkfield was shot in the kitchen.

Salkfield then killed himself, the sheriff said.

He said two other teen-aged Salkfield children and three teen-aged neighbors were in the house at the time of the shootings. Three girls fled to an upstairs bedroom and out of the house by fire escape, and two boys locked themselves in a downstairs bathroom, he said.

Palmer said deputies had been watching Mrs. Salkfield's home since Salkfield threatened her and were in the area when the shootings occurred. He said all the victims were dead at the scene.

He identified the death weapon as a .30-caliber semiautomatic rifle found lying across Salkfield's chest.

Palmer said Salkfield's doctor had described his patient as dangerous but released him from the mental health unit of a local hospital last week.

"Why couldn't they hold him if he was considered dangerous?" Palmer asked at the news conference. "There was no legal way to arrest him without an overt act."

Dr. Thomas R. Kruzich, director of clinical psychiatric services for Region IV of the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare's Mental Health Services, said Sunday night that Salkfield had been a patient at a Boise hospital. He said Salkfield was hospitalized on a voluntary basis for about a week before his release.

"I wouldn't want to make any other statements at this time except that I have not discussed the case with the sheriff and no other physician has either that I know of," he said.

Toxic Gas In BH Church Hits 19

By TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

Nineteen people, including four Benton Harbor firemen, were treated for exposure to toxic gas Sunday released by reaction of a chemical cleaner in a toilet bowl in a church.

Fifteen of the people were church members, mostly youngsters, attending services at St. Mark Baptist church, 802 Pavone street. All were treated and released from Benton Harbor Mercy and St. Joseph Memorial hospitals.

According to Fire Capt. James Collis, one of those treated, the incident occurred about 1:25 p.m. when an attempt was made to unplug the clogged toilet bowl.

Collis said a maintenance man, Roscoe Whitelaw, poured a toilet bowl cleaning chemical into a clogged bowl. It apparently reacted with another chemical that had been poured in earlier and exploded, releasing the gas.

The incident occurred in the church basement where youngsters were attending Sunday school classes, Collis reported. Church services were being held upstairs, he added.

Collis said when firemen arrived there was a "strong smell of chlorine mixed with ammonia." Firemen used smoke ejectors to clear gas from the building.

Treated were: James and Wanda Bracken and their young daughter, who was unidentified,

Rose Washington, Marshall Nesbitt, Vicki Jefferson, Kim Williams, James and Peggy Smith, Mabel Henderson, Vera Walker, Pamela Perry, Sanford Morris, Roscoe Whitelaw and

Carmine Tyson, who were attending church and Sunday school. Firemen who returned to duty after examination were: Capt. Collis, Lt. Bob Treder, Al Todd and Henry Cooper.

Youths Hunted In Sniping

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Sniper fire rang out along Interstate 75 north of Pontiac Saturday, striking two cars and a Greyhound bus, State Police reported. Authorities say at least three shots were fired, but there were no injuries. Troopers said witnesses saw two youths with .22-caliber rifles in the area when the shots were fired. State Police are looking for the two youths.

Sears Catalog Wins Status As Textbook

MAILORDER ENGLISH: Mui Tran, 58, is learning "survival" English by reading daily from the Sears catalog, the textbook for his class at Tacoma Community College in Tacoma, Wash. (AP Wirephoto)

By MARY MARZANO
Associated Press Writer
TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — That time-honored "wishbook," the Sears, Roebuck mail-order catalog, has replaced McGuffey's Reader at Tacoma Community College for the teaching of basic English.

The Sears catalog has been elevated to the status of textbook in the school's "survival English" course for Vietnamese refugees and other newcomers to the United States.

Karen Ballard's 5½-month course is one of 90 federally funded adult English classes in the state. It is limited to adult heads of households who are looking for jobs. The language barrier has prevented many refugees from finding work, Mrs. Ballard says.

The Sears catalog is required reading for the 23 adults in her two-month-old class. She says it is the most convenient way she has of teaching an expanded vocabulary of basic terms.

By turning to one section of the catalog — for instance, "living room furniture" — she can teach an entire range of everyday words like "couch," "chair" and "lamp." And the new words are easier to learn when there is visual identification — catalog illustrations.

Mrs. Ballard says her goal is to teach the refugees to "respond correctly more often than incorrectly" in the English language. "But inevitably I'm giving them a certain amount of cultural indoctrination, too."

Among other aspects of the class are field trips to the grocery store, where students have to locate items on a shopping list and learn to "unit price" — figure out which loaf of bread is the best buy. They also go to the hardware store to learn the difference between light bulbs and fluorescent tubes and how to find electrical fuses.

Another 60 adults have already signed up for the next class and are on a waiting list. Mrs. Ballard says she looks forward to a high dropout rate, because that would reflect the success of the course.

"So far, only two people have terminated," she says. "They found jobs."

Hien Bui, one of more than 4,000 Vietnamese refugees who have settled in Washington, is one of Mrs. Ballard's students. A professional photographer with a wife, mother and seven children to support, he has been unable to find work in the United States.

The 51-year-old refugee says language is a big problem, but he is learning through "survival English."

As he eyes a catalog page featuring an Early American living room set, he proves he knows one of the words many Americans are all too familiar with.

"Expensive," he says.

Traxler Marries Ex-Clerk

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — Congressman J. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, has married a former city clerk he met two years ago when he was campaigning for Congress.

Traxler and his new wife, Mary Bissonette, were wed Saturday at Trinity Episcopal Church in Bay City before some 100 friends and family members. A reception followed in a restaurant in Frankenmuth. The couple is honeymooning in Miami Beach, Fla.

The new Mrs. Traxler, 25, said she resigned as city clerk in the Bay City suburb of Kearsville five days before the wedding because it would have been a conflict of interest to remain in the post.

She said she felt it would be "inappropriate" to supervise elections in which Traxler's name was on the ballot.

Traxler said he met his new wife when he was in the campaigning against Republican James Sparling in a special Congressional election two years ago. The incumbent, Republican James Harvey, had resigned to become a federal judge.

Traxler narrowly won the election in the district although then-President Richard Nixon campaigned personally for Sparling in the Thumb area, the Republican stronghold of the district.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Gov. Roy Blanton says U.N. Secretary Gen. Kurt Waldheim and the 144 permanent delegates to the United Nations may visit the Grand Ole Opry, the country music show which celebrated its 50th anniversary last year, on June 7.

State's Medicaid Money Runs Low

DETROIT (AP) — Because of budgetary and other problems, Michigan will run out of money to pay hospital bills for Medicaid patients from May 20 to June 30, says the state Department of Social Services.

The reason for the crunch, director John Dempsey said Saturday, is that this year's state appropriation-limited spending to 107 per cent of last year's budget. The amount is insufficient to cover services.

Also, state efforts to cut payments to hospitals were thwarted by the courts and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, he said.

The problem does not necessarily mean people cannot go to the hospital if they need to during this period, he added.

"We're not saying we won't honor bills, but that we won't pay them during that period," said Dempsey.

He said if hospitals refuse to admit Medicaid patients between those dates because of the delayed payments, the Department of Social Services will try to locate other providers.

Additional funds will be included in the fiscal 1977 budget for bills owed but not paid in 1976, said Dempsey.

IRS Probing Scandals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Internal Revenue Service agents "are looking for possible criminal cases" growing out of the kickback and bribery scandals involving some major corporations, the agency has disclosed. While declining to name the firms involved, an IRS spokesman said Sunday that indications of possible criminal fraud have been found in the tax returns of an unspecified number of the concerns.

He said recent disclosures that some major corporations have paid millions of dollars in kickbacks, bribes and political donations, both at home and abroad, led to intensified audit kickbacks, bribes and political donations, both at home and abroad, led to intensified audits were instructed to determine if the bribes, donations and kickbacks had been wrongfully claimed as business expenses.

Childhood Cancer On Decline

CHICAGO (AP) — More children are being cured of cancer today as a result of better diagnosis and treatment of the disease, says a Milwaukee researcher. Dr. Donald Pinkel, a Medical College of Wisconsin pediatrician, surveyed recent advances in childhood cancer treatment in the March 8 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association. He points out that the diagnosis of cancer in children in the past was accompanied by a "fatalistic outlook." But he also says improved diagnostic and treatment techniques "have led to increasing periods of disease-free survival and probable cure for greater proportions of children."

Reward Offers Top $28,000

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rewards totaling over $28,000 are being offered in connection with five Detroit-area homicides and one kidnap-for-ransom case.

A $7,500 reward is being offered in the Sheila Snook murder case. The Birmingham teenager was found slain Jan. 9. Police say hundreds of tips have failed to produce a major suspect in the case.

The reward money in the case of a Ferndale boy whose body was found last Feb. 15 in a Southfield parking lot totals $5,000.

The victim was 12-year-old Mark Stebbins.

A total of $5,300 is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer of 16-year-old Cynthia Cadieux. The Roseville high school student's body was found in mid-January.

Other rewards ranging from $1,000 to $8,000 — are being offered in the slaying of Redford Township babysitter Judy Ferro on Jan. 1; the slaying of Grand Rapids teacher

Fred Hoffert in a Detroit bar last December; and the kidnapping and ransom of the wife of a Grosse Pointe Farms banker last November.

Mrs. George Zedan was released unharmed in that incident.

Traxler Marries Ex-Clerk

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — Congressman J. Bob Traxler, D-Bay City, has married a former city clerk he met two years ago when he was campaigning for Congress.

Traxler and his new wife, Mary Bissonette, were wed Saturday at Trinity Episcopal Church in Bay City before some 100 friends and family members. A reception followed in a restaurant in Frankenth. The couple is honeymooning in Miami Beach, Fla.

The new Mrs. Traxler, 25, said she resigned as city clerk in the Bay City suburb of Essexville five days before the wedding because it would have been a conflict of interest to remain in the post.

She said she felt it would be "inappropriate" to supervise elections in which Traxler's name was on the ballot.

Traxler said he met his new wife when he was in the campaigning against Republican James Sparling in a special Congressional election two years ago. The incumbent, Republican James Harvey, had resigned to become a federal judge.

Traxler narrowly won the election in the district although then-President Richard Nixon campaigned personally for Sparling in the Thumb area, the Republican stronghold of the district.

State's Medicaid Money Runs Low

DETROIT (AP) — Because of budgetary and other problems, Michigan will run out of money to pay hospital bills for Medicaid patients from May 20 to June 30, says the state Department of Social Services.

The reason for the crunch, director John Dempsey said Saturday, is that this year's state appropriation limited spending to 107 per cent of last year's budget. The amount is insufficient to cover services.

Also, state efforts to cut payments to hospitals were thwarted by the courts and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, he said.

The problem does not necessarily mean people cannot go to the hospital if they need to during this period, he added.

"We're not saying we won't honor bills, but that we won't pay them during that period," said Dempsey.

He said if hospitals refuse to admit Medicaid patients between those dates because of the delayed payments, the Department of Social Services will try to locate other providers.

Additional funds will be included in the fiscal 1977 budget for bills owed but not paid in 1976, said Dempsey.

IRS Probing Scandals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Internal Revenue Service agents "are looking for possible criminal cases" growing out of the kickback and bribery scandals involving some major corporations, the agency has disclosed. While declining to name the firms involved, an IRS spokesman said Sunday that indications of possible criminal fraud have been found in the tax returns of an unspecified number of the concerns.

He said recent disclosures that some major corporations have paid million of dollars in kickbacks, bribes and political donations, both at home and abroad, led to intensified audit kickbacks, bribes and political donations, both at home and abroad, led to intensified audit were instructed to determine if the bribes, donations and kickbacks had been wrongfully claimed as business expenses.

Childhood Cancer On Decline

CHICAGO (AP) — More children are being cured of cancer today as a result of better diagnosis and treatment of the disease, says a Milwaukee researcher. Dr. Donald Pinkel, a Medical College of Wisconsin pediatrician, surveyed recent advances in childhood cancer treatment in the March 8 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association. He points out that the diagnosis of cancer in children in the past was accompanied by a "fatalistic outlook." But he also says improved diagnostic and treatment techniques "have led to increasing periods of disease-free survival and probable cure for greater proportions of children."

Reward Offers Top $28,000

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rewards totaling over $28,000 are being offered in connection with five Detroit-area homicides and one kidnap-for-ransom case.

A $7,500 reward is being offered in the Sheila Brock murder case. The Birmingham teenager was found slain Jan. 9. Police say hundreds of tips have failed to produce a major suspect in the case.

The reward money in the case of a Ferndale boy whose body was found last Feb. 15 in a Southfield parking lot totals $5,000.

The victim was 12-year-old Mark Stebbins.

A total of $5,300 is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer of 16-year-old Cynthia Cadieux. The Roseville high school student's body was found in mid-January.

Other rewards — ranging from $1,000 to $8,000 — are being offered in the slaying of Redford Township babysitter Judy Ferro on Jan. 1; the slaying of Grand Rapids teacher

Fred Hoffert in a Detroit bar last December; and the kidnapping and ransom of the wife of a Grosse Pointe Farms banker last November.

Mrs. George Zedan was released unharmed in that incident.

Here's 'New' Cambodia: No Money, Shops, Phones

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Cambodia is in the process of a giant social and political revolution that is considerably more radical than China's or Russia's, Sweden's ambassador to Peking says.

The envoy, Kaj Björk, who is also accredited to Phnom Penh, returned to Peking on Saturday after a two-week trip to Cambodia with other diplomats from Asian and Arab nations. They were the first foreign observers to visit Cambodia after the American-backed regime surrendered to the Khmer Rouge last April.

In an interview with the Peking correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter, Björk said the Cambodians are trying to build a completely new form of collective society.

All land in Cambodia is now owned by the government or farming cooperatives, and no privately owned small plots such as those in the Soviet Union, China or North Korea are allowed, he said.

There are no salaries, not even money, no shops, no functioning telephone or telegraph networks and only a few newspapers, he added.

Björk described his first impression of Phnom Penh as that of "an abandoned city," with long stretches of abandoned buildings, little traffic, occasional roadblocks and heavily armed soldiers on guard at the main intersections.

The city of 2.5 million was practically emptied in the days immediately following the Khmer Rouge victory, with peasants fleeing to the countryside. Björk said he was told Phnom Penh now has a population of between 100,000 and 200,000.

Rep. Wright Patman Dead At Age 82

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman, dean of the House of Representatives who spent much of his 17 years in the chamber battling big profits and corporations, is dead after being stricken with the flu.

Patman, 82, had been admitted to Bethesda Naval Medical Center on Feb. 28 for treatment of influenza and two days later was placed in intensive care after developing pneumonia. He died there Sunday morning.

The Texas Democrat was serving in his 24th term in the House. He had announced Jan. 14 that he would step down at the end of the 94th Congress next January.

The White House released a statement expressing President Ford's "deep regret and sadness upon learning of the death of his friend of many years standing."

SEVEN TEENS KILLED

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — A car plowed into a group of teen-agers talking by the side of a road while on their way to a dance Sunday night, and seven of them died. Four others were injured.

Authorities said all were students at Minster High School in Mercer County near the Indiana border.

Mercer County Coroner Dr. Donald R. Fox gave this account: The teen-agers had been driving in several cars to a dance when they stopped their cars. They apparently gathered on the roadway to talk, and another car came over a hill and drove into the group.

Ken Summers, 15, died in a Lima hospital this morning, officials said. The highway patrol said the other six, dead at the scene, were Michael R. Kemper, 17; Anthony E. Kemper, 17; Lester R. Ransly, 18; Becky Mourtman, 15; Joy Brandeweite, 14; and Barbara Olding, 14.

Kennedy Says Drug Bills Testing Ground

LANSING — State Rep. Bela Kennedy (R-Bangor) says he believes a series of House-passed bills calling for strong penalties against drug violators, if enacted into law, will provide a good test to see if strict mandatory sentences will deter such crime.

Last week, the House passed by a 70-33 margin six bills which would make certain penalties mandatory for drug dealers. For example, according to Kennedy, the illegal manufacture, delivery or possession of over 23 ounces of drugs would carry a mandatory life imprisonment sentence.

The bills also set stricter sentences for dealers convicted of selling lesser amounts and prohibits plea bargaining and early paroles for dealers convicted under the package.

Kennedy said he and a majority of other legislators feel that "with the lenient probation and parole policies which now seem to exist and with the great amount of profit potential in drug pushing, that our present system of penalties is not a sufficient deterrent to this crime."

Kennedy said he hopes the Senate passes these bills and that Governor Milliken will sign them into law. "We should at least try the method for awhile," Kennedy said.

Ken Sommers, 15, died in a Lima hospital this morning, officials said. The highway patrol said the other six, dead at the scene, were Michael R. Kemper, 17; Anthony E. Kemper, 17; Lester R. Ranly, 16; Becky Moorman, 15; Joy Brandeweile, 14; and Barbara Olding, 14.

Kennedy Says Drug Bills Testing Ground

LANSING — State Rep. Bela Kennedy (R-Bangor) says he believes a series of House-passed bills calling for strong penalties against drug violators, if enacted into law, will provide a good test to see if strict mandatory sentences will deter such crime.

Last week, the House passed by a 70-33 margin six bills which would make certain penalties mandatory for drug dealers. For example, according to Kennedy, the illegal manufacture, delivery or possession of over 23 ounces of drugs would carry a mandatory life imprisonment sentence.

The bills also set stricter sentences for dealers convicted of selling lesser amounts and prohibits plea bargaining and early paroles for dealers convicted under the package.

Kennedy said he and a majority of other legislators feel that "with the lenient probation and parole policies which now seem to exist and with the great amount of profit potential in drug pushing, that our present system of penalties is not a sufficient deterrent to this crime."

Kennedy said he hopes the Senate passes these bills and that Governor Milliken will sign them into law. "We should at least try the method for awhile," Kennedy said.

AMERICANS are less neurotic than they think, according to a psychiatrist who conducted a study and found that the U.S. is the country with the least anxiety of them all. (But that was yesterday! How about today?). . . While slow in making friends, Aquarians (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) like to be looked up to and want to be important in their community. . . The condition of your hair can provide a doctor with important clues to your health. A change of normal hair color, for example, can indicate a diet deficiency. . . Racing Sled Dogs Is Winter Fun

TWIN LAKE, Mich. (AP) — The scene back in the woods was breathtaking — knee-high snow, pine trees bending under the weight of the white stuff, puffs of snow on bare oak trees.

In the distance, a muffled thudding, barely audible and SWOOSH, a seven-dog sled team raced by, the sled cutting a trail in the snow.

Paw prints were the only traces left behind.

For the dog's owner-trainer, Dale Munford of Twin Lake, it was a good run. The dogs were in high gear, moving swiftly and gracefully through the snow.

"This was an ideal run," said Munford, still puffing from the strain of the two-mile run.

He called it an "attitude" run — just to show the racers they can succeed.

The dogs are used to excelling. They were Class B champs of the Great Lakes Sled Dog Association, and this year, they want to be tops in the Class A Division.

They're Alaskans, or Indian dogs, bred for the speed and stamina needed for 20-mile hikes required in Class A.

Munford and his wife, Barb, have 30 sled dogs, ranging in age from 12-week-old puppies to the 9-year-old leader, Mugs. They have two teams — a seven-dog one operated by their niece, Laurie Thompson, and a 14-dog team that Dale drives.

The outdoor kennel resembles an ice fishing village — small huts scattered hither-skelter, each one taking on the personality of its occupant.

The Alaskans are not registered with the American Kennel Club, and they're not "cosmetic" as the fluffy Malamutes or Huskies, according to the Munfords.

"But the blood lines are carefully guarded by breeders," Barb said.

The Alaskans are bred for longer legs and bodies, Dale said, to increase their speed. They range between 47 and 52 pounds, and all of them are little and muscular.

The star, Mugs, is stockier than the younger dogs. His style is power, rather than speed, Dale said, and that alone makes him different from the others.

"He's a special dog," he added. "I don't have to direct him around curves on a trail or anything, and he always remembers a trail...always."

The dogs travel — at their best — 16 to 17 miles an hour, Dale said.

During the racing season, the dogs go through 40 to 45 pounds of compressed food a day, and each one gets 4 ounces of liver, some fat and vitamins.

After racing is finished, the Munfords spend more time with the newest crop of puppies being trained.

"For one thing, each dog must know its name," Barb said, "because everything's done by voice control. When you have 30 dogs, that's a lot of work just in itself."

Byrd Is Early Frontrunner

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate won't vote for a new majority leader until next January, but the outcome of the contest could well be decided by the end of this week. Discussions with senators and staff aides indicate the contest is shaping up this way: — The early frontrunner is Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., majority whip for the past five years. — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., would be a strong candidate for the job, but he would have to decide to abandon any hopes for the Democratic presidential nomination. Humphrey hasn't announced his candidacy for either the presidential nomination or majority leader, but he told The Minneapolis Tribune that the Senate job "would be about as good a climax to public life as I could want."

Going Back Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, March 8, the 68th day of 1976. There are 298 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: — On this date in 1917, riots and a strike in St. Petersburg marked the beginning of the Russian Revolution.

On this date:

In 1763, the British House of Lords passed a Stamp Act taxing the American colonies.

In 1865, a canal was begun in the Netherlands to connect Amsterdam with the North Sea.

In 1894, New York became the first state to pass a law requiring dogs to be licensed.

Rangoon, Burma in World War II.

In 1969, the Soviet Union put its army in the Far East on alert as a warning to China after a frontier clash on the Ussuri River.

In 1970, President Makarios of Cyprus escaped an assassination attempt when terrorist snipers shot down his helicopter.

Ten years ago: Anti-communist students in Indonesia sacked the Indonesian Foreign Ministry in Jakarta.

Five years ago: Kidnappers in Turkey released four U.S. airmen after holding them five days.

Today's birthdays: Actress Cyd Charisse is 53. Pianist Mary Lou Williams is 66.

Thought for today: The best is the cheapest — Benjamin Franklin, 1706-1790.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the Continental Congress in Philadelphia adopted a resolution prohibiting the enlistment of Indians in the military service without the prior permission of both the Congress and the councils of the tribes to which the Indians belonged.

Chicago 7 'Guilty As Hell'—Rubin

CHICAGO (AP) — Jerry Rubin, former Yippie and antiwar activist, says the Chicago 7 were "guilty as hell" of government charges they conspired in 1968 to cross state lines to incite riots. Writing a guest column in Monday editions of the Chicago Sun-Times, Rubin made the "confession" that throughout the conspiracy trial "I was secretly rooting for the prosecution... because the prosecution was right all along."

Guilty, however, "does not mean wrong," he said. "Chicago's officials and Chicago's police reacted just as we knew they would — in a manner that exposed all the darker sides of our country."

Rubin and six others were acquitted in 1970 of conspiracy charges in connection with riots at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Although five of the defendants, including Rubin, were found guilty of actually causing the rioting, the convictions later were overturned by the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in a decision highly critical of the way the trial was conducted.

Rubin said in the column that he and his co-defendants "made our demands on the city so outrageous because we wanted the city to deny us what we were asking. We did all of this with one purpose in mind — to make the city react as if it was a police state, and to focus the attention of the whole world on us."

The city, in turn, "snapped at our bait — a bait we had set for what I consider, now and then, to be patriotic reasons. To wake America up about Vietnam and the other wrongs that were tearing the country apart."

"Let's face it," Rubin wrote. "We WANTED disruption. We PLANNED it. We WERE NOT innocent victims. We worked on our plans for a year before we came here (Chicago)."

Rubin wrote that "the prosecution... said we were guilty. And you know what? We were. Guilty as hell. Guilty as charged."

Rubin was in Chicago to promote a new book he has written, "Growing Up at 37." He said he no longer considers himself "an extremist" but "a surviving American."

"The ideas that seemed so outlandish in the 1960s have turned out to be not so outlandish at all in the '70s, what with Watergate, CIA and every other shock," he said.

WANTS MORATORIUM

ATLANTA (AP) — Leaders of the World Council of Churches have demanded a moratorium in the use of plutonium as a source of nuclear energy.

MR. TWEEDY by Ned Riddle

"I TOOK HIS BLOOD SAMPLE IN TO BE TESTED, DOCTOR, BUT IT CORRODED THE TEST TUBE AND ALL LEAKED OUT."

COVERT 1st SEMESTER HONOR ROLL

COVERT — The following students have been named to the first semester honor roll at Covert high school and middle school, according to Supt. William Randall.

TWELFTH — Starlyn Aldridge, Robert Allen, Rodney Barnes, Gaynell Bowman, Kathy Hampton, Paula Hawkins, Martha Hellens, Bernice Lucas, Sharon Morris, Kimberly Normand, Paul Ross, Marilyn Thomas, Gwen Wade, and Michael Williams.

ELEVENTH — Renee Bennett, Henretta Davis, Trieste Smith, Gloria Toller, Brenda Vassar and Juanita Williams.

Beverly Dandridge, Jeffrey DeYoung, and Samantha Webb.

EIGHTH — Sharon Bennett, Rhonda Krolzick, Roxanne Schellzick, and Robin Swope.

Today's Real Estate

by Florian L. Beles

If you plan to buy a used home in 1976, the first part of this year could be the best. Selection of homes will be highest and mortgage money conditions the best in the first half of this year. As the year goes on, I feel that the supply of available homes in attractive areas will diminish as present demand (Dating from times when mortgage money was scarce as far back as 1974) soaks up much of what is available.

1976 should be a good year for sellers. They'll find their homes will be on the market a month or less when priced in this competition because of the high prices on new construction and the strong demand for good housing. Sellers should get higher prices.

The escalation in prices may be a double-edged sword for some home sellers. Those who intend to sell to upgrade their housing may find it more difficult to afford that more attractive home in 1976 than it would have been in 1975.

Racing Sled Dogs Is Winter Fun

TWIN LAKE, Mich. (AP) — The scene back in the woods was breathtaking — knee-high snow, pine trees bending under the weight of the white stuff, puffs of snow on bare oak trees.

In the distance, a muffled thudding, barely audible and SWOOSH, a seven-dog sled team raced by, the sled cutting a trail in the snow.

For the dog's owner-trainer, Dale Munford of Twin Lake, it was a good run. The dogs were in high gear, moving swiftly and gracefully through the snow.

"This was an ideal run," said Munford, still puffing from the strain of the two-mile run.

He called it an "attitude" run — just to show the racers they can succeed.

The dogs are used to excelling. They were Class B champs of the Great Lakes Sled Dog Association, and this year, they want to be tops in the Class A Division.

They're Alaskans, or Indian dogs, bred for the speed and stamina needed for 20-mile hikes required in Class A.

Munford and his wife, Barb, have 30 sled dogs, ranging in age from 12-week-old puppies to the 9-year-old leader, Mugs. They have two teams — a seven-dog one operated by their niece, Laurie Thompson, and a 14-dog team that Dale drives.

The outdoor kennel resembles an ice fishing village — small huts scattered helter-skelter, each one taking on the personality of its occupant.

The Alaskans are not registered with the American Kennel Club, and they're not as "cosmetic" as the fluffy Malamutes or Huskies, according to the Munfords.

"But the blood lines are carefully guarded by breeders," Barb said.

The Alaskans are bred for longer legs and bodies, Dale said, to increase their speed. They range between 47 and 52 pounds, and all of them are lithe and muscular.

The star, Mugs, is stockier than the younger dogs. His style is power, rather than speed, Dale said, and that alone makes him different from the others.

"He's a special dog," he added. "I don't have to direct him around curves on a trail or anything, and he always remembers a trail...always."

The dogs travel — at their best — 16 to 17 miles an hour, Dale said.

During the racing season, the dogs go through 40 to 45 pounds of compressed food a day, and each one gets 4 ounces of liver, some fat and vitamins.

After racing is finished, the Munfords spend more time with the newest crop of puppies being trained.

"For one thing, each dog must know its name," Barb said, "because everything's done by voice control. When you have 30 dogs, that's a lot of work just in itself."

Byrd Is Early Frontrunner

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate won't vote for a new majority leader until next January, but the outcome of the contest could well be decided by the end of this week. Discussions with senators and staff aides indicate the contest is shaping up this way: — The early frontrunner is Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., majority whip for the past five years. — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., would be a strong candidate for the job, but he would have to decide to abandon any hopes for the Democratic presidential nomination. Humphrey hasn't announced his candidacy for either the presidential nomination or majority leader, but he told The Minneapolis Tribune that the Senate job "would be about as good a climax to public life as I could want."

Going Back Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, March 8, the 68th day of 1976. There are 298 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1917, riots and a strike in St. Petersburg marked the beginning of the Russian Revolution.

On this date:

In 1765, the British House of Lords passed a Stamp Act taxing the American colonies.

In 1865, a canal was begun in the Netherlands to connect Amsterdam with the North Sea.

In 1894, New York became the first state to pass a law requiring dogs to be licensed.

tured Rangoon, Burma in World War II.

In 1969, the Soviet Union put its army in the Far East on alert as a warning to China after a frontier clash on the Ussuri River.

In 1970, President Makarios of Cyprus escaped an assassination attempt when terrorist snipers shot down his helicopter.

Ten years ago: Anti-communist students in Indonesia sacked the Indonesian Foreign Ministry in Jakarta.

Five years ago: Kidnapers in Turkey released four U.S. airmen after holding them five days.

Today's birthdays: Actress Cyd Charisse is 53. Pianist Mary Lou Williams is 66.

Thought for today: The best is the cheapest — Benjamin Franklin, 1706-1790.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the Continental Congress in Philadelphia adopted a resolution prohibiting the enlistment of Indians in the military service without the prior permission of both the Congress and the councils of the tribes to which the Indians belonged.

If you plan to buy a used home in 1976, the first part of this year could be the best. Selection of homes will be biggest and mortgage money conditions the best in the first half of this year. As the year goes on, I feel that the supply of available houses in attractive areas will diminish as present demand (Dating from times when mortgage money was scarce as far back as 1974) soaks up much of what is available.

1976 should be a good year for sellers. They'll find their homes will be on the market a month or less when priced in this competition because of the high prices on new construction and the strong demand for good housing. Sellers should get higher prices.

The escalation in prices may be a double-edged sword for some home sellers. Those who intend to sell to up grade their housing may find it more difficult to afford that more attractive home in 1976 than it would have been in 1975.

IRENE AUBERLIN AND "TAFFY"
In the doorway of World Medical Relief

'Medical Angel' From Detroit Is Known Worldwide

DETROIT (AP) — From Thailand to Tanzania, from Greece to Ghana, the name of Irene Auberlin is known with affection and gratitude.

And now and then, a little prayer is said on her behalf.

For Mrs. Auberlin, a widowed 89-year-old grandmother, is the guiding force behind an organization which for the past 23 years has distributed more than $240 million in free medical and dental supplies to missionary hospitals and clinics in every corner of the globe. Mrs. Auberlin is president of World Medical Relief, Inc., a nonprofit, nondenominational organization dedicated to helping the world's destitute sick.

Operating out of a drafty, eight-story brick warehouse deep in Detroit's ghetto, World Medical Relief neither buys nor sells supplies. Yet it has furnished hospitals in countries around the world with equipment and supplies ranging from bedpans to iron lungs. Many medical facilities have been furnished from the ground up.

Countless letters in Mrs. Auberlin's file attest to the gratitude of those helped by her organization. For example, The Most Rev. Juan Sison, archbishop of Nueva Segovia, in the Philippines archdiocese, wrote:

"Thank you for this generous help which comes very much on time to help our sick and indigent people. At the present floating rate here in the Philippines, prices are prohibitive. I know my people will be happy to have some medicine, especially the most indigent ones."

Mrs. Auberlin's operation has attracted the admiration and respect of many prominent Detroiters, who willingly have served on the World Medical Service board of directors. "We operate differently than any other charity organization," said Mrs. Auberlin in an interview. "All our supplies are donated to us."

If the equipment is hopelessly outdated and cannot be used, Mrs. Auberlin refuses to sign a receipt and tells the driver who brought it prepaid to take it back collect.

Despite the millions of dollars in supplies that have passed through World Medical Relief, the organization is managed on a shoestring financial shoestring. Mrs. Auberlin recalls one day when operating funds were down to just $3.86.

"But God always takes care of this place," she said. "That very afternoon, I got a call from a man I had never met. He wanted me to know that he was sending over by messenger a check for $1,000 because he had checked up on us and liked the way we operate."

In a way, it could be said that a Korean war started it all. The orphan appeared on a 1953 network television newscast with a chaplain who had adopted him. The chaplain pleaded for help for the untold numbers of other children whose parents had been killed in the Korean fighting.

"Something struck me to get some clothing and vitamins together," Mrs. Auberlin recalled. "So I collected some from friends and neighbors — and I haven't stopped since."

World Medical Relief moved to its present location in 1965 after it outgrew three successively larger warehouses. Money to purchase the building and its adjoining parking lot came mainly from a major gift of stock from the Kresge Foundation, augmented by gifts from corporations, clubs, societies and individuals.

It took more than two months and 170 van loads to transfer the huge inventory of medical equipment and supplies from the old warehouse to the new. Some 100 firms donated their services for the move, which otherwise would have cost about $30,000, according to Mrs. Auberlin.

The work needed to get the building serviceable also was donated — by architects, engineers, contractors, supply houses and unions.

Much of the task of sorting and packaging medicines or repairing surgical instruments and hospital equipment is performed by retired pharmacists, accountants, doctors and nurses. Most give a day a week of their time, some give more. There is some paid help, including a secretary, a crater and helper, and a drug room supervisor.

The Monkees Make It Big On TV Reruns

Q: My sisters and I have been watching old reruns of the Monkees and were wondering what they are doing now. — M.P., Ramsey, N.J.

A: The Monkees rock group was practically chased off TV eight years ago by critics who called them fabricated and talentless. But the reruns are finding a new and enthusiastic audience and part of the gang is taking another shot at the music business. Peter Tork and Mike Nesmith have dropped out but Mickey Dolenz and Davy Jones of Britain have teamed up with their former song writers, Tommy Boyce and Bobby Hart, and are having great success on a world tour. The quartet, recently signed up with Columbia Records.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: What's the hot underground movie these days; the picture with such good word of mouth that everyone wants to see it? It's the film Roy Scheider and Dustin Hoffman made while they were doing "Marathon Man" as a spoof on movie mogul Bob Evans. Scheider plays Evans as a young man and Dustin plays him in later life. In the movie Evans (Hoffman) ends up

Robin Adams Sloan welcomes questions from readers. While Sloan cannot provide individual answers, questions of general interest will be used in the column. Write to Robin Adams Sloan, care of this newspaper.

THE MONKEES: Two came back.

SCHEIDER: Part of the spoof.

NICHOLSON: A thrill for his friends.

married to Sue Mengher, the red-hot Hollywood agent who, in the gag film, is a down-on-her-luck croupier in a gambling dive.

Q: Since Jack Nicholson is as anti-establishment as the best of them, will he accept the Oscar if he wins or will he pull a Brando stunt? — Y.B., Scranton, Pa.

A: Jack will be on hand, you can bet on it. Nicholson was quoted as saying he thought going up and collecting the award would probably be a bigger kick than making love to a beautiful woman. And besides he knows it would really thrill all his friends and relatives back in Neptune, N.J.

Q: How come that gorgeous actress Ursula Andress never married? — S.L., Charleston, W. Va.

A: You forgot that Swiss-born Ursula, 40, married actor John Derek almost 20 years ago and stayed with him for a decade. Since then she has devoted herself to a string of Lotharius including Jean Paul Belmondo, Ryan O'Neal, Marcello Mastroianni, Franco Nero and just recently Fabio Testi. Now Testi is out and she has settled in with 28-year-old hairdresser Claudio Belfiore of Rome. The scoop is that they will marry soon.

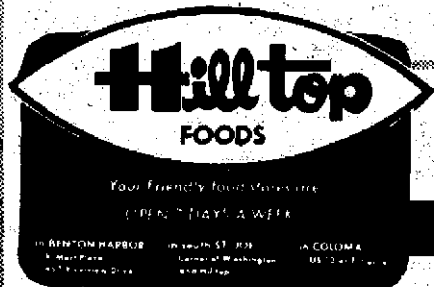

Q: With so many women having second thoughts about the Pill, what is going to take its place? — K.V., Farmington, N. Mex.

A: One interesting possibility is under investigation in Milan, Italy, where doctors are studying the potential of hypnosis for birth control. They were working on the theory that sterility in some women stems from a mental block. The researchers report an 85 per cent success rate in preventing conception over a four or five-month period by treating women with one hour of hypnosis followed by one week of abstinence. Normal fertility returned when the subjects were deprogrammed in another session of hypnosis.

Q: All right, is Rock Hudson going to quit "McMillan and Wife" on TV or isn't he? — S.C., McAlester, Okla.

A: Rock has been planning to leave but has not yet made up his mind for sure. Costar Susan St. James is making similar by-bye noises even though she got a hefty raise in salary for this year's work. In an effort to persuade Hudson to stay, the producers have offered much more money and a plan for just six two-hour episodes for next season. Rock, who has never been McMillan's number one fan, is still deciding.

The Monkees Make It Big On TV Reruns

Q: My sisters and I have been watching old reruns of the Monkees and were wondering what they are doing now. — M.P., Ramsey, N.J.

A: The Monkees rock group was practically chased off TV eight years ago by critics who called them fabricated and talentless. But the reruns are finding a new and enthusiastic audience and part of the gang is taking another shot at the music business. Peter Tork and Mike Nesmith have dropped out but Mickey Dolenz and Davy Jones of Britain have teamed up with their former song writers, Tommy Boyce and Bobby Hart, and are having great success on a world tour. The quartet recently signed up with Columbia Records.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: What's the hot underground movie these days; the picture with such good word of mouth that everyone wants to see it? It's the film Roy Scheider and Dustin Hoffman made while they were doing "Marathon Man" as a spoof on movie mogul Bob Evans. Scheider plays Evans as a young man and Dustin plays him in later life. In the movie Evans (Hoffman) ends up

THE MONKEES: Two came back.

SCHEIDER: Part of the spoof.

NEW LIGHT BULB WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government will finance the development of a new light bulb which uses less than a third the amount of energy needed to run the conventional incandescent bulb, the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) says.

Women Neighbors Share Job, Pay, Children

By SUSAN J. REIMER
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) —
Lorene Marcu and Leslie Fay are two neighbors who share quite a bit: a job, a paycheck, their children.

The two friends, each recently separated from her husband, split a secretary's job at Chatham College. One works while the other baby sits.

The arrangement solves several problems: each has a job she needs, each saves money that would go for babysitters and leaves her children with someone she trusts, and each has time with her children.

The concept of job-sharing has spread in recent years, particularly among women with small children who can only work part-time.

"With my skills, the highest salary I could get was about $450 a month," said Ms. Fay, a 33-year-old mother of two. "A babysitter would take about half that so it wasn't worth working five days a week."

But she needed the income and self-esteem of a job. And Ms. Marcu, who like her neighbor of 10 years prefers the feminist title, was advised by a pediatrician to get a job to make 3-year-old daughter, Amanda, less dependent on her. And Chatham, a women's school, agreed to provide each of them with half of the same job.

Paid on an hourly basis, each woman works three days one week and two days the next.

They each earn about $130-$200 monthly depending on what hours and overtime they work. The off-duty secretary is the on-duty mother of two preschoolers and a second-grader.

"It's much better than leaving them with an older woman who watches the soap operas and makes them sit on the couch and watch, too."

"Lori and I take them places and do things and we don't mind because we are spending less time with them," said Ms. Fay. Chatham officials also like the set-up. "We don't always know which one will be on the job," said Peggy Donaldson, one of their bosses. "They set up the schedule between themselves. But we always know one will be there."

Once Ms. Fay's son, Terry, got sick; she worked while Ms. Marcu took Amanda to Terry's house, just up the street, to care for him.

"If one is sick, a child is sick, or a car breaks down, the other shows up," said Ms. Donaldson, who also prefers the feminist designation. "That's not the case when one person holds a job."

Both women say the new routine, which started Jan. 12, has made the time they spend with their children more meaningful.

"Amanda has started to call Elizabeth 'Sis,'" said Ms. Marcu. "I have more patience with her now and she's happier to see me."

Both say the arrangement may not last forever. Ms. Fay hopes to complete her college degree as soon as 4-year-old Elizabeth joins Terry, 8, in school.

"As time goes by and the children go to school, we will probably alter our schedule," said the 38-year-old Ms. Marcu.

For the moment, however, both women are happy that Chatham was willing to experiment with them.

WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES

Pat Buchanan and other conservative commentators have spent a good deal of time meditating on the paradoxical behavior of the American people who keep electing "liberals" in office while telling pollsters they are "conservatives."

"I have the same problem at the other end of the spectrum: readers write to inquire how I can support a strong military posture and still consider myself a 'liberal.' I think the answer to this seeming paradox lies in the fact that the population of the United States is profoundly anti-ideological."

Thus when conservatism is perceived as an ideology, as "Conservatism" with a capital C, the people take off on the run. In the 1964 campaign, for example, I worked long and hard on speeches indicating Senator Barry Goldwater was a "radical," and — with a good deal of help from Barry — the label stuck.

Similarly, in 1972 (as I noted here) Senator George McGovern was a dead duck from the moment the Democratic convention opened. All over the country serious citizens, most of them Democrats, were watching that incredible zoo and asking themselves "Am I supposed to let those clowns run the country?"

It is hardly a state secret that Richard Nixon, even before Watergate, was not our most beloved politician, but his vice, Linn was based on the electorate's perception of McGovern as a "radical." Indeed, one of the things that most puzzled me was the unbelievable fall court press Nixon launched — every $100 bill in the country must have been in one of his suitcases. I guess that like Johnson in 1961 he wanted to get 60 per cent of the vote.

In other words, as long as liberalism was considered a common-sense, amorphous heritage of the New Deal and Fair Deal — a body of specific progressive proposals in the areas of civil rights, Medicare, improved labor relations, and the rest of the shopping list — the sovereign people supported it and, when pulled, a majority would accept the liberal label.

However, in the last decade the commanding heights of official "Liberalism" (with that capital L) have been seized by a collection of left-wing mad hatters. I just finished rereading the draft Democratic platform for the 1964 campaign prepared in booklet form by Americans for Democratic Action as ADA National Chairman, I presented it to the Platform Committees in Atlantic City.

The real question is, who are the deserters? And unfortunately the answer is the characters who dominate the media, who have been animated by each other as official proclaimers of "Liberal" dogma, and accepted in their apostate roles by the press and television.

What emerges from this is the following scenario: the average American learns that the "Liberals" in Congress are jumping up and down trying to cut the defense budget. He hears that the "Liberals" are out to eviscerate our foreign and domestic intelligence organizations. He discovers that the "Liberals" think we should trust the Soviets. His (or her) response? "These Liberals are out of their cotton-picking minds!" A week or so later, some of these individuals may be asked, "Do you consider yourself a liberal or a conservative?" and, like one of Pavlov's pups, they react automatically: "conservative."

(Note the small c.) This doesn't mean they are going to rush off to their nearest newsstand and buy "The Conservative Digest"; they are viscerally reacting to the insane image the professional "Liberals" have projected.

Niles Now Faces No. 1 Lansing Everett

Bears Bumped By Vikings

By JOHN VANDEN HEED
Sports Editor

Niles faces the Herculean task of beating No. 1-rated Lansing Everett in the Class A regional Wednesday, but for the Vikings, nothing seems impossible now.

Niles proved that Saturday afternoon by erasing an 18-point third quarter deficit and downing St. Joseph 67-62 in the district championship game at Benton Harbor.

Coach Dean Adams' Vikings had the field's worst record entering the district, but claimed the title by beating the Big Seven champion St. Joe team which beat them twice during the regular season, including an 81-61 shellacking less than a month ago.

Deadly second half shooting and an effective press keyed Niles' upset triumph over St. Joe, which went to the sidelines with a 16-6 record.

The Vikings — who won their first district crown in three seasons — upped their record 13-9 while hitting a fantastic 72 per cent of their second half field goals and forcing the Bears into nine costly third quarter turnovers.

"Super...super," exclaimed Adams afterwards with tears in his eyes.

"The kids were more patient the second half. And I thought our guards (Tim Garner and Tom Donley) did a hell of a job on that pressure. The second half we decided to put the pressure on and play our hearts out."

Two juniors led Niles point-makers, with Garner getting 20 and center Kevin Seitz 18. Senior forward Arnie White added 11 as the Vikings won their third straight game.

Seitz led Niles' 25-point third quarter comeback surge with 12 points on perfect six-for-six shooting.

St. Joseph put all five starters in double figures; hit an incredible 92 per cent of their free throws, including the first 18 in a row; matched Niles overall in rebounding and turnovers, but still couldn't escape the jaws of defeat.

"We out and out blew it in the third quarter, and there were some mystery calls in the fourth quarter that compounded the thing," declared St. Joseph coach George Gaender, "but you can't make any excuses when you blow an 18-point lead."

"Niles simply threw all caution to the wind and it paid off. They were playing out of their minds in the second half, there's no doubt about it."

"But our reaction wasn't what I would have liked to have seen it under the pressure they were putting on us. We shouldn't have cracked like that. That's what makes it a hard pill to swallow."

Dale Wright scored 14, Cory Benford 12, Dave Ziebart 11, Mike Collier 11 and Henry Follman 10 as St. Joseph closed out its seventh straight winning season. Follman, a senior, finished his Bear career with 15 straight games in double figures. Other senior St. Joe starters were Benford, Ziebart and Collier.

St. Joe opened the game by hitting seven of its first eight shots and scoring 11 unanswered points over one first quarter stretch. The Bears led 23-15 after the initial period and expanded the margin to 39-25 at halftime.

St. Joe then opened up their biggest lead at 43-23 early in the third quarter, but it was at that point that the roof fell in.

Niles scored 22 of the next 27 points over, a four-minute stretch which saw St. Joe miss its first free throw and lose the services of Follman and Collier after getting their fourth fouls.

"I thought when Collier went out the press hurt them quite a bit," added Adams.

Niles was on top 51-50 going into the last quarter. St. Joe got the lead twice again at 56-53 and 58-57, but Donley then hit a two-pointer at the 4:03 mark which put Niles on top for good. The final score matched Niles' biggest lead of the game.

Niles hit 18 of 25 shots the second half while putting together an excellent 92 per cent game field goal mark (29 of 36), including eight of 12 by Seitz and nine of 17 by Garner. St. Joe hit 20 of 40 (50 per cent) from the floor.

At the free throw lines, the Bears meshed 22 of 24 (92 per cent) and the Vikings nine of 14 (64 per cent).

Each team had 30 rebounds and 23 turnovers. Seitz had 14 caroms for Niles and Wright 12 for St. Joe.

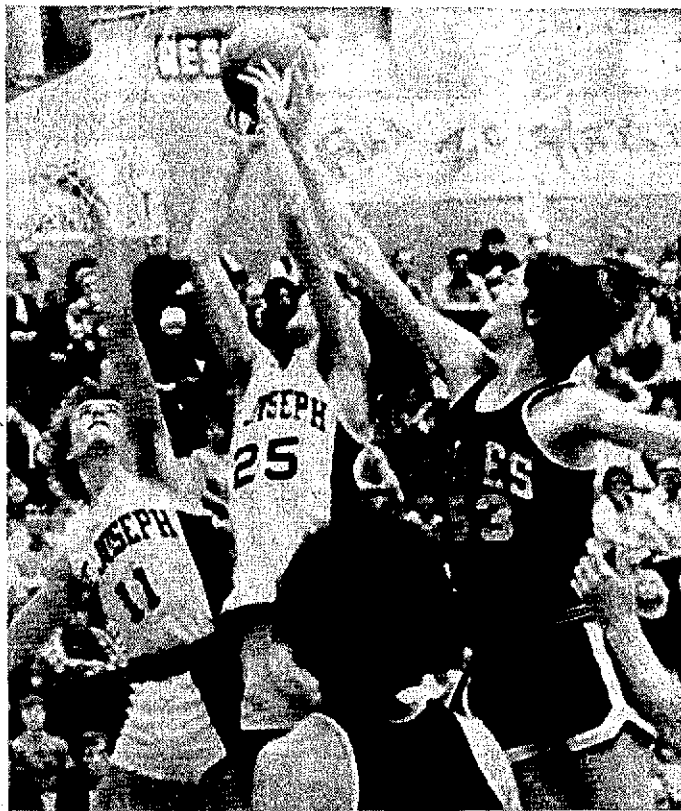

Niles' regional game Wednesday will be at 8:30 p.m. in Western Michigan's Read Fieldhouse at Kalamazoo.

Niles will be going up against an Everett team which is 21-1 and winning its games by almost a 30-point margin.

Everett is led by superstar Earvin Johnson, who made all-state as a sophomore last year and is averaging 24 points per game this season.

The 6-8 Johnson scored 54 points — a Lansing city record — during the regular season and had 30 and 37 in district tournament games last week.

It was Johnson who led Everett to an 80-60 victory over Benton Harbor in regional action last winter.

Long Decatur Wait Over Raiders Win First District In 12 Years

By PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

WATERLIET — It's been 12 years since Decatur won a district basketball tournament. But by the joy shown by the Raiders Saturday night, it was worth the wait.

Kurt Wiese pumped in 25 points and the Raiders took advantage of 24 Lake Michigan Catholic turnovers to post a 58-47 win before 2,000 fans in the championship contest here.

Decatur won't have too long to savor its win, as the Raiders jump into regional action Tuesday night at the same gym, playing Kalamazoo Hackell (11-12 this season) at 7:30 p.m.

A change in both the offense and defense did the trick for the Raiders, who have won 16 straight and are now 21-2. "We changed our offense to one like Olivet College runs," beamed Decatur's head coach, Tim Gibson. "It gives us a lot more rolling in the middle and helps put Kurt down on the baseline."

"On defense, we really didn't go to the halfcourt press in the first two games because we thought the floor was longer and we would have to move a lot more. But we measured it and the halfcourt was only three feet longer than our gym, so we put it back on."

Wiese, the junior guard, hit from just about every spot on the floor. Even with Catholic's ace defenseman, George Welch, on him, Wiese still made 12 of 24 field goal attempts and scored 10 of his point total in the third quarter.

The defense worked almost exactly like Gibson wanted it to. "Our plan was to keep them outside as much as possible," Gibson said. "Matt, Leighton and Jeff Vlick did a very good job of keeping them outcourt."

Catholic, which ends the season with a 16-7 mark, didn't help its own cause any as the Raiders made 16 turnovers in the first half. "Decatur forced us into one of our worst quarters of the season," Al Nixon, Lakers' head mentor, commented.

"We were prepared for the 1-3-1 but one turnover precipitated another and they started snowballing. We just can't do things like you want when you are not in command of the game."

The Lakers only managed to get off 17 shots in the first half, making eight of them. For the game, Catholic canned 20 of 44 attempts for 45 per cent.

Rebounding was also a big problem for the Lakers as they could give no help to center Bill Frantz. The senior pulled down 14 of his team's 26 rebounds and led Catholic in scoring with 15 points.

"I don't think we did a very good job of blocking out on the boards," Nixon said. "Especially on free throws."

"I felt that they had played two games under par and I was afraid that they would break out of it tonight."

After being down by a 34-21 score at halftime, the Lakers came back to within 10 points, 47-37, after three quarters. They then scored the first six points of the fourth quarter to narrow the margin to four points at 47-43, but that was as close as it got.

After trading buckets, Decatur then ran off the next six points to take a commanding 55-45 lead.

Besides Wiese's 29 points, Steve Groundy added 12 points for the Raiders only other double figures scorer. Tom Flood netted 12 points and Don Altie 10 to close out the Lakers' double digit men.

Decatur shot 43 per cent from the floor, making 23 of 53 attempts. The Raiders pulled down 23 rebounds and committed 14 turnovers.

Kalamazoo Hackell now has an 11-12 record under first year coach Ozzie Cavazos. In the district tourney the Irish hosted, they beat Paw Paw 78-52, Springfield 61-46 and just nipped Kalamazoo Christian in the finals Saturday night 49-48. It took a free throw by Don Juzwiak with no time on the clock to win the contest.

In the win over Christian, Joe Albertson led a balanced attack with 13 points.

Gaels Smoke Bees, Capture 'D' Crown

BRIDGMAN — "We smoked 'em."

That's the way Gallen coach Mike Heckathorn aptly termed seventh in the final Associated Press poll, put on an excellent offensive showing, the defensive play which has carried them all season was also superb.

Bridgman had shot at a deadly 65 per cent average through its first two tournament wins, but hit at just a 57 per cent clip against Gallen, which went into the game with southwestern Michigan's lowest points allowed average (52.1 points).

The loss for Bridgman was by the biggest point margin since the Bees lost to Gallen 79-49 in the district title tilt a year ago.

"They've got excellent base line men, that's why we sagged so deep," noted Heckathorn on the defensive strategy of Gallen's two-three zone. "We had to take away the scoring of the base line men."

Gallen now plays Concord at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in regional action at Sturgis. Concord, which finished second in the Big Eight conference, will carry an 18-5 record into regional action.

Gallen got a game-high 21 points from Don Koo, plus 20 from guard Dale Luther and 16 from forward Rick Busher Saturday night while putting their record at 19-3.

"We have a couple of strong individuals, but our team play showed tonight," added

Heckathorn. "We had one of the better team efforts we've had this year. And Rick Busher probably played his best game of the year."

While the Gaels, ranked seventh in the final Associated Press poll, put on an excellent offensive showing, the defensive play which has carried them all season was also superb.

"We have a couple of strong individuals, but our team play showed tonight," added

Center Bob Linke and forward Howie Mutz led Bridgman scorers with 12 points apiece, but the front line production was nothing like the first two district games when the big three combined for 122 points.

"I feel our kids really hustled on defense," continued Heckathorn. "I think the word is intensity, and we had it tonight."

The game was nip-and-tuck with seven ties early in the quarter, but Gallen then posted 10 unanswered points and was never threatened again.

The Gaels, who reached the Class D quarterfinals last season, led 31-24 at halftime and kept pulling away over the final two periods. The biggest lead was 30 points at 80-50.

Gallen hit 35 of 52 field goals for its 67 per cent average, including 10 of 13 by Koo, nine of 12 by Luther and eight of 13 by Busher.

"No matter what defense we played, they still hit," stated Bridgman coach Doug Hendricks. "That was the key."

Bridgman made 23 of 63 from the floor for its 37 per cent mark. At the free throw lines, the Bees made eight of 12 (67 per cent) and the Gaels 10 of 19 (53 per cent).

Gallen had a 32 to 27 rebounding edge, including a season-high 10 by Busher. Wolf led Bridgman with nine.

Both teams were charged with 16 turnovers.

The victory was Gallen's eighth straight over Bridgman, including three this season.

Bridgman closed out its campaign with a 18-7 record, with Linke scoring in double figures 19 straight games. The Bees will have Linke, Mutz and Wolf back next season.

Koo's pointmaking effort pushed his career scoring total to 1,100 points, a mark which is third among all-time scorers in the Red Arrow conference.

"I thought when Collier went out the press hurt them quite a bit," added Adams.

Niles was on top 51-50 going into the last quarter. St. Joe got the lead twice again at 56-55 and 58-57, but Donley then hit a two-pointer at the 4:03 mark which put Niles on top for good. The final score matched Niles' biggest lead of the game.

Niles hit 18 of 25 shots the second half while putting together an excellent 52 per cent game field goal mark (29 of 56), including eight of 12 by Seitz and nine of 17 by Garner. St. Joe hit 20 of 50 (40 per cent) from the floor.

At the free throw lines, the Bears meshed 22 of 24 (92 per cent) and the Vikings nine of 14 (64 per cent).

Each team had 30 rebounds and 23 turnovers. Seitz had 14 caroms for Niles and Wright 12 for St. Joe.

Niles' regional game Wednesday will be at 8:30 p.m. in Western Michigan's Read Fieldhouse at Kalamazoo.

Niles will be going up against an Everett team which is 21-1 and winning its games by almost a 30-point margin.

BRIDGMAN — "We smoked em."

That's the way Galien coach Mike Heckathorn aptly termed Galien's 80-54 triumph over Bridgman in the Class D district championship game here Saturday night.

The Gaels burned the nets with 67 per cent shooting — their best of the season — while earning their second straight district title.

Galien now plays Concord at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in regional action at Sturgis, Concord, which finished second in the Big Eight conference, will carry an 18-5 record into regional action.

Galien got a game-high 21 points from Don Kooy, plus 20 from guard Dale Luther and 16 from forward Rick Busher Saturday night while putting their record at 19-3.

"We have a couple of strong individuals, but our team play showed tonight," added

Long Decatur Wait Over Raiders Win First District In 12 Years

By PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

WATERVLIET — It's been 12 years since Decatur won a district basketball tournament. But by the joy shown by the Raiders Saturday night, it was worth the wait.

Kurt Wiese pumped in 29 points and the Raiders took advantage of 24 Lake Michigan Catholic turnovers to post a 58-47 win before 2,000 fans in the championship contest here.

Decatur won't have too long to savor its win, as the Raiders jump into regional action Tuesday night at the same gym, playing Kalamazoo Hackett (11-12 this season) at 7:30 p.m.

A change in both the offense and defense did the trick for the Raiders, who have won 16 straight and are now 21-2. "We changed our offense to one like Olivet College runs," beamed Decatur's head coach Tom Gibson. "It gives us a lot more rolling in the middle and helps put Kurt down on the baseline."

"On defense, we really didn't go to the halfcourt press in the first two games because we thought the floor was longer and we would have to move a lot more. But we measured it and the halfcourt was only three feet longer than our gym, so we put it back on."

Wiese, the junior guard, hit from just about every spot on the floor. Even with Catholic's ace defenseman, George Welch, on him, Wiese still made 12 of 24 field goal attempts and scored 10 of his point total in the third quarter.

The defense worked almost exactly like Gibson wanted it to. "Our plan was to keep them outside as much as possible," Gibson said. "Matt Leighton and Jeff Vliek did a very good job of keeping them outcourt."

Catholic, which ends the season with a 16-7 mark, didn't help it's own cause any as the Lakers made 16 turnovers in the first half. "Decatur forced us into one of our worst quarters of the season," Al Nixon, Lakers' head mentor, commented. "We were prepared for the 1-3-1 but one turnover precipitated another and they started snowballing."

"We just can't do things like you want when you are not in command of the game."

The Lakers only managed to get off 17 shots in the first half, making eight of them. For the game, Catholic canned 20 of 44 attempts for 45 per cent.

Rebounding was also a big problem for the Lakers as they could give no help to center Bill Frantz. The senior pulled down 14 of his team's 26 rebounds and led Catholic in scoring with 15 points.

"I don't think we did a very good job of blocking out on the boards," Nixon said. "Especially on free throws."

"I felt that they had played two games under par and I was afraid that they would break out of it tonight."

After being down by a 34-21 score at halftime, the Lakers came back to within 10 points, 47-37, after three quarters. They then scored the first six points of the fourth quarter to narrow the margin to four points at 47-43, but that was as close as it got.

After trading buckets, Decatur then ran off the next six points to take a commanding 55-45 lead.

Besides Wiese's 29 points, Steve Groendyk added 12 points for the Raiders only other double figures scorer. Tom Flood notched 12 points and Don Altie 10 to close out the Lakers' double digit men.

Decatur shot 43 per cent from the floor, making 23 of 53 attempts. The Raiders pulled down 23 rebounds and committed 14 turnovers.

Kalamazoo Hackett now has an 11-12 record under first year coach Ozzie Cavazos. In the district tourney the Irish hosted, they beat Paw Paw 78-52, Springfield 61-46 and just nipped Kalamazoo Christian in the finals Saturday night 49-48. It took a free throw by Don Juzwiak with no time on the clock to win the contest.

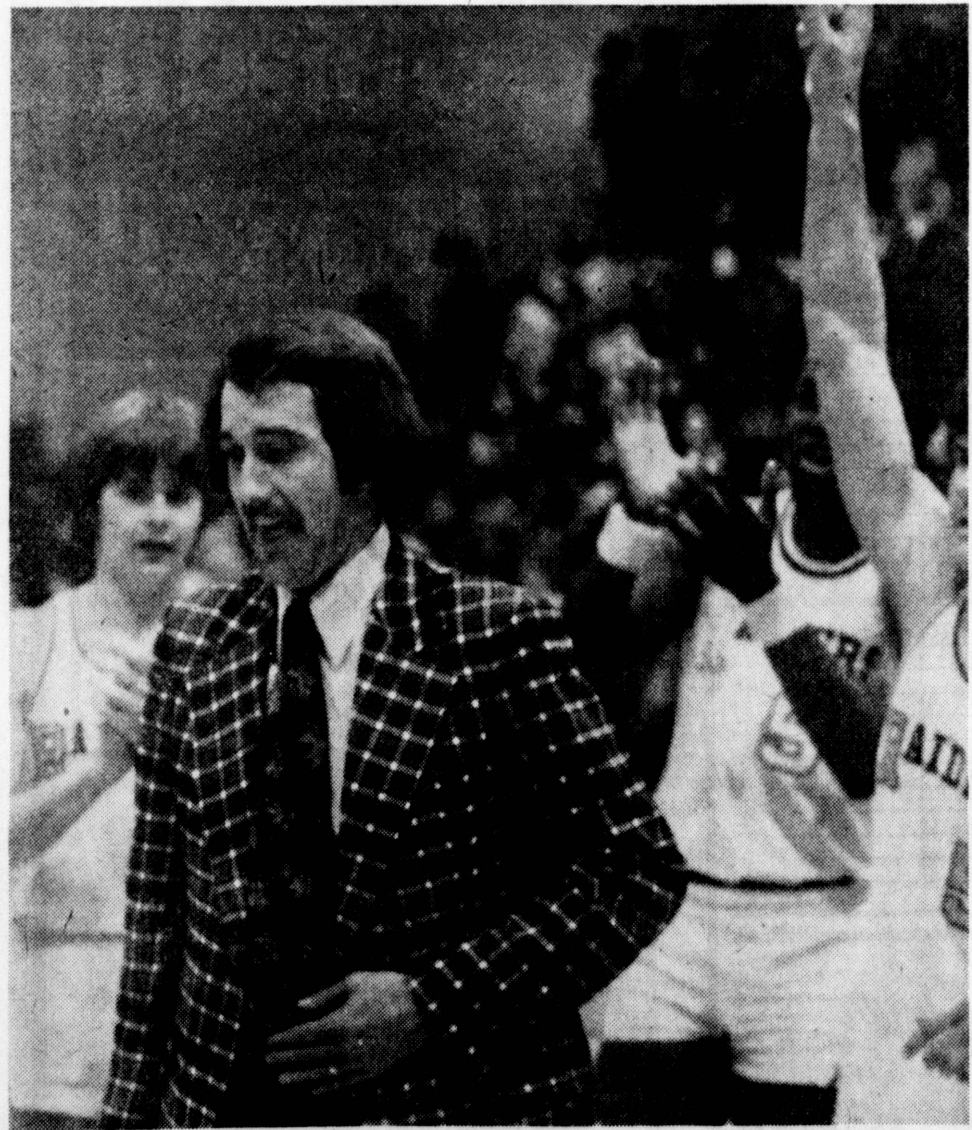

In the win over Christian, Joe Albertson led a balanced attack with 13 points.

Fired-Up Bucks Take Second Straight District Title

No. 1 Buchanan Blasts Edwardsburg, 103-63

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

EDWARDSBURG — Buchanan doesn't appear very emotional before a basketball game.

But once the Bucks take the floor a noticeable change takes place. Just ask Edwardsburg coach Dick Babler.

Buchanan's easy-going Bucks struck quickly and never let up here Saturday night, blasting Edwardsburg 103-63 to capture the Class C district championship before a packed house of more than 1,500 fans here.

"They show very little emotion before or after a ballgame," Buchanan coach Bill Wilson said. "They just get the job done. They were fired up tonight. But let's face it, if you can't get fired up for a district championship you're not much of a competitor."

It was never really close as the top-ranked Bucks rolled to their 23rd straight win this year and seventh straight over the Eddie. Buchanan advances to the Class C regional at Watervliet for a 7:30 p.m. game Thursday against White Pigeon (19-4).

If Saturday's game was any indication, White Pigeon is going to need one super effort to derail Buchanan. All the Bucks did was hit on 50 per cent of its shots (40 of 80) over the Edwardsburg 1-2-2 zone, outrebound the Eddie 52-44 and turn the ball over just 15 times while causing 33 Edwardsburg turnovers.

"What can I tell you," Babler lamented. "You saw it. We just don't have enough to play against a team like Buchanan. But I would rather have been there and tried than not been there at all."

Edwardsburg, which had entered the tourney with only a 3-17 record and eight straight district losses, closed out the year at 5-18. The Eddie had beaten New Buffalo and Eau Claire to reach the championship game.

It was a team effort for Buchanan in the true sense of the word. All 12 Bucks players scored. Buchanan's guard play from Gary Jones and Walt Vanderhush was superb as the two combined for 29 points, while deftly handling out 14 assists in a little more than a half of action.

"The thing that I like the most was that the ball was going in to the guy who was in position to shoot," Wilson said. "I was extremely happy with Gary and I thought Walt played an outstanding game."

Jones, starting in place of Kevin Vanderhush, tossed in 14 points while dishing out six assists. Vanderhush finished with 15 and eight, respectively.

"I started Gary because in both tournament games Kevin hadn't played well. You just can't throw a kid in there to build his confidence in a district championship game."

"Gary handled the ball well, shot well, made some nice passes and played super defense. What more can you ask. He's a hustler and scrapper."

Center Ken Garrett led Buchanan with 16 points and forward Mike Busby added 12, but it was the play of sub Greg Frazier which brought praise from Wilson. Frazier, a 6-3 sophomore, came off the bench to score a career-high 14 points, pull down five rebounds and contribute tenacious defense.

"Frazier gave us a big lift," Wilson said. "He not only maintained the same production and tempo, but increased it a little. It's not very often a man can come off the bench and do that."

"At the beginning of the year, Greg was probably the worst defensive player I've ever seen. But he worked hard before and after practice and he now plays as good an inside defense as anybody we have. I think when a kid goes into a ballgame and makes a good defensive play, it sparks a team more than an offensive play. And Greg gave us that spark."

"Our whole bench did an outstanding job and it's very encouraging. We know that in the next ballgame we can go down and have these people get the job done."

Steve Staal and Dennis Mock each popped in 12 points and Scott Williams 11 for the Eddie.

The game was never really in doubt after the opening tip. The Bucks hit their first four shots over the Edwardsburg zone and forced 11 Eddie turnovers en route to a commanding 31-9 first-quarter lead.

The margin was 59-27 at halftime and Wilson cleared the bench with 1:17 left in the third quarter and a 78-38 lead. Don Holmes hit a 10-footer in the final minute to give Buchanan its 100th point.

Edwardsburg hit just 24 of 54 from the floor for 44 per cent. The two teams went to the free throw line a combined total of 66 times with Buchanan netting 23 of 37 (62 per cent) and Edwardsburg 15 of 29 (52 per cent).

Mike Busby pulled down 10 rebounds to pace the Buck board edge. Gerald Busby added nine caroms and Garrett had eight.

Wolverines Win, Spartans Upset

Michigan, also bound for the NCAA Tournament, closed with a victory but not as convincing as Indiana. The Wolverines barely edged Northwestern 80-77 while Iowa defeated Illinois 82-70. Purdue went into overtime to snatch a 94-87 triumph from Minnesota and Wisconsin concluded with an 81-82 upset victory over Michigan State.

Despite the narrow decision over Northwestern, sealed when Phil Hubbard hit a free throw with four seconds to play, Coach Johnny Orr said, "We'll be ready. Whether we'll be good enough is another question."

Michigan tackles Wichita State at Denton, Tex., next Saturday. Indiana's tournament opener at South Bend on the same day will be against St. John's, a team the Hoosiers whipped earlier in the season in the New York Holiday Tournament.

Hoosiers Ready For Tournament

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Indiana's Hoosiers, having accomplished what was believed to be the impossible task of successive undefeated Big Ten campaigns, aim for top prize — the national basketball championship.

Coach Bobby Knight, emphasizing the positive over the negative, feels his undefeated Hoosiers are ready this time around.

"Last year when we entered the tournament we had some uncertainties," Scott May...whether he could play or not," said Knight. "This time we enter the tournament with a healthy team and we can start working toward our goal of a national championship."

Scott May, Indiana's All-American, missed the playoffs last year because of a broken arm. This time, May is ready and proved it Saturday when he scored 21 points — a total equaled by teammate Kent Benson — to lead Indiana to a 94-87 victory over Ohio State in Fred Taylor's final game as Buckeye basketball coach.

"I was happy the way we played," said Knight. "Perhaps we started getting together and playing well when we started talking about the positive things (five games back). I was dwelling on some negative points and, after all, we had a lot of positive things going for us."

MARTIN — Schoolcraft rallied in the second half to beat Marcellus 62-52 and capture the Class D district title here Saturday night.

Schoolcraft trailed 31-22 at halftime and was still behind 40-29 midway through the third quarter. But the champs then put together their winning surge.

Schoolcraft, now 19-3, got 19 points from Doug Ryskamp, 15 from Mark Kauffman and 10 from Mike Havenga while advancing to the Sturgis regional, where it will play Mendon Tuesday.

Marcellus bowed out of the tournament at 16-6 while getting 16 points from Jerry Cornwell and 11 from Steve Bradley.

Buchanan doesn't appear very emotional before a basketball game.

But once the Bucks take the floor a noticeable change takes place. Just ask Edwardsburg coach Dick Babler.

Buchanan's easy-going Bucks struck quickly and never let up here Saturday night, blasting Edwardsburg 103-63 to capture the Class C district championship before a packed house of more than 1,500 fans here.

straight Big Ten scoring championship, topped everyone with 26.

Scott Thompson scored 27 points for Iowa and Dan Frost 25, 19 of them in the second half. Illinois was paced by Rich Adams with 22.

Wayne Walls, held scoreless in regulation play, hit for six points in overtime to lead Purdue past Minnesota. Mike Thompson paced Minnesota with 38 points.

Schoolcraft Advances

MARTIN — Schoolcraft rallied in the second half to beat Marcellus 82-52 and capture the Class D district title here Saturday night.

Schoolcraft trailed 34-22 at halftime and was still behind 40-29 midway through the third quarter. But the champs then put together their winning surge.

Schoolcraft, now 19-3, got 19 points from Doug Ryskamp, 15 from Mark Kauffman and 10 from Mike Haviga while advancing to the Sturgis regional, where it will play Mendon Tuesday.

Marcellus bowed out of the tournament at 16-6 while getting 16 points from Jerry Cornwell and 11 from Steve Bradley.

Chew Up Mustangs For District Crown Hungry Bobcats 'B' Champs

By JERRY DYKSTRA

Staff Sports Writer

SOUTH HAVEN — Brandywine ended six years of famine here Saturday night.

The Bobcats used hungry 67 per cent shooting to eat up River Valley 62-53 and feast on the Class B district championship.

Frank Standley's Cats clawed their way to a fat 21-point bulge late in the third period and then held the Mustangs at bay to gain a regional berth Tuesday night against Caladonia (17-6) at Western Michigan's Reed Fieldhouse.

The district trophy was the Bobcats' first since 1969 while River Valley was left without a district crown for the first time in three years.

"I'm just a little numb yet," voiced Standley after the game. "Any time you play a Jerry Schaffer team and win you've got to be pleased...we have a lot of respect for him. I'm just happy with the way the kids played. We were patient on offense and we played the good defense again."

Junior guard Ed Pilarski was almost perfect in heading the balanced Bobcat attack. He hit seven of eight from the floor and seven of seven free throw chances to finish with a career-high 21 points. He even led the 28-34 Brandywine rebound edge with eight caroms.

Pat Grounds also sizzled from the field as he dropped in six of seven shots and added two free throws for 11 points. Steve McCarthy swished 12. Greg Gallas nine and Tony Harris six.

"One thing nice this year is that we've had just great team efforts...just great team defense," praised Standley.

"Some people didn't expect us to win but six or seven games this year with only one starter back from last year. But we've had pride and team play all season."

River Valley, which has lost three times to the Bobcats in an 11-11 season, got solid work from forward Greg Johnson with his 23 points, going 11 of 21 afield. But he received little offensive help from his teammates with no other double figure scorer and 13 of 44 afield (30 per cent). Dave North, averaging 14.5 going in, was held to six points.

The absence of Johnson for a 3:30 stretch of the second period due to three fouls really spelled Valley's doom. When Johnson went to the bench the game was deadlocked at 16-16, but when he reentered the contest the Bobcats had mustered a 28-20 lead. Brandywine blew that margin to 34-22 at intermission and to 52-31 for its biggest advantage with 90 seconds left in the third period. The Mustangs used a press to come back a bit in the final but never could get closer than the final nine-point margin.

"That hurt not having Johnson in there," stated Mustang coach Jerry Schaffer. "Until then it was nip and tuck."

"But we just didn't shoot very well as a team and Brandywine took advantage of our mistakes. They have been a very opportunistic team all year...give them credit."

The Mustangs, who had won six of their last seven games including last Wednesday's upset of South Haven, took 21 more shots than Brandywine but could only manage 24 of 65 for 37 per cent.

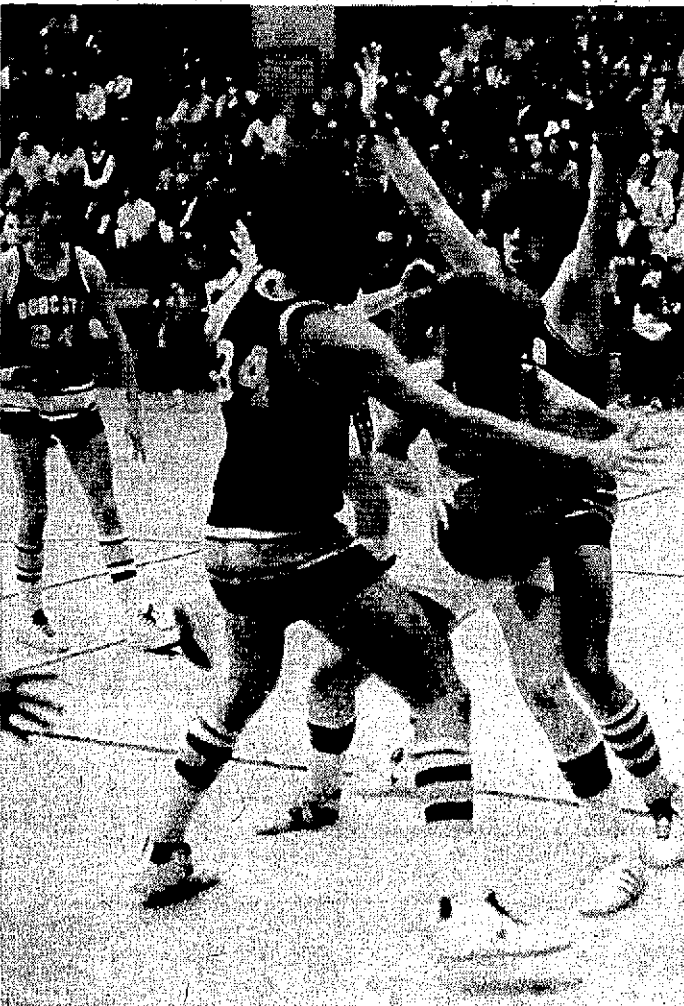

The Bobcats were 25 of 44 for 57 per cent with 62 per cent over the first three periods. Brandywine was a burning 17 of 25 afield (68 per cent) in the middle quarters when the Cats outscored River Valley 38-21.

Brandywine canned 12 of 18 free throws (67 per cent) to the Mustangs' five of eight (63 per cent). The Bobcats ended with 26 turnovers, nine against the Valley press in the fourth quarter, while the Mustangs committed 16 floor mistakes, all over the first three periods.

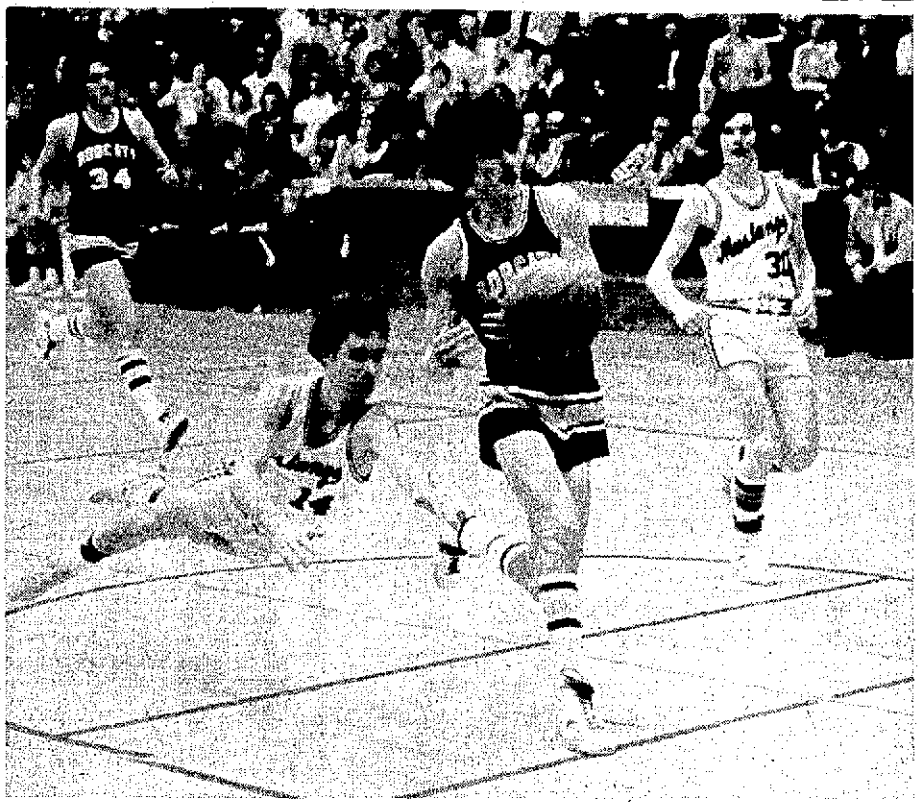

The Bobcats, who finished second in the Blossomland conference standings, will take a mark into Tuesday's 8:30 p.m. regional clash as the Bobcats seek their first regional championship in history.

Face MSU In First Round Badgers Gain Ice Playoffs

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of Wisconsin completed a weekend sweep and moved from 10th-place to 7th on the last day of the regular season to nudge into the Western Collegiate Hockey Association playoffs, which start Wednesday.

The Badgers tripped Notre Dame 4-1 Sunday and catapulted past North Dakota, Duluth and Denver in the standings on the basis of the league's scoring differential. Denver, however, will be in the playoffs. In league action Saturday night, WCHA champion Michigan Tech defeated Duluth, 7-5. North Dakota bounced Minnesota 5-1. Michigan trimmed Michigan State 7-6. Colorado College defeated Denver 5-3 and Wisconsin stopped Notre Dame 5-3.

Mike Eaves scored two goals to spark Wisconsin, which moved into the playoffs with an 11-19-2 record. An Eaves goal Saturday night put the Badgers, who open their playoff series at Michigan State, into the lead to stay against Notre Dame.

Steve Colp scored four goals, but it was Ben Hawa's assisted goal at 14:13 of the third period that lifted Michigan State past Michigan. Kris Monery scored three goals for Michigan, which will be at home against Notre Dame in the playoffs.

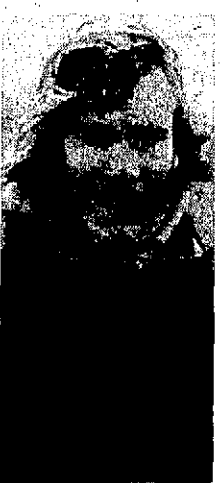

Roger Lamoureux scored two goals to help North Dakota over Minnesota, which opens the playoffs at home against Colorado College. Tech, which plays Denver in the playoff quarterfinals, got two goals and two assists from freshman Dave Johnson to help offset a four-goal performance by Duluth's Mike Newton.

Furst Sets Big 10 Record

DAVE FURST

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Propelled by record-setting performances by former Brandywine standout Dave Furst and Mike McGuire, Michigan captured its first Big Ten indoor track title since 1964 Saturday.

The Wolverines outdistanced host Wisconsin, whose loss of star sprinter Tariq Mughal was offset by unanticipated victories by Lawrence Johnson, a reserve football player.

Furst took the 880-yard dash in a record 1:48.6. The ex-Bobcat star scored more than 600 points in his prep career and sparked Brandywine to the Blossomland and Class B regional championships in 1974.

The slender Furst was the state champ in both 440 and 880 during his senior year in 1974, while also anchoring the Brandywine mile relay team which finished sixth.

Furst still holds the all-time area track records in both the 440 and 880 with times of 49.0 and 1:53.9, respectively.

McGuire, a sophomore from Farmington, Mich., defeated Wisconsin's defending champion Mark Johnson in the three-mile run with a meet-record time of 14:20.7. Johnson held the former meet record with his winning time of 13:26.7 last year.

"I thought Illinois had the edge at the start of the day, then it looked like Wisconsin," Harvey said. "We had the momentum at the end."

Michigan collected 62 points to Wisconsin's 50%, followed by Illinois with 39%, defending champion Indiana 32, Purdue 22, Ohio State 13, Michigan State 12, Iowa 11, Minnesota 8, and Northwestern 6.

Mughal, of Kenya, had to bow out of three events Friday after pulling a hamstring muscle in preliminaries.

Then cornerback Johnson, a freshman from Gary, Ind., surprised a capacity crowd with victories in two events which the Badgers had counted on Mughal to win. Johnson won the 60-yard dash in 6.2 seconds and the 300 in 30.6.

"I won two races this year, in the first meet of the season when Tariq was a little tight and didn't want to run," Johnson said. "I thought I was ready for him today. I'm just sorry he couldn't run."

Wisconsin's Steve Lacy won the mile in 4:04.7, edging Michigan State's Herb Lindsay and Illinois' highly rated Craig Virgin.

Virgin, having set a meet record of 8:30.1 Friday in the two-mile run ahead of Lindsay, led Saturday's mile for two laps until Lacy broke away.

Purdue's Noel Ruebel turned in an upset, edging Iowa defending lister Bill Knoedel in the high jump. Both cleared 7 feet, 1 inch, but Ruebel had fewer misses.

Harvey, noting Michigan won points in all events except the long jump, remarked: "I can't get a long jumper to save my life."

Bob Salvano Bud Singles Champion

The leader board remained unchanged during the final week of the Blossomland Bowling Association men's city tournament at Blossom Lanes.

Bob Salvano held on for the singles title, edging Stan Klimczak by one pin. Salvano bowled a 752 in the handicap tournament, while Klimczak finished with a 751. Bill Turner was next with a 736, followed by Chuck Miles and Dan Symonds each with 723.

Walt Heyn captured the all-events crown. Heyn put together a 2064 handicap score to top Graydon Elzroth by 12 pins. Jim Blushke came in at 2050, Bob Seiber at 2040 and Jack Mummaw with a 2037.

Ken Roberts and Bob Seiber closed out in a tie for first with Vern Nitz and Bill Garberson in the doubles division. Roberts and Seiber rolled a 1395 the opening week of the tourney and Nitz and Garberson matched that during the second week of competition. Completing the top five are Bob Kolberg and Nick Santos at 1392, Clarence Ott and Vernon Mueller at 1379 and Jim Melser and Bruce Long at 1378.

The tournament saw 338 participants in singles and 169 in doubles. Low in the money for the team portion was 3072 and unofficially was 1279 for doubles.

Wilson New Coach

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Eddie Wilson, whose professional football career included stints with Kansas City, Boston and Miami, has been named offensive coordinator at Wake Forest University.

Byron Center Wins District

FENNVILLE — Led by Nike Nyland's 22 points, Byron Center topped Hamilton 71-57 to win the Class C district championship game held here Saturday night.

Pete Anderson added 17 points and Jeff Lambright 14 for the Bulldogs, now 22-0 this season.

Hamilton was led by Mark Folkert who notched 21 points. Teammate Gary Immink added 15.

Byron Center now advances to the regional at Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills where it will face Shelby.

MADISON, Wisc. (AP) — Propelled by record-setting performances by former Brandywine standout Dave Furst and Mike McGuire, Michigan captured its first Big Ten indoor track title since 1964 Saturday.

The Wolverines outdistanced host Wisconsin, whose loss of star sprinter Tariq Mughal was offset by unanticipated victories by Lawrence Johnson, a reserve football player.

Furst took the 880-yard dash in a record 1:48.6. The ex-Bobcat star scored more than 600 points in his prep career and sparked Brandywine to the Blossomland and Class B regional championships in 1974.

The slender Furst was the state champ in both 440 and 880 during his senior year in 1974, while also anchoring the Brandywine mile relay team which finished second.

Furst still holds the all-time area track records in both the 440 and 880 with times of 49.0 and 1:53.9, respectively.

McGuire, a sophomore from Farmington, Mich., defeated Wisconsin's defending champion Mark Johnson in the three-mile run with a meet-record time of 13:20.7. Johnson held the former meet record with his winning time of 13:26.7 last year.

"I thought Illinois had the edge at the start of the day, then it looked like Wisconsin," Harvey said. "We had the momentum at the end."

Michigan collected 62 points to Wisconsin's 50½, followed by Illinois with 38½, defending champion Indiana 32, Purdue 22, Ohio State 13, Michigan State 12, Iowa 11, Minnesota 9 and Northwestern 6.

Mughal, of Kenya, had to bow out of three events Friday after pulling a hamstring muscle in preliminaries. Then cornerback Johnson, a freshman from Gary, Ind., surprised a capacity crowd with victories in two events which the Badgers had counted on Mughal to win. Johnson won the 60-yard dash in 6.2 seconds and the 300 in 30.6.

"I won two races this year, in the first meet of the season when Tariq was a little tight and didn't want to run," Johnson said. "I thought I was ready for him today. I'm just sorry he couldn't run."

Wisconsin's Steve Lacy won the mile in 4:04.7, edging Michigan State's Herb Lindsay and Illinois' highly rated Craig Virgin.

Virgin, having set a meet record of 8:39.1 Friday in the two-mile run ahead of Lindsay, led Saturday's mile for two laps until Lacy broke away.

Purdue's Noel Ruebel turned in an upset, edging Iowa defending titlist Bill Knoedel in the high jump. Both cleared 7 feet, 1 inch, but Ruebel had fewer misses.

Harvey, noting Michigan won points in all events except the long jump, remarked: "I can't get a long jumper to save my life."

Bob Salvano Bud Singles Champion

The leader board remained unchanged during the final week of the Blossomland Bowling Association men's city tournament at Blossom Lanes.

Bob Salvano held on for the singles title, edging Stan Klimczak by one pin. Salvano bowled a 752 in the handicap tournament, while Klimczak finished with a 751. Bill Turner was next with a 736, followed by Chuck Miles and Dan Symonds each with 723.

Walt Heyn captured the all-events crown. Heyn put together a 2064 handicap score to top Graydon Elzroth by 12 pins. Jim Blushke came in at 2050, Bob Seiber at 2040 and Jack Mummaw with a 2037.

Ken Roberts and Bob Seiber closed out in a tie for first with Vern Nitz and Bill Garberson in the doubles division. Roberts and Seiber rolled a 1395 the opening week of the tourney and Nitz and Garberson matched that during the second week of competition. Completing the top five are Bob Kolberg and Nick Santos at 1392, Clarence Ott and Vernon Mueller at 1379 and Jim Meiser and Bruce Long at 1378.

The tournament saw 338 participants in singles and 169 in doubles. Low in the money for the team portion was 3072 and unofficially was 1279 for doubles.

Face MSU In First Round Badgers Gain Ice Playoffs

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of Wisconsin completed a weekend sweep and moved from 10th-place to 7th on the last day of the regular season to nudge into the Western Collegiate Hockey Association playoffs, which start Wednesday.

The Badgers tripped Notre Dame 4-1 Sunday and captauled past North Dakota, Duluth and Denver in the standings on the basis of the league's scoring differential. Denver, however, will be in the playoffs. In league action Saturday night, WCHA champion Michigan Tech defeated Duluth, 7-5. North Dakota bounced Minnesota 5-1. Michigan trimmed Michigan State 7-6. Colorado College defeated Denver 5-3 and Wisconsin stopped Notre Dame 5-3.

Mike Eaves scored two goals to spark Wisconsin, which moved into the playoffs with an 11-19-2 record. An Eaves goal Saturday night put the Badgers, who open their playoff series at Michigan State, into the lead to stay against Notre Dame.

Steve Colp scored four goals, but it was Ben Hawa's unassisted goal at 14:13 of the third period that lifted Michigan State past Michigan. Kris Manery scored three goals for Michigan, which will be at home against Notre Dame in the playoffs.

Roger Lamoureux scored two goals to help North Dakota over Minnesota, which opens the playoffs at home against Colorado College.

Tech, which plays Denver in the playoff quarterfinals, got two goals and two assists from freshman Dave Joelson to help offset a four-goal performance by Duluth's Mike Newton.

SJ Tankers Fourth In Big Seven Meet

Lakeview Takes Championship

BATTLE CREEK — St. Joseph finished a disappointing fourth in the Big Seven swimming meet here Saturday.

"It was not a matter of the kids not dropping times...we set one varsity record and had several career bests from the team," commented Coach Bill Womer.

"We were hurt in two places. First, we failed to qualify as many people as we should have on Friday, and second, we had some key people fall short in the finals on Saturday. In many cases the differences were measured in hundredths of a second."

St. Joe had finished second in the dual meet portion of the Big Seven season, but the fourth place finish Saturday left them fourth overall.

Battle Creek Lakeview took the title while finishing first in both the dual meet and league meet competition. Holland and Portage Central shared second overall. Loy Norrix was fifth, Portage Northern sixth and Niles seventh.

St. Joe had good efforts from Randy Chinery in the 200 individual medley and 100 butterfly. He posted career bests while finishing seventh and eighth, respectively.

Mike Borro also had career bests while taking second in the 100 breaststroke and fifth in the 200 individual medley.

Tom Starks hit a career best while taking second in the 500 freestyle.

And the 400 freestyle relay team of Starks, Tim Momany, Fred Danaher and John Worthington set a new varsity record of 3:24.22 while finishing second.

"All in all it was a disappointing meet as far as our past conference performances," concludes Womer. "It is our lowest finish yet. The first time in five years we have not had at least one conference champion."

Sj Tankers Fourth In Big Seven Meet

Lakeview Takes Championship

BATTLE CREEK — St. Joseph finished a disappointing fourth in the Big Seven swimming meet here Saturday.

"It was not a matter of the kids not dropping times....we set one varsity record and had several career bests from the team," commented Bear coach Bill Womer.

"We were hurt in two places. First, we failed to qualify as many people as we should have on Friday, and second, we had some key people fall short in the finals on Saturday. In many cases the differences were measured in hundreds of a second."

St. Joe had finished second in the dual meet portion of the Big Seven season, but the fourth place finish Saturday left them fourth overall.

Battle Creek Lakeview took the title while finishing first in both the dual meet and league meet competition. Holland and Portage Central shared second overall. Loy Norrix was fifth, Portage Northern sixth and Niles seventh.

St. Joe had good efforts from Randy Chinery in the 200 individual medley and 100 butterfly. He posted career bests while finishing seventh and eighth, respectively.

Mike Borre also had career bests while taking second in the 100 breaststroke and fifth in the 200 individual medley.

Tom Starks hit a career best while taking second in the 500 freestyle.

And the 400 freestyle relay team of Starks, Tim Momany, Fred Danaher and John Worthington set a new varsity record of 3:24.22 while finishing second.

"All in all it was a disappointing meet as far as our past conference performances," concludes Womer. "It is our lowest finish and the first time in my five years we have not had at least one conference champion."

Dorothy Hamill Wins World Skating Title

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Dorothy Hamill, America's 19-year-old Olympic champion, shook off her stage fright Saturday and won the women's figure skating world championship for the United States for the first time in eight years.

Miss Hamill, of Riverside, Conn. — coached by the same man who trained the previous U.S. world and Olympic champion Peggy Fleming — withstood challenges from defending champion Dianne de Leeuw, who lives in California but competes for Holland; and 1974 champion Christine Errath of East Germany. Miss Errath, with strong free skating, overtook Miss de Leeuw for second place.

Miss Hamill, who has declared she will end her competitive career here and may take up one of many rich offers from ice shows, won both Friday's short program and Saturday's final four-minute free skating.

Young Shines In World Speed Skating Meet

BERLIN (AP) — With a dazzling performance by Detroit's Sheila Young, American speed skaters took four of the top six places in the women's Sprint Speed Skating Championships that concluded Sunday in West Berlin.

For Miss Young, 25, a gold, silver and bronze medal winner in the Olympics, it was sweet icing on the cake of her long list of personal achievements.

She won all four races — the 500 meters and 1,000 meters both Saturday and Sunday — leading up to her third sprint title since 1973, something no other skater ever had done. She went for broke in the final 1,000 meter event although she knew she had the over-all competition won.

Of her fourth world's title — she's also a world's champion bicycle racer — she said: "I've always thought of myself as an athlete. Maybe this proves to other people I'm a good athlete."

Her West Berlin appearance could be her last in major competition and that made her showing doubly sweet.

Her teammate, Leah Poulos of Northbrook, Ill., was second in the over-all competition, having finished a second to Miss Young in three of the four races. Miss Poulos won a silver medal in the Olympics.

Sylvia Burka of Canada was second in Sunday's 1,000 meters and third in the other three and third in over-all standings here behind Miss Young and Miss Poulos.

Among the men, Dan Immerfall of Madison, Wis., surprised himself to win both 500 meter events and finish second overall to champion Johan Granath of Sweden, who failed to win a race.

Peter Mueller of Mequon, Wis., a gold medalist in Innsbruck, was third over-all.

Although the American showing was impressive in Berlin, the absence of the Russians left a lot of things up in the air.

The Russian men had finished 1-2-3 in the 1975 sprints championships with only Miss Young breaking through against the women, a feat equalled by Miss Poulos a year before.

The Russians now hold all the world records, set on their high altitude track in Central Asia.

except for the 500 meters women's event which Miss Young holds in a time of 40.19 seconds.

The Soviet Union boycotted the West Berlin meet, part of a continuing campaign to keep the city isolated from the rest of West Germany, which was host for the Berlin competition.

Peter Schotting, the Dutch-born U.S. coach, said that for its part America will have to act more efficiently if similar speed skating results are to be repeated.

He said a first priority is more ice time for the artificial rink in Milwaukee where the top American skaters train. A second, he added, is building a good track on a lake near Boulder, Colo., that is 9,000 feet in elevation. Thin air, the skaters say, means less resistance and that is where the speed and records are.

Their thinking is that if the Russians are to be the only ones to have an almost all-year high altitude track for training and competition, then they will continue to hold most of the world's titles simply by staying home.

Kent State Depth Bags MAC Swimming Title

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Kent State, capitalizing on superior depth, romped to its fourth Mid-American Conference swimming title in five years Saturday night though winning only one of the last seven events.

The Golden Flashes, led by double winners John Ovsek and Tom Stolkey, jumped off to a wide lead on opening day and powered their way to stunning 104-point margin over runnerup and defending champion Miami of Ohio.

Kent State had 445 points to Miami's 341. Eastern Michigan was third at 323, Ohio University had 227, Central Michigan 192, Northern Illinois 181, Bowling Green 90, Ball State 78, Western Michigan 40, Toledo 18.

Jeff Biekema, a freshman from Northern Illinois, was named the meet's outstanding swimmer. He set a pair of MAC records in the 500-yard freestyle and the 1,650-yard freestyle.

Overall, Kent State won only five of the 18 events during the three-day meet, but qualified swimmers in the finals of 15 events.

Biekema shattered the 1,650-yard freestyle record by 19 seconds in Saturday night's finals. Bruce Howell, a sophomore from Eastern Michigan, broke the MAC record for the 200-yard breaststroke in the preliminaries. He topped his own record, set last year, by three seconds.

Drake's 36 Sparks Chippewas Broncos Top Bowling Green

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eldon Miller, basking in the glory of his Western Michigan team's first Mid-American Conference basketball title, concedes he's rearranging his priorities now.

"We have to raise our sights. We're all pretty happy. We have no preference for a tournament opponent," said Miller Saturday after the Broncos beat off a Bowling Green challenge 71-58.

The victory gave the Broncos a 24-2 overall record and 15-1 conference mark to take against Virginia Tech in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Midwest Regional first round at Smith Bend, Ind., this week. Miami (14-2) settled for second place after scuttling last-place Eastern Michigan 75-66.

Meanwhile, Toledo became the best-shooting team in MAC history, but wound up in third place. The Rockets hit 51.2 percent of their field goals. The old mark of 49.3 was held by Miami's 1988 squad.

Toledo finished the season with a 13-3 league record by beating Ball State 81-66, while defending MAC champion Central Michigan evened its mark at 8-8 by trouncing Ohio University 114-89 and Kent State rallied to edge Northern Illinois 86-83 and wind up 7-9.

Jim Kinzen's 18 career-high points paced Western Michigan, posting the best overall and conference marks ever by a Mid-American outfit. Ron Hamme's 16 led Bowling Green (88).

Miami pumped in eight straight points to dissolve a 33-38 tie at Eastern Michigan. Chuck Goodyear scored 18 of his game-high 22 points in the second half for the Redskins. Walt Jones had 16 for the Hurons (1-15). Leonard Drake poured in 36 points and Ben Paquette added 30 to enable Central to finish in a tie with Bowling Green for fourth place in the league standings.

Ohio University, led by Scott Love with 22 points, dropped into a tie with Kent sixth place.

Kent fought back from a 50-41 halftime deficit, shooting nearly 60 per cent in the second period, to hand Northern Illinois its 14th loss in 16 conference games. Cortez Brown of the Golden Flashes and Matt Hicks of Northern shared scoring honors with 24 points apiece.

Darkness Delays Irwin-Zarley Duel

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — "I don't want to knock television," Hole Irwin said, "because golf certainly wouldn't be where it is without TV. But ..."

And Irwin, rapidly becoming one of the tour's brightest stars, continued with a blast at the networks, pro golf's accommodation of television's wishes on starting and finishing times and the schedule that had him and Kermil Zarley interrupted and delayed a day in their sudden-death playoff for the title and the $40,000 first prize in the Citrus Open Golf Tournament.

"Somebody blundered," the irate Irwin said in a flat, carefully-controlled voice when darkness halted the playoff Sunday after two inconclusive holes. The playoff was scheduled to be completed Monday morning at 9:30 a.m., EST.

Irwin, winner of the Los Angeles Open two weeks ago, and Zarley, on the mend from major surgery last fall, completed the regulation 72 holes of play in a tie at 270, 18 under par on the 6,929-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course. Zarley scrambled his way to a gutsy 69 and Irwin shot a 66.

With the early twilight of winter approaching, they went to the 15th hole to begin a sudden-death playoff for the $40,000 first prize and the title.

Both made par. They went to the 16th. Both made par, with Zarley holing a testing, four-foot second putt.

And it was too late, too dark to continue. The playoff was suspended.

"I wish we could have finished," Irwin said. "We should have. There's no reason we couldn't have finished."

"Somebody really blundered," he repeated.

The bespectacled Irwin made it clear he was not criticizing the decision to halt play — "us four-eyes don't see good in the dark," he said — but directed his displeasure toward the relatively late start which, of course, necessitated an equally late finishing time.

NBC-TV was scheduled to provide national television coverage 4-6 p.m., EST, but stayed on until the day's play was completed.

Irwin, who considered withdrawing from the tournament during his first round, played the last 54 holes of regulation in 198, 20 under par. He started the final round three strokes back, twice took the lead and finally was tied when Zarley dropped an 18-foot birdie putt on the 71st hole. Zarley's clutch par from a buried lie in a bunker on the last hole sent the tournament into a playoff and darkness sent the playoff into a second day.

J.C. Sneed had a last-round 66 and was third at 273, three back of the leaders. John Mahaffey was next at 69-274.

Broncos Top Bowling Green

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eldon Miller, basking in the glory of his Western Michigan team's first sole Mid-American Conference basketball title, concedes he's rearranging his priorities now.

"We have to raise our sights. We're all pretty happy. We have no preference for a tournament opponent," said Miller Saturday after the Broncos beat off a Bowling Green challenge 71-58.

The victory gave the Broncos a 24-2 overall record and 15-1 conference mark to take against Virginia Tech in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Midwest Regional first round at South Bend, Ind., this week.

Miami (14-2) settled for second place after scuttling last-place Eastern Michigan 75-66.

Meanwhile, Toledo became the best-shooting team in MAC history, but wound up in third place. The Rockets hit 51.2 per cent of their field goals. The old mark of 49.3 was held by Miami's 1968 squad.

Toledo finished the season with a 13-3 league record by beating Ball State 91-66, while defending MAC champion Central Michigan evened its mark at 8-8 by trouncing Ohio University 114-99 and Kent State rallied to edge Northern Illinois 86-83 and wind up 7-9.

Jim Kurzen's 18 career-high points paced Western Michigan, posting the best overall and conference marks ever by a Mid-American outfit. Ron Hammye's 16 led Bowling Green (88).

Miami pumped in eight straight points to dissolve a 58-58 tie at Eastern Michigan. Chuck Goodyear scored 18 of his game-high 22 points in the second half for the Redskins. Walt Jones had 16 for the Hurons (1-15).

Leonard Drake poured in 36 points and Ben Poquette added 30 to enable Central to finish in a tie with Bowling Green for fourth place in the league standings.

Ohio University, led by Scott Love with 22 points, dropped into a tie with Kent sixth place.

Kent fought back from a 50-41 halftime deficit, shooting nearly 60 per cent in the second period, to hand Northern Illinois its 14th loss in 16 conference games. Cortez Brown of the Golden Flashes and Matt Hicks of Northern shared scoring honors with 24 points apiece.

TENNIS

HARTFORD, Conn. — The United States won its first World Cup of tennis since 1971, beating Australia 6-1 in the best-of-seven series, with Jimmy Connors clinching the victory with a 6-2, 6-3 triumph over John Newcombe.

SAN FRANCISCO — Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., held off a strong comeback by Australian Evonne Goolagong to score a 7-5, 7-6 victory in the finals of a $75,000 women's tennis tournament.

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Pakistan's Haroon Rahim beat Colin Dibley of Australia 6-4, 7-5 and won the $35,000 Arkansas International Tennis Tournament.

AUTO RACING

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Niki Lauda of Austria, leading from the start, took the checkered flag less than two seconds ahead of Britain's James Hunt to win the African Grand Prix Formula 1 auto race.

RICHMOND, Va. — Dave Marcis of Skyland, North Carolina held off Richard Petty to win the eighth annual annual Richmond 400.

BOWLING

BOXING

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — Wilfredo Benitez of Puerto Rico won the welterweight championship Saturday in a 15-round victory over former champion Antonio "Kid Pembele" Cervantes. Benitez, 17, is the youngest fighter to win a world championship.

Darkness Delays Irwin-Zarley Duel

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — "I don't want to knock television," Hale Irwin said, "because golf certainly wouldn't be where it is without TV. But ..."

And Irwin, rapidly becoming one of the tour's brightest stars, continued with a blast at the networks, pro golf's accommodation of television's wishes on starting and finishing times and the schedule that had him and Kermit Zarley interrupted and delayed a day in their sudden-death playoff for the title and the $40,000 first prize in the Citrus Open Golf Tournament.

"Somebody blundered," the irate Irwin said in a flat, carefully-controlled voice when darkness halted the playoff Sunday after two inconclusive holes. The playoff was scheduled to be completed Monday morning at 9:30 a.m., EST.

He started the final round three strokes back, twice took the lead and finally was tied when Zarley dropped an 18-foot birdie putt on the 71st hole. Zarley's clutch par from a buried lie in a bunker on the last hole sent the tournament into a playoff and darkness sent the playoff into a second day.

J.C. Snead had a last-round 66 and was third at 273, three back of the leaders. John Mahaffey was next at 69-274.

Rosi New World Ski Champ

COPPER MOUNTAIN, Colo. (AP) — The show was Rosi Mittermaier with a supporting cast of Americans.

The West German superstar won both the women's giant slalom and special slalom events, captured the World Cup slalom title and became the first world champion since Annemarie Proell began her reign in 1971.

And on Sunday — the day the U.S. team capped its best-ever showing in a World Cup event — course No. 8 at this young Rocky Mountain resort was renamed "Rosi's Run."

Miss Mittermaier, at 25 already called the "old lady" by her competitors, skied down her course and accepted a plaque that will commemorate the performance here that confirmed her as the best woman skier in the world.

During the three days of competition here, which ended Sunday, the Americans captured one first, three seconds and placed a total of 15 skiers in the top 15 in three separate events. The showing was unprecedented, surprising and had European journalists shaking their heads and reviling their athletes.

The U.S. skiers didn't win, they said; the Europeans lost.

Steve Mahre of White Pass, Wash., set the final jewel into the crown the U.S. team will wear as it continues its competition against the best skiers in the world at Aspen, Colo., next week.

Mahre's second-place finish to World Cup points leader Ingemar Stenmark of Sweden in Sunday's slalom was his best-ever finish in Cup competition. And just the day before, his twin brother, Phil, had finished second in the giant slalom to Greg Jones of Tahoe City, Calif. That was Jones' first Cup victory.

On the first day of the three-day event, Cindy Nelson of Lassen, Minn., was second to Rosi in the women's giant slalom.

"I feel pretty good," Steve remarked at the finish of his run — a run good enough to beat world champions Gustavo Thoeni and Pieren Gros of Italy, who were third and fourth, respectively.

"Being where I'm at is good enough."

Stenmark, whose popularity in Sweden rivals that of tennis star and compatriot Bjorn Borg, strengthened his hold on the Cup's over-all points lead with a victory. Gros currently is second with Thoeni not far back in third.

Cary Adgate of Boyne City, Mich., was 12th in the slalom, which was run over an 800-meter course with 58 gates on the first run and 62 on the second.

Stenmark's time was 1:37.75, one-tenth of a second faster than Mahre. Thoeni was clocked in 1:38.51 after a bad second run, and Gros at 1:38.63.

Cav Upset Win Changes Tar Heel Travel Plans

Virginia Captures ACC Tourney

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The North Carolina Tar Heels hadn't planned on it, but they're going west for the NCAA playoffs.

This little trip was arranged at the last second by the Virginia Cavaliers.

Surprising Virginia pulled off one of the biggest upsets of this year's college basketball season Saturday night, whipping the fourth-ranked Tar Heels 67-62 in the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference playoffs.

North Carolina will be forced to travel to Dayton, Ohio, for the NCAA's Midwest Regionals next Saturday instead of playing in the more familiar surroundings of Charlotte, N.C., site of the East playoffs.

North Carolina will face a tougher draw because of it, too. Virginia's startling victory gave the Cavaliers a first-round game against DePaul. North Carolina's loss means a first-round NCAA date with the winner of the Southeastern Conference and puts three of the nation's top four teams in the same regional — top-ranked Indiana, second-ranked Marquette and the fourth-ranked Tar Heels.

The SEC race will be decided Monday night when Alabama faces Vanderbilt in the season finale. The Crimson Tide must beat the Commodores for the championship, otherwise a calm flip will decide North Carolina's eventual opponent.

The SEC race was thrown into a turmoil due to Saturday's results, which produced a 90-85 upset for Kentucky over Alabama and Tennessee's 86-70 romp over Georgia.

Elsewhere, several other teams landed berths in the NCAA's with victories Saturday.

Cincinnati defeated Memphis State 103-85 to win the MetroSix tournament; Arizona stopped Arizona State 77-72 to take the Western Athletic Conference crown; Missouri won the Big Eight with a 95-90 rout of Colorado; Texas Tech defeated Texas A&M 74-72 in the South-west Conference finals; Hofstra won the East Coast Conference title with a 79-72 whipping of Temple; Wichita State took the Missouri Valley crown by beating Drake 75-69 while Southern Illinois was losing 103-92 to New Mexico State in overtime; Boise State won the Big Sky championship with a 77-70 double-overtime victory over Weber State and Pepperdine took the West Coast Athletic Conference title with an 85-81 overtime decision over San Francisco.

In the ECAC's regional playoffs, Syracuse hammered Niagara 77-68 to win the Upstate New York tourney; Connecticut grabbed the New England Regional with an 87-73 upset of Providence; Georgetown beat George Washington 68-63 for the Southern title and Rutgers whipped St. John's 70-67 to win the Metro Division championship. Rutgers and St. John's both were assured of NCAA playoff berths before the contest while the others had to win their way into the NCAA's.

Western Michigan, which had earlier been promised an NCAA berth, clinched its first undisputed Mid-American Conference title with a 71-58 victory over Bowling Green.

San Diego State beat the University of the Pacific 76-64 on Sunday to win the Pacific Coast Athletic Association playoff tourney and an NCAA berth.

In other action Saturday, Pacific-8 Conference winner UCLA closed out its regular season with an 87-73 victory over Southern Cal and Big Ten champ Indiana walloped Ohio State 96-57 to complete its second straight regular season schedule undefeated.

The loss to Rutgers gave St. John's the tough assignment of facing top-ranked Indiana in the Midwest at South Bend. Rutgers pulled an easier draw, facing Ivy League champion Princeton at Providence, R.I. UCLA, the defending national champion, will face the PCAA winner in the West Regionals at Eugene, Ore. next Saturday.

A total of 32 teams are involved in the four regional tournaments. They're all pointing toward the NCAA finals in Philadelphia at the end of March.

Marquette closed out its regular season Sunday by beating South Carolina 72-68.

Wally Walker scored 21 points for Virginia, giving him 73 for the three ACC tournament games, and Billy Langlois hit five crucial free throws in the last 34 seconds as the Cavaliers beat North Carolina.

Pat Cummings scored 15 of his 23 points in the second half to lead Cincinnati past Memphis State. Bob Elliott scored 21 points to pace four Arizona players in double figures as the Wildcats defeated Arizona State.

Willie Smith led all scorers with 23 points as Missouri won its first Big Eight championship outright in 46 years. Mike Russell hit a 17-footer with two seconds left to propel Texas Tech past favored Texas A&M in the Southwest finals. Hofstra beat Temple in the ECC behind Rich Laurel's 28 points.

Cal Bruton scored a career-high 29 points to lead Wichita State past Drake. Richard Robinson's 24 points led New Mexico State past Southern Illinois and eliminated the Salukis from the MVC race.

Steve Connor scored the last six points of overtime, giving him 20 for the game, as Boise State beat Weber State for the Big Sky title.

Marcus Lette scored 28 points and hauled in 15 rebounds to lead Pepperdine past USF.

Chris Sease led Syracuse past Niagara with 18 points. Joe Whelton and Al Weston teamed for 44 points to lead Connecticut's upset of Providence.

Three Elected To Hall Of Fame

DETROIT (AP) — Buddy Parker, Norbert Schemansky, and the late Lynn L. Frimodig have been elected to the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame and will be inducted May 20.

Parker was the most successful coach in the Detroit Lions' history. The Lions won two NFL championships (1957, 1958), one Western Division title (1954) and twice finished second (1951, 1956) under his guidance.

Schemansky won four medals in weightlifting in four different Olympic games. In his 27-year career he won three world championships, nine national heavyweight titles, set 28 world records and collected more than 300 trophies.

Frimodig, who died May 8, 1972 at 80, starred for four years in basketball and baseball for Michigan State, 1914-17, and in football for two years, 1915-16. He joined the school's athletic staff in 1919 as an instructor and freshman physical education coach and served for 41 years in various capacities.

This is the first year Parker was eligible for the Hall.

As a rookie from Centenary College he helped the Lions win the 1935 NFL championship. After the next season he was traded to the Chicago Cardinals where he played until he began his coaching career in 1943.

He was a Cardinal assistant through the middle of the 1940 season when he became head coach. He joined the Lions as an assistant under Bo McMillin in 1950 and succeeded him a year later.

Parker, whose Lions teams compiled a 50-24-3 record, quit the club during a team banquet on the eve of the opening of the 1937 pre-season schedule.

Parker, who lives in Kemp, Tex., finished his career as head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers from 1957 through 1964.

Schemansky, 32, won a silver medal in the 1948 Olympics in London. He won a gold in the 1952 games at Helsinki and bronze medals in the 1960 Olympics in Rome and the 1964 games in Tokyo.

IU Big Ten Swim Champs

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Paced by Jim Montgomery, Indiana's Hoosiers made an expected one-team affair of the Big Ten swimming championships over the weekend.

Coach Jim "Doc" Counsellman's crew rolled up 785 points in the three-day affair to finish ahead of runnerup Wisconsin by almost 300 points.

Wisconsin had 479 points followed by Michigan with 450, Michigan State 385, Illinois 332, Ohio State 281, Purdue 187, Northwestern 132, Iowa 87 and Minnesota 52.

It was Indiana's 16th straight Big Ten swimming championship.

Montgomery captured three individual titles and anchored three victorious relay teams. Indiana won 14 of the 18 events with Bruce Dickson also winning three titles for the Hoosiers and Fred Tyler two.

The only non-Hoosier to win two events in the meet was Wisconsin's Mike Imhoff.

Montgomery broke the conference 80-yard sprint record of Olympic hero Mark Spitz on Thursday, established an American record in the 200 on Friday with a 1:37.87 and scored an easy victory in the 100 Saturday.

Last year Montgomery failed to win a Big Ten individual title because of his training for the 500-yard free style. He became a pure sprinter this season.

"I don't think about times," said Montgomery. "I have my own goals and I want to accomplish them. The shorter the race, the more mental mistakes you can make."

Three Elected To Hall Of Fame

DETROIT (AP) — Buddy Parker, Norbert Schemansky and the late Lyman L. Frimodig have been elected to the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame and will be inducted May 20.

Parker was the most successful coach in the Detroit Lions' National Football League history. The Lions won two NFL championships (1952, 1953), one Western Division title (1954) and twice finished second (1951, 1956) under his guidance.

Schemansky won four medals in weightlifting in four different

Olympic games. In his 27-year career he won three world championships, nine national heavyweight titles, set 26 world records and collected more than 300 trophies.

Frimodig, who died May 6, 1972 at 80, starred for four years in basketball and baseball for Michigan State, 1914-17, and in football for two years, 1915-16. He joined the school's athletic staff in 1919 as an instructor and freshman physical education coach and served for 41 years in various capacities.

This is the first year Parker was eligible for the Hall.

As a rookie from Centenary College he helped the Lions win the 1935 NFL championship. After the next season he was traded to the Chicago Cardinals where he played until he began his coaching career in 1943.

He was a Cardinal assistant through the middle of the 1949 season when he became head coach. He joined the Lions as an assistant under Bo McMillin in 1950 and succeeded him a year later.

Parker, whose Lions teams compiled a 50-24-2 record, quit the club during a team banquet on the eve of the opening of the 1957 pre-season schedule.

Parker, who lives in Kemp, Tex., finished his career as head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers from 1957 through 1964.

Schemansky, 52, won a silver medal in the 1948 Olympics in London. He won a gold in the 1952 games at Helsinki and bronze medals in the 1960 Olympics in Rome and the 1964 games in Tokyo.

Mayor Daley Has Big Stake In Berrien

He, Kin Relax At Lake Retreat

By JOHN DYE

South Berrien Bureau

GRAND BEACH — Chicago Mayor Richard Daley's vacation retreat here has more than doubled in taxable value in the past five years.

According to New Buffalo township and Berrien county records for 1975, the state equalized value (SEV — the basis for property taxes) of the land was $97,340.

In 1970, although then not all owned by Daley interests, the near seven acres, located along the Lake Michigan shoreline, had an SEV of $41,886.

Doubling SEV figures to get what tax officials consider to be true cash value of property, the value of the land in 1975 was $194,480. In 1970, the figure was $83,372.

The SEV figure is used to compute taxes by multiplying it by the existing millage rate. Included in the compound are three houses, a guardhouse, swimming pool and pump house. It is nestled along the shores of the lake in a wooded area south of New Buffalo in Berrien county's southwestern corner.

While some improvements have been made to the property, including construction of the third house, the major portion of the increase was traced to a parcel-by-parcel reassessment of all New Buffalo township property in 1975.

The aim of the reassessment, made by Laird and Associates of Appleton, Wis., was to update property values to current levels, according to Ed Ljwiski, New Buffalo township assessor. He said the firm followed guidelines established by state tax regulations in making its assessment.

For example, lakefront land on the Daley compound was assessed at $87 per front foot in 1971, but jumped to $160 per front foot in 1974, township assessment cards on the property indicate.

True cash value of the 470 feet of lakefront land was listed on the cards at $22,730 in 1971 and $56,200 in 1974. Both figures made allowances for depreciation of the property, including erosion.

State equalized valuation (SEV is not listed on individual portions of property, just the total parcel) can be roughly estimated at half of the value, or $11,365 in 1971, and $28,100 in 1973.

The third and newest house on the compound was built in 1972 by Daley's daughter, Mary Carol, and her husband, Dr. Robert Vanecko. In 1970, the houseless parcel had an SEV of $947. In 1975, house included, the property SEV was $15,808.

Also contributing to the increased SEV were the 1971 addition of the pool and pump house, and construction of a guardhouse, with a total value of $9,727, or an estimated SEV of $4,866.

In 1964, Daley and his wife, Eleanor, originally purchased two parcels of land at the site, including the main Dutch-style house and lakefront property.

Since then, the Daleys, Elard Real Estate company — a Daley family-owned business in Chicago — or Vanecko have either built or purchased the two other houses and acquired more land at the site.

A hard-to-find dirt road, the guardhouse, an alarm system and guards serve to insulate the Daleys from the public.

One year after their 1964 purchase, Richard and Eleanor Daley transferred ownership of the land to Elard, according to deeds filed at the Berrien county register of Deeds office. The firm held title to the land until late last year, when a deed transferred ownership back to the mayor and his wife.

The deed, recorded in Berrien county on Dec. 9, 1975, listed Michael Daley, one of the mayor's sons, as president of Elard. Eleanor Daley is listed

Man Hurt When Car Slips Jack

Jimnie Ruiz, 26, of Box 381 Carr road, Berrien Springs, escaped with apparently minor injuries in St. Joseph Saturday afternoon when a car he was working under slipped off a jack, according to city police.

Police said the accident occurred about 1:30 p.m. in the Health Co. parking lot. Police said the full weight of the car did not land on Ruiz, because he placed a tire under the frame. Police said he was freed by a friend, Debbie Schneck, 22, of 1003 Harrison street, St. Joseph, and an unknown passerby.

Ruiz was reported treated and released from Memorial hospital.

Weekend Crashes Kill 13 In State

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of accidents which killed three people each pushed Michigan's weekend traffic fatality count to 13, State Police said today.

One of the triple fatality accidents occurred Saturday in Dearborn when two vehicles collided, the other happened Sunday in Trenton when a car was hit by a train at a marked crossing.

Killed in the Dearborn accident were Florentino Saenz Jr., 20, of Dearborn, Raymond M. Rakus, 18, also of Dearborn, and Oscar Morales, 21, of Detroit.

Those who lost their lives in the Trenton crash were Richard D. Fauser 41, of Trenton, his daughter, Amy, 10, and Barbara C. Daby, 25, of Gibraltar.

Others killed in weekend mishaps were:

Dorothy Hawk, 50, of Kitchell Ave. Force Base. She was killed Friday evening in Chippewa County when the car in which she was a passenger collided with another auto.

Torri W. Kelley, 14, of Jackson, a pedestrian, was killed Friday night when struck by a car while walking in Jackson.

Stanley S. Sutton, 59, of Hollywood, Fla., died Saturday in Vernon Township, Isabella County, when his car ran off a road and hit a tree.

Larry L. Lindsey, 32, of Pinckney, was killed Sunday in Dexter Township, Washtenaw County, when his car ran off a road and smashed into a tree.

Lawrence H. Rohr, 34, of Lullington, died Sunday on U.S. 31, in Muskegon County when he was hit by a car while walking along the highway.

Gary R. Kutsch, 27, of Saginaw, lost his life Sunday along Interstate 75 in Zilwaukee Township near Saginaw when his auto rolled over.

Electronic Equipment Is Seized

NILES — State police from the Niles post said Bernard Russian, 17, 761 Beebe road, Niles, was arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property valued at over $100. They said a variety of electronic equipment was confiscated from his house.

Troopers said Russian was arrested at his Milton township, Cass County home, located east of Niles, after they and Niles township police received an anonymous tip.

Confiscated from the home were one amplifier, three citizen band radios, one police scanner radio and one tape player.

Troopers said equipment similar to the equipment seized had been reported stolen recently in several Niles area thefts.

The 1975 deed transferring ownership of the property from Elard back to Daley was signed in Chicago on Nov. 26, 1975, one day after the Chicago Tribune published a story on the property and the real estate firm.

The Tribune reported that Elard records indicated the firm had financed $97,527 worth of land purchases, buildings and improvements to the property while it still owned the land.

Apparently included in the firm's report of improvements was the $10,000 purchase of the second house (included in the SEV totals listed above) in 1973, and surrounding land for visits to the compound by the mayor's children and grandchildren.

The real estate firm apparently paid for construction of a seawall to protect the lakefront property ravaged by erosion, the newspaper reported.

Lijewski said seawalls are not

State Beekeepers Face Big Decision

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's 5,000 or so beekeepers have a big decision to make this spring and in springs to come: How wise is it to rent out bee colonies to pollinate Michigan fruit crops, and might it be more profitable to keep the bees home and profit off honey sales?

The decision will be critical in years to come for both the keepers and the owners of Michigan's 80,000 orchards.

"Some Michigan beekeepers are starting to think twice before taking pollination contracts," says Clarence H. Collison, an agriculturist with Michigan State University's Extension Services.

Though only a few hundred of the keepers regularly rent out their colonies for springtime pollination, Collison said someone will have to start convincing "back to nature" types that backyard colonies should be rented too.

Apiculturists' hesitations over renting their colonies stems from evidence that moving hives cuts the bees' honey production by about 25 per cent, Collison said.

Labor and other costs also are rising, while the rental fee for a colony of bees — between 30,000 and 80,000 insects — has risen $2 since last year. This year the Michigan Beekeepers Association is setting $20 per colony as its recommended charge.

Beekeepers' long range decisions are crucial because the industry is big in Michigan. The value of fruits in the orchards where bees pollinate each spring exceeds $100 million a year.

Michigan's honey production is 13th in the nation, with some 120,000 colonies producing about eight million pounds of the sweet stuff each year, Collison said.

And with wholesale honey prices up around 40 cents or more per pound, some beekeepers just aren't renting out their colonies anymore. It's more profitable, many say, to keep the bees at home and get more honey from them.

"When you're moving a colony for pollination purposes, as they're jarring about, there's always a problem with the queen being killed, and the bees exposed to pesticides."

"It just upsets their way of life, and some bees are always lost," Collison says.

Yet without the bees to pollinate their orchards, Michigan producers of apples, blueberries, cherries, pears, plums and even cucumbers face economic gloom.

"Native bees do part of the job, but if you're gonna have a commercial product and want it to be economical, a farmer is advised to rent additional bees," Collison said.

Cucumber growers especially may have the hardest time in the future getting enough colonies to pollinate their fields, he says. That's because the cucumber "bloom," when bees are brought in to pollinate, occurs in mid-June, which also is the peak time for honey production.

Thus keepers who rent their bees in mid-June sacrifice the most honey profits, and may start limiting their rentals to late April and May, before the heavy honey flow begins.

South Haven Lions Plan Fund Raiser

SOUTH HAVEN — The South Haven Lions club will sponsor its 18th annual smorgasbord Saturday, April 3 from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Fiedelman's Mai Kai, Phoenix road.

The event is the club's major fund raising event of the year. Funds raised support local and state eye projects.

A dance will follow the smorgasbord.

Hospital Tells Policy On Smoking

SOUTH HAVEN — A new smoking policy at South Haven Community hospital has been announced by Administrator Wayne C. Eagleson.

Upon admission, patients have the choice of being placed in a smoking or non-smoking room. Visitors will be permitted to smoke only in designated areas. Smoking will not be allowed by visitors in areas where patients do not smoke.

All smoking has been restricted in patient-care corridors, hallways and treatment areas.

Eagleson noted that hospital employees are not permitted to smoke in patient's rooms or while performing their duties in the presence of patients.

Van Buren Office Nets $45,108

PAW PAW — Van Buren county's register of deeds office made about $45,108 for the county in 1975, according to the department's annual report compiled by Register of Deeds Frank Blaney.

Blaney said total revenue from transactions amounted to $72,386 and the department spent $23,935 of its $32,500 budget.

The $45,108 the department did not spend of its budget, plus the difference between expenditures and revenue income produced the $45,108 figure, Blaney said.

The $72,386 in revenue included $30,914 from deeds, mortgages, discharges, and liens; $11,386 in financing statements and terminations; $30,666 in real estate transfer taxes; and $9 in bill of sales.

Last year the department returned $42,480 to the county, Blaney said, and for the last five years, the office has returned $188,966 to the county general fund.

Policeman Guilty Of Resisting

PAW PAW — A Flint police officer remains free on bond while awaiting sentence in Van Buren circuit court here after a jury had found him guilty of a charge of resisting arrest.

The circuit court jury deliberated for a total of 2 1/2 hours late Thursday and early Friday before finding Wendell Banks, 34, of Flint, guilty of the charge.

Banks had been accused of assaulting state police troopers James Baker and Val Gardner on Dec. 30, 1974, after they had stopped a car for speeding on I-94 near Decatur.

An initial trial ended with a hung jury last Oct. 31.

According to a spokesman for the Flint city police department, Banks has remained on an officer there, but his case will again be reviewed pending the latest court decision.

Opposing attorneys for the two-day trial were Frank Willis, Van Buren county prosecutor, and Justin Bracato of Kalamazoo.

SOUTH HAVEN — The Junior Athletic association will sponsor its annual St. Patrick's day smorgasbord Wednesday, March 17 from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Derby restaurant, Blue Star highway near M-140.

Proceeds from smorgasbord go to purchase equipment for the summer baseball program which last year served 600 boys and girls.

PCB Limitations Bill Nears Final Approval In Lansing

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to reduce drastically the manufacture, sale and use of toxic chemicals known as PCBs in Michigan is nearing final legislative approval. The House-passed measure is scheduled for a vote in the state Senate this week, perhaps as early as tonight. The bill must be returned to the House, but is not expected to be delayed long before reaching the governor's desk.

The Senate also has under consideration this week another environmental bill to acquire public lands for recreation, while the House is slated to begin debate on "tenant's rights" legislation. The PCB bill would reduce over a three-year period the allowable concentration of the chemical, which has resulted in the death and reproductive failure of many Michigan fish and fish-eating birds and animals. High concentrations of PCBs have been found in nearly all fish tested in the Great Lakes.

Under the measure, no item could contain more than 100 parts per million of PCBs after January, 1978. The director of the Department of Natural Resources could order even lower maximum concentrations if he decided those set in the bill are not low enough to safeguard the public. However, PCBs or an item containing PCBs could be sold or used in the state if used in a closed system, such as a transformer or capacitor. Now the chemicals are also used in a variety of industrial processes as hydraulic and heat transfer fluids, insulation, adhesives, laminates, textile coverings and casting waxes.

When adequate substitutes become available for transformers and capacitors, the director of the DNR could phase out the permission to use PCBs in them. Up for initial discussion in the Senate, but not until late in the week, is a bill to establish a land acquisition fund from any royalties the state receives from expanded gas and oil drilling in the Pigeon River State Forest.

The fund would be used to purchase land for public recreation. The Natural Resources Commission is expected to decide this spring whether to permit new drilling in the wilderness area in northern Lower Michigan.

In the House, meanwhile, debate is slated on a "tenant's rights" package of bills sponsored by Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor. One bill, designed to protect a tenant's right to privacy, sets up strict guidelines under which a landlord could enter a residence for repairs or inspections. The other bill is designed to force landlords to get a court order before evicting a tenant.

Man Hurt When Car Slips Jack

Jimmie Ruiz, 26, of Box 381 Garr road, Berrien Springs, escaped with apparently minor injuries in St. Joseph Saturday afternoon when a car he was working under slipped off a jack, according to city police.

Police said the accident occurred about 1:30 p.m. in the Heath Co. parking lot. Police said the full weight of the car did not land on Ruiz, because he placed a tire under the frame. Police said he was freed by a friend, Debbie Schneek, 22, of 1003 Harrison street, St. Joseph, and an unknown passerby.

Ruiz was reported treated and released from Memorial hospital.

Weekend Crashes Kill 13 In State

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of accidents which killed three people each pushed Michigan's weekend traffic fatality count to 13, State Police said today.

One of the triple fatality accidents occurred Saturday in Dearborn when two vehicles collided, the other happened Sunday in Trenton when a car was hit by a train at a marked crossing.

Killed in the Dearborn accident were Florentino Saenz Jr., 20, of Dearborn, Raymond M. Rakes, 18, also of Dearborn, and Oscar Morales, 21, of Detroit.

Those who lost their lives in the Trenton crash were Richard D. Fauser 41, of Trenton, his daughter, Amy, 10, and Barbara C. Duby, 35, of Gibraltar.

Others killed in weekend mishaps were:

Dorothy Hawk, 50, of Kincheloe Air Force Base. She was killed Friday evening in Chippewa County when the car in which she was a passenger collided with another auto.

Torri W. Kelley, 14, of Jackson, a pedestrian, was killed Friday night when struck by a car while walking in Jackson.

Stanley S. Sutton, 59, of Hollywood, Fla., died Saturday in Vernon Township, Isabella County, when his car ran off a road and hit a tree.

Larry L. Lindsey, 32, of Pinckney, was killed Sunday in Dexter Township, Washtenaw County, when his car ran off a road and smashed into a tree.

Lawrence H. Rohr, 34, of Ludington, died Sunday on U.S. 31, in Muskegon County when he was hit by a car while walking along the highway.

Gary R. Kutsch, 27, of Saginaw, lost his life Sunday along Interstate 75 in Zilwaukee Township near Saginaw when his auto rolled over.

Electronic Equipment Is Seized

NILES — State police from the Niles post said Bernard Russian, 17, 761 Beebe road, Niles, was arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property valued at over $100. They said a variety of electronic equipment was confiscated from his house.

Troopers said Russian was arrested at his Milton township, Cass county home, located east of Niles, after they and Niles township police received an anonymous tip.

Confiscated from the home were one amplifier, three citizen band radios, one police scanner radio and one tape player.

Troopers said equipment similar to the equipment seized had been reported stolen recently in several Niles area thefts.

then sold to Vanecko by Elard in 1972.

The 1975 deed transferring ownership of the property from Elard back to Daley was signed in Chicago on Nov. 26, 1975, one day after the Chicago Tribune published a story on the property and the real estate firm.

The Tribune reported that Elard records indicated the firm had financed $97,327 worth of land purchases, buildings and improvements to the property while it still owned the land.

Apparently included in the firm's report of improvements was the $30,000 purchase of the second house (included in the SEV totals listed above) in 1973, and surrounding land for visits to the compound by the mayor's children and grandchildren.

The real estate firm apparently paid for construction of a seawall to protect the lakefront property ravaged by erosion, the newspaper reported.

Lijewski said seawalls are not included in property tax assessments. The Chicago newspaper said Elard may have spent as much as $60,000 for the seawall.

A check by this newspaper with the Army Corps of Engineers office in Chicago showed that no permit was granted by the Corps to construct the wall.

A Corps spokesman said a permit is needed for any seawall constructed below 580.8 feet above sea level, but he did not know if the Daley property is above or below the mark.

PCB Limitations Bill Nears Final Approval In Lansing

By MALCOLM JOHNSON

Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to reduce drastically the manufacture, sale and use of toxic chemicals known as PCBs in Michigan is nearing final legislative approval. The House-passed measure is scheduled for a vote in the state Senate this week, perhaps as early as tonight. The bill must be returned to the House, but is not expected to be delayed long before reaching the governor's desk.

The Senate also has under consideration this week another environmental bill to acquire public lands for recreation, while the House is slated to begin debate on "tenant's rights" legislation. The PCB bill would reduce over a three-year period the allowable concentration of the chemical, which has resulted in the death and reproductive failure of many Michigan fish and fish-eating birds and animals. High concentrations of PCBs have been found in nearly all fish tested in the Great Lakes.

Under the measure, no item could contain more than 100 parts per million of PCBs after January, 1978. The director of the Department of Natural Resources could order even lower maximum concentrations if he decided those set in the bill are not low enough to safeguard the public. However, PCBs or an item containing PCBs could be sold or used in the state if used in a closed system, such as a transformer or capacitor. Now the chemicals are also used in a variety of industrial processes as hydraulic and heat transfer fluids, insulation, adhesives, laminates, textile coverings and casting waxes.

When adequate substitutes become available for transformers and capacitors, the director of the DNR could phase out the permission to use PCBs in them. Up for initial discussion in the Senate, but not until late in the week, is a bill to establish a land acquisition fund from any royalties the state receives from expanded gas and oil drilling in the Pigeon River State Forest.

The fund would be used to purchase land for public recreation. The Natural Resources Commission is expected to decide this spring whether to permit new drilling in the wilderness area in northern Lower Michigan.

In the House, meanwhile, debate is slated on a "tenant's rights" package of bills sponsored by Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor. One bill, designed to protect a tenant's right to privacy, sets up strict guidelines under which a landlord could enter a residence for repairs or inspections. The other bill is designed to force landlords to get a court order before evicting a tenant.

State Beekeepers Face Big Decision

Associated Press Writer

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's 5,000 or so beekeepers have a big decision to make this spring and in springs to come: How wise is it to rent out bee colonies to pollinate Michigan fruit crops, and might it be more profitable to keep the bees home and profit off honey sales?

The decision will be critical in years to come for both the keepers and the owners of Michigan's 80,000 orchards.

"Some Michigan beekeepers are starting to think twice before taking pollination contracts," says Clarence H. Collison, an agriculturist with Michigan State University's Extension Services.

Though only a few hundred of the keepers regularly rent out their colonies for springtime pollination, Collison said someone will have to start convincing "back to nature" types that backyard colonies should be rented too.

Apiculturists' hesitations over renting their colonies stems from evidence that moving hives cuts the bees' honey production by about 25 per cent, Collison said.

Labor and other costs also are rising, while the rental fee for a colony of bees — between 30,000 and 80,000 insects — has risen $2 since last year. This year the Michigan Beekeepers Association is setting $20 per colony as its recommended charge.

Beekeepers' long range decisions are crucial because the industry is big in Michigan. The value of fruits in the orchards where bees pollinate each spring exceeds $100 million a year.

Michigan's honey production is 13th in the nation, with some 120,000 colonies producing about eight million pounds of the sweet stuff each year, Collison said.

And with wholesale honey prices up around 40 cents or more per pound, some beekeepers just aren't renting out their colonies anymore. It's more profitable, many say, to keep the bees at home and get more honey from them.

"When you're moving a colony for pollination purposes, as they're jarring about, there's always a problem with the queen being killed, and the bees exposed to pesticides."

"It just upsets their way of life, and some bees are always lost," Collison says.

Yet without the bees to pollinate their orchards, Michigan producers of apples, blueberries, cherries, pears, plums and even cucumbers face economic gloom.

"Native bees do part of the job, but if you're gonna have a commercial product and want it to be economical, a farmer is advised to rent additional bees," Collison said.

Cucumber growers especially may have the hardest time in the future getting enough colonies to pollinate their fields, he says. That's because the cucumber "bloom," when bees are brought in to pollinate, occurs in mid-June, which also is the peak time for honey production.

Thus keepers who rent their bees in mid-June sacrifice the most honey profits, and may start limiting their rentals to late April and May, before the heavy honey flow begins.

South Haven Lions Plan Fund Raiser

SOUTH HAVEN — The South Haven Lions club will sponsor its 16th annual smorgasbord Saturday, April 3 from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Fidelman's Mai Kai, Phoenix road.

The event is the club's major fund raising event of the year. Funds raised support local and state eye projects.

A dance will follow the smorgasbord.

Hospital Tells Policy On Smoking

SOUTH HAVEN — A new smoking policy at South Haven Community hospital has been announced by Administrator Wayne C. Eagleson.

Upon admission, patients have the choice of being placed in a smoking or non-smoking room. Visitors will be permitted to smoke only in designated areas. Smoking will not be allowed by visitors in areas where patients do not smoke.

All smoking has been restricted in patient-care corridors, hallways and treatment areas.

Eagleson noted that hospital employees are not permitted to smoke in patient's rooms or while performing their duties in the presence of patients.

Van Buren Office Nets $45,108

PAW PAW — Van Buren county's register of deeds office made about $45,108 for the county in 1975, according to the department's annual report compiled by Register of Deeds Frank Blaney.

Blaney said total revenue from transactions amounted to $72,398 and the department spent $29,935 of its $32,580 budget.

The $2,645 the department did not spend of its budget, plus the difference between expenditures and revenue income produced the $45,108 figure, Blaney said.

The $72,398 in revenue included $30,914 from deeds, mortgages, discharges, and liens; $11,398 in financing statements and terminations; $30,066 in real estate transfer taxes; and $5 in bill of sales.

Last year the department returned $42,460 to the county, Blaney said, and for the last five years, the office has returned $188,996 to the county general fund.

Policeman Guilty Of Resisting

PAW PAW — A Flint police officer remains free on bond while awaiting sentence in Van Buren circuit court here after a jury had found him guilty of a charge of resisting arrest.

The circuit court jury deliberated for a total of 2½ hours late Thursday and early Friday before finding Wendell Banks, 33, of Flint, guilty of the charge.

Banks had been accused of assaulting state police troopers James Baker and Val Gardner on Dec. 30, 1974, after they had stopped a car for speeding on I-94 near Decatur.

An initial trial ended with a hung jury last Oct. 31.

According to a spokesman for the Flint city police department, Banks has remained on as an officer there, but his case will again be reviewed pending the latest court decision.

Opposing attorneys for the two-day trial were Frank Willis, Van Buren county prosecutor, and Justin Bracato of Kalamazoo.

Proceeds To Benefit Baseball

SOUTH HAVEN — The Junior Athletic association will sponsor its annual St. Patrick's day smorgasbord Wednesday, March 17 from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Derby restaurant, Blue Star highway near M-140.

Proceeds from smorgasbord go to purchase equipment for the summer baseball program which last year served 600 boys and girls.

Report Soviet Supply Shipment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has shipped new supplies of weapons to Mozambique amid reports of increased guerrilla operations against neighboring white-ruled Rhodesia. U.S. intelligence sources say. Two Soviet ships were said to have unloaded T-74 and T-54 tanks, truck-mounted rocket launchers and other arms at the port of Beira. Three other Soviet ships were reported en route to Mozambique.

Report Soviet Supply Shipment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has shipped new supplies of weapons to Mozambique amid reports of increased guerrilla operations against neighboring white-ruled Rhodesia. U.S. intelligence sources say. Two Soviet ships were said to have unloaded T34 and T54 tanks, truck-mounted rocket launchers and other arms at the port of Beira. Three other Soviet ships were reported en route to Mozambique.

Beattles Coming?

LONDON (AP) — The Beatles are getting together again for a concert in America, a gossip columnist for the Daily Mirror said today. Paul Callan quoted the father of one of the members of the group as saying the Beatles had decided definitely to get together again for a concert in the United States.

Talks Begin

CLEVELAND (AP) — Armed with a worldwide strike threat, the United Rubber Workers began contract talks today with the nation's four biggest tire makers. The union's international president, Peter Bommarito, said recently that Italian, French and other affiliates have agreed to strike if the 70,000-member American union calls a walkout.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Pushes Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed ahead today, taking a more favorable view of the outlook for credit conditions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials gained more than 3 points in the early going, and gainers took a 2-1 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The market's hesitancy last week had been blamed largely on fears that the Federal Reserve had decided to shift to a policy that would markedly tighten credit and push interest rates upward.

But by today investors seemed to have come to the belief that the Fed was looking only for a modest tightening of credit in its efforts to prevent a resurgence of inflation.

Today's prices included General Motors, up 3/4 at 69; Tenneco, off 1/8 at 26 1/4; Georgia-Pacific, up 1/4 at 52 1/4; and Esmark, ahead 1/8 at 38 1/2.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average edged up 2.28 to 972.92, to finish the week with a net gain of .31.

Gainers held a slight edge on losers in the over-all tally of NYSE-listed issues. The exchange's composite index rose .10 to 53.05.

Big Board volume came to 23.03 million shares. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index climbed .47 to 103.65.

SAVING YOUR TEETH — AND DOLLARS

67,000,000 American adults have dentist-diagnosed periodontal disease; 90 per cent of all adults are estimated to suffer from this gum ailment that causes loss of teeth; 25,000,000 Americans have lost all their teeth by middle age and another 25 million will have lost half their teeth.

Yet, with the help of dental supplies costing about the price of two movie tickets plus regular dental checkups, millions of American could avoid or minimize this needless suffering, loss of teeth and accompanying dental bills. In 1975 alone, we spent $6 billion for dentistry work — the bulk of this enormous total going for restorative rather than preventive work.

"Our objective should be life-long teeth," says Dr. Ronald Bassiri, assistant professor of periodontics at New York's Mt. Sinai School of Medicine. "We could make a big step forward in 1976 if everyone spent 69 cents for a two-month supply of dental floss half a dozen times a year plus a couple of dollars for tooth brushes, an investment of about $6 a year."

Do you expect to lose your fingernails in your lifetime? Bassiri asks, and at once retorts, "Of course not. So why do most people expect to lose their teeth before they die?"

"Tooth decay is largely caused by protein plaque on the teeth," adds Dr. Maurice Marshall, head of a dental clinic in rural Bainbridge, N.Y. "We know that bacteria colonize on the plaque, causing decay and that to prevent this, we must interrupt the bacterial colonization process."

To keep bacteria from colonizing, you must interrupt the colonizing process every 24 to 32 hours with a thorough brushing and by flossing, preferably with a waxless dental floss.

"Americans should put their money into preventing disease instead of repairing damage from disease," insists Dr. L. M. Kennedy of Dallas, president of the American Dental Assn., and maintaining oral health is relatively inexpensive.

"A person would spend an average of about $70 per year over a lifetime for this," Kennedy estimates. "On the other hand, what needs to be done to restore and repair damage that's already been done by disease can be the most expensive kind of treatment, running into thousands of dollars for an adult."

At the most-informed professional levels, the conviction is growing that a near-revolutionary shift is going on from restorative work and relief of pain to preventive procedures. It's hardly a 100 per cent turnaround — only about 30 to 40 per cent of the U.S. population is estimated to be visiting a dentist on a regular basis today and millions are driven to the dentist only by unbearable pain. But there's a change, "clear and dramatic," says the ADA's president.

What's your major hangup about preventive dentistry? Commitment. In Marshall's words: "The public doesn't think we should be paid anything unless we do something physical, like drill a tooth. But the public is satisfied in consulting with an attorney and paying a fee for consultation."

The biggest news in preventive dentistry, of course, is prepaid dental care — with an estimated 25 million of you receiving prepaid dental care from your family dentist through 11,000 dental insurance plans offered by your employer or trade union. What's more, direct coverage is projected at a minimum of 60 million people by 1980 and the movement is in a phase of explosive growth.

But if you can't get into a prepaid dental care plan and you must handle the preventive dentistry on your own:

Establish an on-going relationship with a prevention-oriented dentist for two-three checkups yearly;

Treat your dentist as you would a lawyer, seeking advice on proper diet and tooth care and being grateful when he does no more than check your teeth and clean them;

Invest a few cents in dental floss and ask your prevention-oriented dentist how to use it;

Learn too how to brush your teeth and how to remove plaque so that you can fight periodontal disease from the start;

Teach your children proper dental care from an early age, for until Congress does pass a health insurance bill giving children free dental care coverage, this will be your job.

Ailing Pound Falls, Then Levels Off

LONDON (AP) — Britain's ailing pound sterling, which dropped in value to below $2 for the first time in history on Friday, tumbled again in foreign exchange dealings today but then leveled off.

The pound, once one of the world's most stable currencies, closed at $1.9815 Friday. It opened around two cents lower today and at one point dropped as low as $1.9292.

But by late morning the currency had risen somewhat and leveled off at $1.9475, still a drop of nearly 3 1/2 cents from Friday's close.

Land Use Bill Hearing Is Canceled

LANSING — A public hearing on a proposed state land use bill at Grand Valley college near Grand Rapids on March 12, has been canceled, according to the sponsor of the bill, Rep. Philip O. Mastin Jr. (D-Hazel Park).

Still scheduled, a spokesman for Mastin said, are public hearings March 12 at Saginaw township hall in Saginaw, and March 13 at the National Lumberman's Bank branch, Norton Shores, Muskegon.

The bill which would establish a state land use commission, is still pending in the House Appropriations committee.

LaVanway Running On 'Write-In'

EAU CLAIRE — Marvin LaVanway, the incumbent village president here defeated in the village's February primary election, said he is conducting a write-in campaign to defeat fellow-Democrat J. Caswell Crowder in today's village general election.

Crowder was the Democratic primary winner by an 80 to 62 vote.

Two years ago LaVanway was also beaten in the village primary election by Crowder but conducted a successful write-in campaign to win the two-year term for village president in the general election.

LaVanway, chairman of the Berrien county Democratic party, has been village president for 10 years. Crowder has been a council trustee for 13 years.

No Republicans are seeking the president's seat.

Fords Attend

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Ford went to a dinner party Sunday night at the home of White House photographer David Hume Kennerly, who was celebrating his 29th birthday two days early. Kennerly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O.A. Kennerly of Chicago, and nine other guests gathered for the occasion.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Financial Accident Is About To Happen

Q. I am 61. Our total earnings (wife and myself) are about $10,000 a year. We both have to work hard for our money. In November, 1973, I began buying stock from a broker. There was no definite arrangement as to how the account was to be handled. Most of the purchases were at his suggestion and I now see that his main aim was to churn my account for commissions. I've tried to curb that and now hold about 4,500 shares of stock in six companies, including some REITs on which I have a big loss. He suggested a computer stock but I said I'd rather sell it short. The next thing I knew I found I owned 900 shares. There is about $5,000 in my account.

A. I don't want to be unkind, but it is pretty clear to me that you are a financial accident looking for a place to happen. You say you are 61, but you act like 16, 4,500 shares in an account with $5,000 capital? Buy instead of short sales? What is going on here? Do you think so little of the money you say you work so hard for that you let it lie out there in the street for anyone to kick around?

I suppose you say: "Why doesn't he bawl out the broker?" And my answer is that I don't know the broker — nor do I care about him. It's you I'm trying to rescue.

The way you stop all this foolishness is 1) order the broker to sell out the account; 2) take the money home and put it into insured savings; 3) do nothing until you admit to yourself that you are a 61-year-old man with limited income and resources, that retirement is fast approaching, that retirement indicates solid dividend income from solid stocks (see list your stamped return envelope is bringing you) and that 4) you will now begin to buy them on a periodic investment basis with the intention of keeping them.

Buffalo Buff Would Call U.S. Birthday 'Bisontennial'

By BILL DALTON
YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — There is a warning on Jerome D. Farmer II's door: "Buffalo Crossing. Watch Your Step!" — It shouldn't be taken lightly. Inside are a number of the massive beasts, as Farmer likes to call them, on shelves, peering from pictures on the wall, even one "grazing" on top of his thermostat.

Farmer, chief assistant prosecuting attorney for Washtenaw County, is what might be called a "buffalo buff."

"I take pride in my buffalos," Farmer said. He contends this year's celebration of the nation's 200th anniversary might better be called a "Bisontennial" because of the important part the animal played in our nation's history. His collection of bison "buffalabilia" started when he was just a youngster, and his parents took him to a zoo. Farmer saw one of the bison pawing the earth and snorting, and tried to imitate the beast. Ever since then, he's been fascinated by them — and respects them. Mingled between massive law tomes are such books as "The Great Buffalo Hunt," and half covering a framed legal document proclaiming his eligibility to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court are buffalo pictures.

"The buffalo were here before the Supreme Court," he explained. There were an estimated 65 to 70 million bison roaming the range at one time. Bison is a more accurate word than buffalo, according to Farmer. In the 1870s, the slaughter began, waged by frontiersmen literally after the animal's hide. The number of bison declined rapidly until it was down to a mere 800.

Conservationists took over at that point, and today one of three types of bison that roamed this nation from Pennsylvania, Georgia and Louisiana to the Western frontier survives in sufficient numbers to guarantee they won't become extinct, as once feared.

"They (buffalo) faced everything head-on, just like the American pioneers did, and plunged ahead no matter what the odds," Farmer said.

There were accounts of seeing 10 square miles of nothing but buffalo. Indians would follow the beasts, depending on them, for almost everything they needed to survive, and Farmer contends the animals' demise was what also led to the American Indian's demise. "The Indians ate their meat, used the hides for shelters and clothes, and used the bones for arrowheads," Farmer said. "Many of today's roads, including the Oregon Pass, originally were made by herds of buffalos who'd go through almost anything."

The early frontiersmen also used the buffalo to survive, Farmer said. If they were dying of thirst, they would shoot a buffalo and drink the digestive juices in its stomach to stay alive.

If freezing, they would crawl inside its carcass to keep warm. A bison's bones would often be used as trail guides to lead thirsty pioneers eventually to water.

Big buffalo wallowing holes, where they rolled over and over in the dust, often would still retain water, even in the worst droughts.

"Buffalos weren't afraid of anything and would go in a straight line," Farmer said.

"They weighed about a ton and could run 40 miles an hour and could derail a train."

"But they would spook easily and have been seen to run over a precipice and continue until the ravine filled up with buffalos and the rest of the herd could run right over the top of them to the other side."

Too often, he said, they were shot for sport. Buffalo Bill of Wild West fame gained his reputation for shooting almost 1,500 of the beasts in a short period of time. The carcasses were left behind, while only the valuable hides were taken.
